U. S. AGENTS FIND NEW EVIDENCE IN STEVENS CRASH

Federal Quiz Under Way for 5 Weeks.

The federal government's investigation of the Illinois Life Insurance company failure, it was disclosed yesterday, has been under way for five weeks and agents of the bureau of investigation say they are satisfied with the progress of the inquiry.

It was learned from unquestionable sources that the federal inquiry was begun on Nov. 15, two weeks before the appointment of a receiver, and that the investigation was based on a bill of complaint filed with the bureau by Mary Martha Layton, a stockholder of the insurace company and a plaintiff in the receivership suit.

Preliminary Report Made.

A clearer interpretation of the collateral loans made by the company, totaling $3,447,000 and secured by collateral valued at only $125,000, is given in the preliminary reports of the federal agents than has been forthcoming from the receiver's staff. The federal investigators allege that more than $3,000,000 of these loans were made through dummies and for the sole purpose of assisting the La Salle and Stevens hotels, which, like the insurance company, were controlled by the Stevens family.

James W. Stevens, chairman of the board of the insurance company; his sons, Raymond W. and Ernest J.; George F. Ramer, former auditor of the company, and Hugh T. Martin, former general counsel, are called "the combination" which perpetrated the transactions.

Ramer, however, is called a dummy by the government agents, and so is the Lincoln Securities company, which the Stevens family also controlled. Ramer borrowed $1,808,000 from the insurance company, and the Lincoln Securities company borrowed $1,160,000.

Show Ramer Returned Money.

It is reported that the personal books of James W. Stevens, which the government agents examined, show that Ramer returned all the money he borrowed to Stevens. Employes of the company informed the investigators that Stevens attempted to remove these books through a window of the home office building at 1212 North Michigan avenue.

The investigators also learned that the receiver, Gen. Abel Davis, who was appointed by Federal Judge Wilkerson, had difficulty in obtaining the books of the Lincoln Securities company and that counsel for James W. and Raymond W. Stevens was told that a court order would be obtained. The books were then surrendered.

James W. Stevens demurred when asked by the receiver to vacate his office and court action was threatened to remove him, whereupon he moved, the agents learned.

Most of the collateral for the loans, the agents charge, was almost worthless, consisting of obligations of the Stevens and La Salle hotels, both of which are in receivership.

Explain Transaction.

A transaction wherein the Stevens hotel obtained $3,500,000 was explained by the investigators. The hotel, needing that amount, issued 8 per cent preferred stock and turned it over to the La Salle hotel. The La Salle then obtained a loan from the Illinois Life and put up the Stevens hotel stock as collateral. The La Salle turned the money over to the Stevens hotel.

James W. Stevens, it is alleged, borrowed $1,500,000 in 1930 and purchased five leaseholds, which constituted 90 per cent of the fee of the La Salle hotel, and created a land trust. This trust was placed with the Chicago Title and Trust company, of which the receiver, Gen. Davis, is chairman, and Stevens was named beneficiary. On Sept. 21, 1933, however, the trust was changed and the life insurance company was made the beneficiary, the agents were informed.

$1,000,000 in Dividends.

The federal agents also reported the payment of a 25 per cent dividend on stock in the company in 1930 and 1931 and declared that James W. Stevens received $500,000 each year.

The values of the home office and the collateral held for loans were greatly inflated by the company in its reports to policyholders and to the state superintendent of insurance, the agents found. Members of the receiver's staff are said to have told the investigators that the affairs of the insurance company could not have been carried on as they were without

GOOD MARKSMANSHIP

Shops Active as Christmas Rush Keeps Up

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Glad tidings of Christmas buying spread a rosy glow over State street as well as stores in other shopping districts yesterday. Customers bumped and bustled their way from counter to counter and from store to store. The throngs equaled those of Monday, store executives said, whereas a decline in buying would not have surprised them. Yuletide cheer and good fellowship were in the air.

In the administrative offices of the big stores, telegrams sped out to sources of supply, hundreds of new orders being placed at the last moment to replenish stocks depleted by the purchasing horde.

Swarms of Male Shoppers.

Yesterday's chief bulletin from the selling front was the multitude of male shoppers who appeared in front of the counters for an assault that came close to swamping the available staff of clerks. Literal carloads of Christmas ties, scarfs, pajamas and shirts were sold and went out wrapped in gay holiday colors, to rest at last under somebody's Christmas tree. The men buyers found another objective, too, at the lingerie and hose counters.

One slim little blonde was overheard assuring another saleswoman that she was confident she had already boxed "a million, billion trillion pairs of hose" during the day for the husbands and sons and brothers. In the lingerie sections, bachelors and Benedicks alike swarmed up to select nightgowns, chic pajamas with an assurance born of the stores' crusade to "make it easy for the men." Modern men don't get fussed any more under such circumstances, the saleswomen assert.

Perfume counters proved another magnet for the men shoppers, dividing honors and sales volume with the jewelry and toilet set showcases. The demand for silken padded robes was reported to be strong, as well as that for kimonos in vivid shades. Both daytime and evening purses were proving a popular gift, especially since recent months have inaugurated a lowered price scale entirely inconsistent with the beauty and the workmanship obtainable.

Flock to Toy Counters.

All other departments, however, were reported yesterday to be running behind the toys. The crowds on the toyland floors were prodigious. Those caught inadvertiently in the jam were compelled to work their way inch by inch past the rows of talking, crying, and walking dolls, past mechanical circuses and at least one of every type of animal that took passage on Noah's ark; past the booths where more or less genuine cowboys sold more or less genuine cowboy outfits, and electric trains sped around circular tracks and through miniature tunnels.

Leading State street merchants joined yesterday in a plea to employers to permit their staffs a couple of hours' free time for shopping before the last available shopping days have gone. The morning hours when the crowds are least numerous are the most advantageous, it was pointed out, for those who have little opportunity to look before they purchase.

DO NOT FORCE CIVILIZATION ON LAPLAND, IS PLEA

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 22.—(AP)—"Do not force upon Laplanders the doubtful blessing of civilization and the evil eye of obtrusive tourists," is the substance of a plea urged upon King Gustav by Axel Munthe, physician and writer, who has asked the king to administer a fund for the benefit of blind people, Laplanders, and animals.

Dr. Munthe, who was a personal friend as well as physician to the late Queen Victoria of Sweden, wrote to the king from Capri that he wished to give the proceeds of his book, "The Story of San Michele," in the queen's memory to be used for the three purposes.

The king having accepted administration of the fund, Dr. Munthe has sent him 100,000 kroner [about $18,000], as the first installment. With the money came a letter urging that the Laplanders be protected from civilization. The physician also said he would like to write another book if thereby food could be provided for all the birds which ordinarily famish in Sweden in the winter.

Murder Girl, Toss Body on Ice at Moline

Moline, Ill., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Authorities are following meager clews which they hope may lead to the arrest of the person or persons who last night kidnaped and murdered Rose Gendler, 22, of Rock Island, a clerk in a Davenport, Iowa, department store, and then threw her body from Rock river bridge, south of Moline, to the ice 30 feet below.

The girl, stepdaughter of Jacob Mark, Rock Island merchant, was seen in Rock Island after she left the Davenport store at 9:30 last night. Mrs. Morris Handelman, Rock Island, and her daughter told police the girl had boarded a car in Davenport about 9:30 p. m. for Rock Island. She still was on the car in Rock Island when they got off. Later, the girl was reported walking a block away from her home. That is the last trace of her alive.

Note Left In Screen Door.

At 5 a. m. today her stepfather and mother, who had reported her disappearance to police at 3 a. m., found a roughly scrawled note inside the screen door of their home. The note said:

"We have your Rose; we want $2,000. Do not worry; she is O. K. We will let you know tomorrow. Do not let the cops know or——."

Friends of the family said the girl had money but that her parents were not in the best of circumstances. The body was discovered by Henry Beck, who resides in a camp east of the bridge on the south side of the river. He had been called by two boys, who noticed blood at the bottom of the east hand rail of the bridge.

Head Crushed, Arms Bound.

Beck walked across the ice toward the bridge and found the sack which contained the girl's body. Her head was partly crushed, a gag was in her mouth and a rope was tied around the gag and her head. Her arms were tied behind her back and the wrists swollen, while a heavy cord was wound around them. The same cord was used to tie the gag in her mouth.

Beck said he heard a commotion and scream on the bridge. He said, "I was sick and out of bed about 1 a. m. when an automobile rattled onto the bridge coming from Moline. The car stopped and the lights went out. I heard a scream and a commotion, but I figured it was some one in a fight. A little later I heard the car start and run on over the bridge."

Dr. Paul Youngberg of Moline examined the body and said Miss Gendler had not been raped. Authorities surmised that occupants of the automobile in which she was taken to the bridge might have attempted to violate her and that they killed her when she resisted. Her clothing was ripped and torn. No money was found on her person.

WAR DEBT AID NOT REFUSED, GOVERNOR SAYS

He Issues Statement on His Stand.

All prospects for any negotiations with Europe in the next ten weeks over the war debts—delinquent or otherwise—went glimmering yesterday when President Hoover and President Elect Roosevelt reached an impasse over the move by Mr. Hoover to bring his successor into co-operation on the Hoover plan for foreign debt discussion. Also it was indicated that the old and the new administrations will not be able to get together.

There were three developments yesterday:

1. Mr. Hoover made public the correspondence between himself and his successor and added: "Gov. Roosevelt considers that it is undesirable for him to assent to my suggestions for co-operative action on the foreign problems."

2. Gov. Roosevelt, in a sharp rejoinder, said last night: "I am rather surprised at the White House statement issued this afternoon. It is a pity . . . that any statement or intimation should be given that I consider it undesirable to assent to co-operative action on foreign problems."

3. It developed that an eleventh hour effort was made by the White House—apparently through Secretary Stimson—to induce Gov. Roosevelt to assent to co-operation. Fear of a fall of the new French cabinet was an argument presented without avail.

ROOSEVELT "SURPRISED"

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 22.—(AP)—President Elect Roosevelt said in a statement issued tonight through Supreme Court Justice Samuel I. Rosenman, his former counsel, that he was "rather surprised" at the statement issued at the White House today to the effect that he had found it "undesirable" to assent to cooperative action with President Hoover on foreign problems.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement, as dictated to the Associated Press over the telephone by Justice Rosenman, follows:

"I am rather surprised at the White House statement issued this afternoon. It is a pity not only for this country but for the solution of world problems that any statement or intimation should be given that I consider it undesirable to assent to cooperative action on foreign problems.

Offered to Consult.

"I have made to the President the definite suggestion that he select his representatives to make preliminary studies. I have asked to be kept advised as to the progress of these preliminaries. I have offered to consult with the President freely between now and March 4.

"I hope that this practical program and definite offer of cooperation will be accepted."

The statement was the first Mr. Roosevelt has made publicly—except his messages direct to the President—concerning his attitude toward Mr. Hoover's recent suggestion to congress for cooperation between the President elect and the President toward the formation of a commission to consider world war debts, economic problems, and disarmament.

Refers to Hoover Statement.

Mr. Roosevelt's comment referred to the brief statement from Mr. Hoover which accompanied the release at Washington today of correspondence between the President and his successor elect on the Hoover proposals. In this statement Mr. Hoover said:

"Gov. Roosevelt considers that it is undesirable for him to assent to my suggestion for cooperation on the foreign problems outlined in my recent message to congress."

About 11 o'clock tonight Justice Rosenman, in a telephone conversation from the executive mansion, said:

"Gov. Roosevelt has a statement for immediate release." He then dictated the statement.

Afterward Justice Rosenman explained that "all the stenographers had gone to bed" and Mr. Roosevelt wrote out the statement himself, handed it to him, and asked him to release it over the telephone. Justice

BASIS FOR TWO INTERPRETATIONS OF LETTERS SEEN

Study of the text of the two letters on the debts issue addressed to Gov. Roosevelt by President Hoover and the two sent by the governor in reply indicates that the President's interpretation on "noncooperation" was based on the following excerpts from the Roosevelt letters:

"I feel that it would be both improper for me and inadvisable for you, however much I appreciate the courtesy of your suggestion, for me to take part in naming representatives. From the necessity of the case, they could be responsible only and properly to you as President. . . .

"I think you will recognize that it would be unwise for me to accept an apparent joint responsibility with you when, as a matter of constitutional fact, I would be wholly lacking in any attendant authority."—Excerpt from Gov. Roosevelt's reply to the first letter from President Hoover.

In his second letter to President Hoover Gov. Roosevelt said:

"However, for me to accept any joint responsibility in the work of exploration might well be construed by the debtor or other nations, collectively or individually, as a commitment—moral even though not legal, as to policies and courses of action."

Another Interpretation.

In contrast to these statements of disinclination to assist in the naming of delegates to a world debt and economic conference, Gov. Roosevelt wrote of his willingness to consult with the President personally in the debt question.

It may be upon statements such as the following that Gov. Roosevelt based his denial of noncooperation:

"I think perhaps the difficulties to which you refer are not in finding the means or the willingness for cooperation, but rather in defining clearly those things concerning which cooperation between us is possible. . . . To that I add the thought that between now and March 4th I shall be very glad if you will keep me advised as to the progress of the preliminary discussions, and I also shall be happy to consult with you freely during this period."—Excerpt from second Roosevelt letter.

Fascist Party Born in Japan; Has Own Flag

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Dec. 22.—A new political party of Fascist complexion, called the National league, formed by Kenzo Adachi, former home minister, whose tactics last December overthrew simultaneously the Minseito cabinet and the gold standard, was formally inaugurated today with a meeting of 3,500 delegates.

Thirty-three members of the diet deserted other parties to join the new organization. It has invented a flag and uniform for youths. The flag is a golden eagle on a light brown background. The uniform has a black belted jacket and striped trousers. Both the name and program reflect an idea that has been current in sections of the army and public for the last year.

Abandons Economic Liberalism.

Adachi, in his address, declared the party had abandoned economic liberalism and would aim at establishing controlled economy as a means of raising purchasing power and eradicating unemployment. He also proposed replacement of the cabinet by a national council of state responsible to the emperor.

A strong, popular body capable of exercising pressure will be formed. In the party's program, controlled economy appears to mean only control of public utilities and shipping. The program proposes a number of new taxes cleverly designed to attract farmers and small merchants.

The income tax, death duties, and dividend tax would be raised. A new emergency profits tax would be aimed at profits made through currency depreciation. Sales of large stores also would be taxed.

Urges Circulation of Gold.

Among factors that intensify the world's economic illness Mr. Adachi mentioned accumulation of gold in certain countries and advocated that it be restored to circulation.

"Commercial restriction through high tariffs," he added, "unjust competition through dumping, restriction of migration by racial discrimination, restriction of raw materials, and monopolization of markets are strangling the wellbeing of humanity and hampering exploitation of natural resources of the world.

"A world economic conference is proposed as a method to remedy the misery from which people are suffering."

BINGHAM SEEKS BEER VOTE, BUT FACES DEFEAT

Insists He'll Call Up His Bill Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—An unexpected move by Senator Hiram Bingham [Rep., Conn.] to force a vote on beer in the senate tomorrow appears doomed.

Democratic leaders announced they would oppose Senator Bingham's decision to call up the beer bill which he introduced at the last session and amend it by substituting the Collier 3.2 per cent beer bill in place of everything except the enacting clause.

It was explained the Democrats do not relish the idea of a wet Republican receiving credit for the passage of a beer bill and are determined that the Collier bill shall run its course through the committees.

Success for the motion would make the Bingham-Collier bill the unfinished business before the senate, thus assuring an early senate vote on the beer issue shortly after the holidays. The motion can be brought to a vote only in event a quorum is present. The Connecticut senator said he had acted at this time in an attempt to capitalize at once on the overwhelming wet sentiment of the nation as evinced during the election and in the house vote yesterday which gave the Collier bill a big majority.

Move to Slash Red Tape.

Defeat for the Bingham motion would mean that the Collier bill will have to run the gantlet of the judiciary and finance committees of the senate before coming to a vote. The Connecticut senator's action represented largely a strategic move designed to cut the red tape through which a bill normally must go after coming from the house. Senate Democrats, while indorsing the Collier bill, indicated tonight they would defeat the Bingham motion and then make every effort to expedite passage of the beer bill in due course.

Notwithstanding a prediction by Senator Bingham that once the Collier bill gets entangled in committees it will be lost, Democratic senate leaders promised that the passage of the Collier bill through the judiciary committee, and later the finance committee, would be expedited.

Applause and Brickbats.

The Collier bill was referred to the judiciary committee for a study of the constitutional phases of 3.2 per cent beer immediately upon its arrival from the house. Once through this committee, it would go to the senate finance committee for study of the revenue features involved in the $5 a barrel tax on beer. From this committee it should go back to the senate floor for such action as the senate determines.

The arrival of the measure on the senate side was met with a storm of applause and brickbats. Democratic senators asserted that the measure would be given a quick hearing and brought to a vote within a reasonable time.

Senatorial drys, led by Senator William E. Borah [Rad. Rep., Idaho], denounced the measure as unconstitutional and hypocritical. Borah asserted for the sum of 125 to 200 millions the country is "proposing to establish by government action the principle of nullification—we are betraying the constitution for thirty pieces of silver."

These Obstacles Face Bill.

As the senate adjourned the big obstacles facing beer legislation were these:

1. A threatened filibuster by the drys, a move which would have a good chance for success if the Collier bill were long delayed in committee.

2. The possibility that the beer bill might be locked up in one of the committees and prevented from reaching the floor.

3. Threats that the beer bill may be so mutilated and changed in committee that it would prove unacceptable to the house, thus causing a deadlock which would prevent the bill from being approved.

Say Bill Won't Be Smothered.

On the optimistic side were statements from influential members of the judiciary and finance committee to the effect that the beer bill would not be smothered or prevented from reaching the senate floor until too late for action. Many Republican senators, including Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.] and George H. Moses [Rep., N. H.] expressed confidence that a beer bill would be approved at this session. Senator Moses said he believed President Hoover would sign a beer bill.

Following a meeting of the minority members of the senate finance committee Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], as spokesman, stated that decision had been reached not to attempt to load the Collier bill up with revenue amendments, such as the manufacturers' sales tax or a gasoline tax. He said that the Democratic members will push the bill through the finance committee rapidly and if possible present it to the senate without amendment.

Norris Won't Lock Up Measure.

Chairman George W. Norris [Rad., Neb.] of the judiciary committee, told newspaper men that he had no intention of attempting to lock up the beer bill in his committee and thus prevent action. He expressed approval of the 3.2 per cent alcoholic content by weight included in the Collier bill, said hearings would not be held unless for good reason, and added that the committee would treat the beer bill fairly and the beer issue squarely.

"The beer bill will be given right of way over other legislation," Mr. Norris said. "The beer question has been publicly agitated throughout the country and should be disposed of without delay. I would put it ahead of action on the repeal resolution."

Chairman Norris said he had called a meeting of his committee for Monday.

"If a quorum is present," he said, "we will decide whether it will be necessary to turn the bill over to a subcommittee for study. I hardly think such action will be necessary."

Bingham Opposes Delay.

In opposing delay on beer legislation, Senator Bingham said he saw no reason for further hearings.

"This country knows all about beer," he said. "The judiciary committee has held hearings. So has the house committees. The whole subject has been explored thoroughly and we should bring the beer issue to a vote at once. We should strike while the iron is hot. With the house vote as an example, I believe the senate would approve a beer bill. If the bill is held up by hearings until Feb. 1, any one of a few dry senators can filibuster it to death."

Other comments indicating senatorial attitude follow:

Senator Henry F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.]—We would be guilty of embezzlement of power if we failed to keep our platform pledges.

Senator Harrison—I'm for the bill. It should pass. I believe in passing it as a revenue bill. The house ways and means committee will add further revenue proposals later after we see how much money is needed to balance the budget.

Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.]—I believe the bill will pass. I do not intend to attempt to add a sales tax.

BEER BILL FIXES $1,000 LICENSE FOR HOME BREW

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The home brewer faces the prospect of paying $1,000 for the privilege of pouring his ingredients into the crock he has set aside for the purpose.

The law will require the $1,000 fee license to make his own beverage should the Collier beer bill pass the senate and be signed by the President.

Representative Schafer [Rep., Wis.] made an effort to save the home manufacturer. Representative Bachmann [Rep., W. Va.] gave support, but the house voted Schafer's amendment down before passing the beer bill.

The bill said that any person who makes 3.2 beer "shall, for the purpose of the internal revenue laws, be considered a brewer."

Schafer wanted to make the definition of a brewer apply only to those who make beer for sale.

GARNER ACTS TO ASSURE QUORUM NEXT TUESDAY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Democratic leadership of the house has decided to order the arrest of members absent from next Tuesday's session in the event that a quorum is not present upon reconvening after the Christmas holidays.

The house meets tomorrow to quit immediately for only a three day recess for Christmas, and Speaker Garner is doubtful that a quorum will be present to complete action on the interior bill.

After a conference with Representative Rainey of Illinois, the Democratic leader, Garner instructed the house sergeant-at-arms to prepare warrants to bring in a quorum if none is present on the first session after the holidays.

Argentine Chamber Votes Budget of $211,000,000

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies voted a budget of 820,000,000 pesos ($211,000,000) for 1932 today, cutting 28,000,000 pesos from the draft budget submitted by the administration.

ADAM'S RIB HAS LOTS TO DO WITH U.S. GOVERNMENT

New Administration Will Inherit Old Problem.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The ladies of the various Washington sets constitute a very serious nuisance to the statesmen in the performance of their duties and any practical plan for the eradication of the pest undoubtedly would be received with secret enthusiasm and delight by a large number of the boys, although few, if any, would have the courage to vote for it.

In this I do not refer only to the good ladies of the prohibition movement, each one of whom represents an even 20 million American mothers, although these ladies are a great bother themselves without even the saving quality of good looks or social vivacity. If you will think back I believe you will recall that all the newspaper photographs that you ever saw of prohibition ladies who were active in the Cause were of the Determined-Woman type and the steady decline of prohibition will have to be blamed in part for this.

Bishop Cannon was very smart in some respects, but he did not know how to dress up his show and the glum, brooding faces of the Movement drove the citizens irresistibly to strong drink when a few come-hither types might have popularized his business. In this connection it is significant that the great brains of the advertising business have always utilized the come-hither type and shunned the determined-woman type in the art work for cigarets and automobiles.

Poll Never Called For.

A lady in the prohibition movement must represent 20 million American mothers or it is just no dice and up to this time no member of congress has ever got up to demand a poll to see just how many mothers they do represent. Neither has any of the boys ever said to any of these ladies, "Lady, why don't you go on home and mind your own business instead of hopping around Washington cackling like an old hen and making yourself generally obnoxious to a lot of people with serious work to do?"

If any of the brothers ever had let fly any such remark (and you may be sure that most of them have longed to do so many times) the good lady in question would have let out a squawk that American motherhood had been dragged in the dust in the Halls of our sacred heritage which has been handed down to us through the warp and woof of Valley Forge and the solemn covenant of the Founding Fathers, in sickness and in health and sometimes W. and Y.

The boys realized that they would have no chance to outsquawk a determined woman, so they took the long way around. On the theory that every time there was a prohibition hearing in Washington and the Good Ladies got their pictures in the papers more thousands of citizens would be driven to drink, they resorted to strategic politeness and in time the saturation point was reached and prohibition was repudiated at the polls.

Problem Remains.

However, there still remains the social problem in Washington life which is a great expense and a serious inconvenience to the statesmen in the conduct of government business. The presence of the ladies in the capital necessitates an absurd amount of dressing up and going to places and the natural alertness of the sex to detect offense when no offense is intended has imposed on statesmen of all degrees a mental and nervous strain which would be obviated if their families were kept back home. Rank and precedence would be much less scrupulously observed if the boys were all placed on a stag basis in Washington and the keg party (shirts to be worn; suspenders optional) would largely replace the plague of teas, debuts, and calls.

Gin and bar whisky have always been regarded as quarrelsome drams and I would not deny that many a fight has been distilled from the juniper and the corn, but tea has never received adequate recognition as a fighting drink. The husband inevitably finds himself a partner in the sulk or pique or outright spat which has been promoted by the distaff side of the family and boys who have been chummy colleagues and even allies are constantly under a domestic compulsion to fall out with one another and even obstruct one another's labor for the good of the country if their loving helpmeets have chanced to misinterpret some remark or tone of voice or to say the wrong thing at tea. A tea importer who could conscientiously advertise "Not a scrap in a carload" could obtain a decidedly preferential tariff from the U. S. congress.

Find a Suggestion in Baseball.

The ladies of the new government will be coming in pretty soon, large numbers of whom do not know the elaborate local rules, and it may as well be accepted that some of the ladies, whose previous social experience has been limited to strawberry socials and Tuesday sewing clubs, will find themselves speaking out of turn and blowing soup contrary to the established code as derived from the European ambassadors. This will cause pangs, gossip, and spats, and inevitably statesmen who might otherwise shake down together into an agreeable male society will refuse to speak as they pass by, to the detriment of helpful understanding and the government.

This is no theory but a fact which has received practical recognition from all the major league baseball clubs for years. It was decided long ago in the baseball business that there could be no harmonious coöperation on a team incumbered by the wife of a pitcher who would tell the shortstop's wife that the shortstop kicked away papa's ball game with his error in the third and thereby promote a feud whose only solution lay in the trading away of one or the other.

You cannot trade away one senator who is at odds with another one over something that their wives said last week, but a stag plan of government would eliminate most of the risk.

Dies from Shock After Kin's Fatal Accident

Omaies H. Davis, 44 years old, formerly a mechanical inspector for the Burlington railroad, died suddenly yesterday at his home at Fish Lake, in the western part of Lake county. Coroner John L. Taylor said that the shock of the death of his nephew, Walter White, on Monday, hastened the death of Mr. Davis. White was killed on the Davis farm when a pistol fell from his pocket and was discharged when it struck the ground.

INSULL HEARING ON EXTRADITION SET FOR TUESDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 22.—Samuel Insull's extradition hearing before the Greek court of appeals on indictments returned by a grand jury of Cook county, Illinois, for embezzlement and larceny of sums amounting to $170,000 is set for next Tuesday. The hearing, which was scheduled for tomorrow, was postponed by agreement between counsel to permit both Insull's lawyers and the five judges of the court to thoroughly study the documents in the case. In this way it is expected only one session of the court will be required for reaching a decision.

Verbal assurance is understood to have been given by Insull's lawyers not to ask for a continuance in order to obtain more documents nor to seek delays on technical grounds. Prosecutor Reganakos, after a week's study, considers that the depositions establish a well founded prima facie case against Insull, it was learned.

Charles A. Bellows, assistant state's attorney of Cook county, said tonight that in case the Greek court granted extradition, he hoped to sail from Genoa on the Conte di Savoia on Jan. 5, reaching New York Jan. 12. Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., enroute to Palestine and Egypt aboard the S. S. Empress of Britain, which stopped at Piraeus today, called to see Insull at Aretaelon clinic and talked with him for an hour.

U.S. INCOME TAX FIGURES SHOW REVENUE CRISIS

Big Corporations and Fortunes Hit.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Curtailment of income of every type — corporate and individual — is shown in the preliminary statistics for the calendar year 1931 issued today by the internal revenue bureau.

Millionaires, big wage earners and men of small incomes were caught in the economic maelstrom along with thousands of corporations that turned in huge deficits instead of great profits.

Stock market and other speculative losses were nearly four times as great as the profits. Corporate income was the lowest since pre-war years. More than half of the corporations making returns showed deficits.

Reveal Large Shrinkages.

Individual net income in the calendar year 1931, according to returns filed up to Aug. 31, 1932, amounted to $18,231,352,042, compared with $17,220,758,620 in 1930 and $25,226,328,812 in 1928. The 1928 figures set an all time record. Corporate net income in 1931 was $3,110,642,508, as compared with $5,627,312,995 in 1930. The post-war record was $11,653,886,003 in 1929.

In 1931 there were seventy-five individuals making returns that showed incomes of $1,000,000 or over. There were 150 so-called millionaire returns in 1930, according to the "preliminary" income statistics for that year, and 149 with incomes of $1,000,000 or over, according to the "final" statistics.

Millionaires Decrease.

The decrease in the number of those with net incomes of one million or over is shown by the following table:

Inc. class in millions.	No. of returns.	Income.	Tax paid.
	1931.
1 to 1½	89	$ 47,255,156	$ 7,543,817
1½ to 2	13	22,979,742	3,446,673
2 to 3	12	28,861,543	4,898,565
3 to 5	5	25,633,048	4,638,351
5 and over	4	38,268,114	5,775,400
	1930.
1 to 1½	86	$104,978,739	$18,088,292
1½ to 2	24	40,802,820	7,118,855
2 to 3	21	49,459,334	8,493,650
3 to 5	10	37,735,382	7,481,298
5 and over	8	122,634,419	19,288,712

Other Sources of Income.

Comparative figures on other sources of income for 1931 and 1930 were given as follows:

Source.	1931.	1930.
Wages and salaries	$7,908,810,360	$9,880,995,395
Business	1,973,548,427	2,539,289,909
Partnerships	741,009,375	1,080,880,137
Capital net gain	160,131,451	549,746,754
Rents and royalties	728,588,057	1,026,015,842
Interest on U. S. securities	25,109,244	40,616,758
Stock dividends	2,935,195,499	4,089,625,613
Fiduciary	348,347,874	407,868,575

Big Drop Since 1929.

In 1929 the final figures showed 513 million dollar incomes, 511 in 1928, 290 in 1927, 231 in 1926, 207 in 1925, 75 in 1924, 74 in 1923, 67 in 1922, 31 in 1921, 33 in 1920, 65 in 1919, 67 in 1918, 141 in 1917, 206 in 1916, 120 in 1915, and 60 in 1914.

Speculative profit for 1931 amounted to $283,376,380. In 1930 these profits amounted to $775,315,899. In 1929, when many speculators threw caution to the winds, speculative profits reached an all time record of $2,239,767,714, according to the preliminary figures for that year, and $2,044,957,746 on the basis of "final" figures.

Speculative profits, as listed in the bureau's statistics of income, are defined as "profit from sale of real estate, stocks, bonds, etc., other than taxed as capital net gain from the sale of assets held more than two years."

Losses deducted from income tax returns, on the basis of speculation, amounted to $1,043,625,622 in 1931, as compared with $1,218,055,449 in 1930, and $661,773,366 in 1929.

Reflect Losses on Stocks.

There was no income class that was able to escape terrific losses in profits from the speculative activities, all showing sharp reductions in profits from the two preceding years, as well as making greater deductions for losses.

The income class under $5,000 annual net income obtained $4,755,000,000 from wages and salaries. The $5,000 to $10,000 class received $1,659,511,685 from this source. From that point upward there was a steady decline with the $500,000 to $1,000,000 class receiving $6,769,904 and the $1,000,000 and over class $4,452,632.

Income from business showed a somewhat similar tendency. The lowest income class received $1,218,000,000 and the $5,000 to $10,000 class $426,040,303. The $500,000 to $1,000,000 class received $1,531,427 and the millionaire class only $112,707. From partnerships the under $5,000 class obtained $261,000,000.

AUTOIST PICKS A HOUSE IN THE WRONG SUBURB

J. B. Hurlock, 38 years old, 1408 Asbury avenue, Winnetka, was held last night by the Evanston police after he had tried to gain entrance to the home of C. D. Tripp, 1404 Frost avenue, Evanston. Hurlock, who is an offical of a lawn mower manufacturing company in Chicago, had driven his automobile into a snow bank at Lake Shore drive and Greenwood boulevard, Evanston. A few moments later he appeared at Tripp's home and tried to get in. Tripp closed the door on his arm, holding him in that manner until the arrival of the police. The police said Hurlock had been drinking.

13 Men to Woo Bad Luck in 13 Ways for 13 Days

The thirteen charter members of the Anti-Superstition society are going to thumb their figurative noses at Old Lady Luck once a day for thirteen days, beginning on Jan. 1 and ending on Friday the 13th.

Then they are going to sit down, thirteen exactly, at one table and laugh because no bad fortune has befallen them. This gathering is, of course, based on the expectation that the breaking of mirrors, the looking upon cats in the new moon over the left shoulder, and the spilling of salt will not prevent the attendance of any anti-superstitioner.

Mirror and Salt Business.

In his first general bulletin outlining the particular superstitions to be smitten, Secretary Heman T. Powers pointed out that the depression might be lightened by strict conformity. Business in the mirror and salt industries will be improved by breakage and spillage untrammeled by absurd taboos, he said, while economy will be fostered by the lighting of three cigarets on one match.

At the luncheon on Friday, the 13th, Charter Member Henry Field, assistant curator of physical anthropology at the Field museum, and Historian Wallace Rice will discuss the social and the unsocial aspects of omens, provided the luncheon is permitted by the fates. (The qualification is not the society's.)

Other members of the order are Sidney Strotz, president; Wheeler Sammons and Joseph Triner, vice presidents; Graham Aldis, William C. Boyden, J. Clarke Coit, Judge R. Jerome Dunne, Nathaniel Leverone, Wirt Morton, and Alfred M. Bailey.

How to Bring Bad Luck.

As to what a member has to do, here's the list:

Jan. 1—Remove some object from your home before any one has a chance to bring you a gift. This should bring bad luck the rest of the year.

Jan. 2—Be one of three persons to light a cigar or cigaret from one match. This takes a lot of nerve.

Jan. 3—Be sure to walk under a ladder leaning against a wall. Ladders will be furnished charter members at a small rental.

Jan. 4—Spill some salt. Spill it all over the table. Be sure not to throw any over the left shoulder, as this is supposed to break the spell.

Jan. 5—Be sure to see a black cat. Books on astrology name this day as particularly unlucky.

Jan. 6—Make some remark about expected success and don't knock on wood. Remember the Friday jinx is working against you all the time.

Jan. 7—Yawn without snapping your fingers or putting your hand over your mouth. This should be performed in the presence of a witness.

Jan. 8—Get out of bed with your left foot first and then sing before breakfast. This should insure a terrible day.

Jan. 9—While dressing put a sock on the left foot first, then put the left shoe on the right foot.

Jan. 10—This is a good day to hang up seven years of bad luck by breaking a looking glass.

Jan. 11—Shake hands with some one across a table.

Jan. 12—Spend the day looking for pins. When you find one don't pick it up.

Jan. 13—This is the worst of all unlucky days. Perform all of the unlucky actions suggested above.

The secretary is to receive reports from all the members and compile the effectiveness or inefficiency of the acts to cause misfortune.

JAIL ME! I DARE YOU! PEERS TOLD BY LLOYD GEORGE

Ex-Premier Defies Threat of War Minister.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—This being the last day of parliament, members had their fling. The brakes were taken off on a motion for adjournment. At this time any one can talk about anything and say what he pleases without fear of being forced to back up his words in a division.

David Lloyd George, wartime premier and former Liberty party leader, who now heads a party containing only members of his own family; George Lansbury, Labor party leader, and others assailed the government and things in general in the house of commons.

The most sensational speech was delivered by Lloyd George, who attacked the house of lords, Prime Minister MacDonald, and particularly Lord Hailsham, secretary for war.

Follows Cabinet Disclosures.

The outburst against Hailsham followed the recent partial disclosure by several members of the house of commons, including Lloyd George himself, during a debate in the house of proceedings in Lloyd George's own cabinet in connection with the 1923 debt settlement with the United States.

Lloyd George at that time demanded publication of the full minutes, but this was refused.

Last night Lord Hailsham and other lords in the house of lords warned that disclosures of cabinet secrets made the offender liable to a jail sentence of two years.

"It is a rather new thing when the house of lords begins to threaten the house of commons," Lloyd George said today. "If I am sent to jail I will go there in company with Sir Robert Horne, a former chancellor of the exchequer. He and I might pass a merry Christmas together.

[This apparently was a reference to Horne's partial disclosure of what happened in the cabinet before Stanley Baldwin was sent to America in 1923 to settle the war debt and to Lloyd George's demand for a full disclosure.]

Defies Lords' Threats.

"I give fair warning that whatever the threat may be from the peers I have created and the peers created by my successors it will not have the slightest effect on my conduct unless I am given the opportunity which I ask for—publication of the entire proceedings."

Lloyd George then turned his attention to MacDonald and the state of the country. Opening on unemployment, which he blamed on the government, the wartime premier said he had been told conditions were improving when they were really getting worse.

"There are 364,000 more persons out of work now than last Christmas," he shouted, adding denunciation to MacDonald's call for charity.

"What is wanted is not charity but employment. I would like to know whether the government has had any definite plan or is just trying to cheer people up.

"We are told there is improvement in production. Goods and traffic returns show a falling off for every week in the year. That does not seem to show that production is increasing. I have been making special inquiries with regard to shipping and the answers are positively appalling. Shipping at the port of London never has been so bad."

Rips Into MacDonald.

Lloyd George then assailed MacDonald for absenting himself from the debate on unemployment Monday night on a plea of indigestion.

"He was well enough to travel to Lossiemouth and speak there on unemployment on the very night that the house, to which he owes his first responsibility, was discussing it," Lloyd George said. "It was an insult to the house! It was worse than that. It was proof that he has no sense of the responsibility of his position in the time of the worst crisis the country ever has passed through in time of peace. He went to Lossiemouth to file his petition in bankruptcy and declared no assets worth realizing on.

"What is the good of charity? What is the good of giving 10,000 pounds in charity when almost half the population is out of work, when there are no rich people and when municipalities are bankrupt? It is only trifling with the situation."

Urges Public Works Program.

Lloyd George then repeated his advocacy of a program of large scale public works, reforestation, and land drainage.

Lansbury, in his speech, criticized the police for suppressing recent riots and demonstrations by the idle. The police, he said, had become militarized.

"They think they are the masters, not the servants, of the public," he said.

He described how mounted police with long sticks rode down demonstrators and said he had been ridden down himself.

Lansbury also attacked the old law of King Edward III. under which agitators were bound over to keep the peace or sent to prison in default of giving bond before they had committed any overt act of illegality.

He demanded the release of Tom Mann, veteran agitator who is now in jail because he had refused to give bond in connection with the attempted communist demonstration outside of houses of parliament on Monday.

The evening's debates covered agriculture, mining, fisheries, anti-vivisection and anything any one wanted to talk about until the house adjourned for the Christmas holidays which will last until Feb. 7.

CRISP QUITS TARIFF BOARD; GETS JOB AS SUGAR FIRM LAWYER

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—After 30 years in public office, Charles R. Crisp of Georgia today submitted to President Hoover his resignation as a member of the tariff commission. He said he would become a "special attorney here for the Savannah Sugar corporation and some of their associates."

"Since the senate has decided it is not going to confirm me and several others I have had some attractive offers," Crisp told newspapermen. "I decided I ought to take this."

Glasgow Mob Chases Police; 15 Hurt; 'Mounties' to Rescue

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GLASGOW, Scotland, Dec. 22.—An angry mob of several thousand idle attacked plainclothes detectives during a parade through the city today and put them to flight under a barrage of bottles, sticks, and stones. Mounted police rushed to the scene and after a sharp clash dispersed the rioters.

Fourteen policemen and one civilian were injured. One police officer was thrown into the river Clyde by the rioters and another was thrown from his horse during a baton charge. Two of the policemen were reported in a critical condition.

Shoppers Flee.

Scores of shoppers scurried for safety as the fighting began and shopkeepers hurriedly put up shutters. Despite their precautions scores of plate glass windows were broken and all traffic was demoralized.

The trouble started when the demonstrators who had been marching in various parts of the city reached Glasgow Green. Here the marchers detected some plainclothes officers in their ranks. They immediately rushed the detectives, bowled over several of them and chased the others away.

At this point a strong squad of mounted police dashed up with drawn batons. The demonstrators, turning to flee, found themselves trapped between their mounted pursuers and other squads of police arriving from the opposite direction. Fierce fighting resulted before order was restored.

Seven Ejected from Council.

The riots followed a meeting of the Glasgow city council in which seven of the councilors—six independent Labor men and one Socialist—were ejected by the police because they rebelled when the council refused to receive a deputation of the idle.

When the seven members were suspended, they refused to leave the council chamber and police were summoned twice before they could be ejected.

Reds Foiled in London.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—A communist attempt to organize mass demonstrations outside London prisons to demand the release of several of their leaders ended in a fiasco tonight. Small processions started from Wimbledon, Southwark, Tooting, and Battersea and marched, shouting, to the vicinity of the prison gates at Wandsworth. The presence of large bodies of police eventually persuaded the Reds to disperse.

Another contingent of fifty Reds marched from north and northeast London to Pentonville prison, where one of their leaders, W. A. L. Hannington, is serving a sentence for inciting police to mutiny during the recent dole march demonstrations in Trafalgar square. At this prison also a strong force of police shepherded the marchers into side streets. After singing the Internationale, the would-be demonstrators faded away. Another group of Reds gathered outside Wormwood Scrubbs prison, but after making a few speeches dispersed.

Englewood Fire Alarm Operator, 67, to Retire

TRIM $500,000 FROM 80 MILLION SCHOOL BUDGET

Administration and Auxiliary Estimates Pared.

More than $500,000 was trimmed out of the tentative 80 million dollar school budget yesterday. Harry Brackett, school auditor, announced that the parings will be shown in the 1933 appropriations for the administration and auxiliary agencies of the system.

When the board of education is given the revised estimates, within the next two weeks, the appropriation asked for school administration will be $1,722,814, or a cut of $300,923 under the figure in the 1932 budget. An appropriation of $1,576,220, showing a reduction of $243,423, will be asked for next year's auxiliary agencies.

Consolidation Effective.

The economies will result mainly from the consolidation of the school administrative offices in the Builders' building last spring, and measures adopted since the $15,000,000 slash in the 1932 budget last summer.

The 1932 budget appropriations and the proposed 1933 appropriations for the auxiliary agencies are compared in the following table:

Agencies—	Appropriations— 1932.	1933.
Bathrooms	$ 175,540	$ 115,070
Transportat'n of pupils	330,005	287,625
Parental school	178,344	171,454
Penny lunches	128,170	129,420
Americanization	30,650	30,100
Adult lectures	4,500	4,500
Public libraries	85,000	75,000
School playgrounds	745,048	633,751
School lunch rooms	158,985	119,300
Miscellaneous	8,000	10,000
Totals	$1,819,642	$1,576,220

Four items are set up for administration. They are as follows: Administration building and general control, $309,046; business administration, $786,290; educational administration, $621,778, and additional for supplies and salaries, $5,500.

Earlier in the day four members of the school board met at the office of President Lewis E. Myers to discuss the controversy over rents paid by lessees of school property in the loop. The trustees present were: James A. Hemingway, H. Wallace Caldwell, John A. English, and Mrs. W. S. Hefferan.

Order Report on Loop Rents.

Thomas V. Sullivan, school attorney, was requested to confer with Hyde Perce and Gustaf Kuntzman, real estate experts, and report to the board's general committee meeting next Wednesday morning.

The tenants have been paying rents on the basis of the 1915 appraisal, which was practically the same as that of 1905. The 1925 appraisal was held invalid by the Illinois Supreme court last spring. On the basis of the higher rents the board has more than $1,000,000 coming to it, while the lessees have offered to settle for $140,000.

Leaders of teacher organizations announced plans for obtaining food, clothing and fuel from business houses by use of coupon books. According to the plan the concerns would buy tax anticipation warrants of the board of education and in turn accept the coupons for purchases. The teachers and other school employés are owed nearly $23,000,000 on their back salaries for this year.

NILS ASTHER, ACTOR, LOSES PLEA TO KEEP CHILD OUT OF FILMS

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Efforts of attorneys for Nils Asther, Swedish motion picture actor, to have the divorce decree won by his wife, Vivian Duncan, actress, modified so as to stipulate that their 16 months old daughter, Evelyn Rosette, should not be allowed to become a child actress, failed today. Superior Judge Guy Bush ruled the interests of the child are amply protected.

Certain provisions covering the child's care were included in the decree, but today Asther petitioned the court to modify the decree by ruling that the child should not be taken from Los Angeles county without the written consent of both father and mother or by court order and that the child might not appear on the stage or in the movies or embark on a professional career until thirteen years of age without like consent.

Asther also asked a provision that if his own earnings fall below $2,166 a month his installments on the $25,000 alimony award should be reduced proportionately.

FIND PEORIA GIRL'S BODY IN FIRE RUINS

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Firemen digging in the wreckage of the S. S. Kresge company store, which burned last night, found tonight the body of a young woman tentatively identified as that of Miss Genevieve Arter, 19 years old, a clerk.

Officials believe her life was the only one lost, although sixteen others were hurt, some seriously, in the $500,000 fire which for several hours threatened the entire business block of 100 South Adams street last night.

Plans are already under way to rebuild and reopen the Kresge store at the earliest possible moment, according to C. E. Eolsworth, district manager, and E. B. Chenoweth, district superintendent, both of Chicago.

Charles W. Bickison, fire marshal, is investigating before making official announcement of the cause of the fire. Some witnesses are said to have attributed it to an exploding electric light bulb. Officials of the Kresge company say they are convinced it started on the second floor in a photographic studio not connected with their concern.

Porto Ricans Discover U. S. Flag in Room; Move Meeting

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Two hundred delegates attending a Nationalist convention at Rio Piedras last night adjourned to another place when they discovered that the council room of the city hall, where they had gathered, was decorated with the American flag.

Auto Hits Repair Crew in Track Excavation; 1 Killed, 11 Hurt

One man was killed, a second critically injured, and ten others bruised last evening when an automobile plunged through a group of workmen repairing car tracks in front of 4349 Lincoln avenue, near Montrose. Police said the driver, Edward Wessling, 7139 Lowe avenue, a sausage manufacturer, was intoxicated.

The victims were Frank Lombardo, 51 years old, 2342 Roscoe street, who died a few minutes after being taken to the Ravenswood hospital, and Frank Polino, 48, of 3043 Osgood street. Physicians at the Alexian Brothers hospital said he suffered fractures of six ribs and severe internal injuries. The others were treated at a physician's office and returned to work.

Deny Memory of Crash.

Witnesses said Wessling, who was accompanied by Le Roy W. Addison, 37 years old, 7146 Lowe avenue, disregarded the signals of a workman who attempted to wave him around the shallow excavation in which the men were working. The automobile, moving northward, plowed through the warning barrier on the tracks as the men scattered and stopped with the rear wheels still in the far end of the excavation.

Policemen Patrick Heraty and Thomas Connolly took Wessling and Addison to the North Robey street police station, where they fell asleep. Several hours later they denied memory of the accident. Both were held for the inquest today.

Unidentified Woman Killed.

An unidentified woman about 60 or 65 years old died in the county hospital last night a few minutes after she had been found lying in the street at Washington boulevard and Damen avenue, apparently the victim of a hit and run driver.

The woman whispered the name "Anna Fallen" just before she became unconscious. Warren avenue police are seeking relatives.

These deaths and two others increased the Cook county automobile toll for the year to 1,072. The other victims:

Miss Frances Alden, 22 years old, 1020 South Gunderson avenue, Oak Park. Died in the Oak Park hospital. She was struck by an automobile up Tuesday in Oak Park. She was the daughter of Attorney Frank Alden.

Mrs. Rose Shereck, 58 years old, 2852 South Union avenue. Died in the People's hospital. She was struck earlier in the day in front of her home.

INSURANCE CO. AGREES TO PAY $276,000 TAXES

Attorneys representing the Prudential Life Insurance company yesterday informed County Judge Jarecki that they wished to pay $276,000 in delinquent taxes for 1928, 1929, and 1930 on 416 parcels of property, against which objections are pending in his court. The judge ordered the cases placed upon his call today and the lawyers promised immediate payment. Because substantial payments have already been made on the taxes for each parcel, one-half the accrued penalties will be waived by the court.

DISCIPLINE RUNS HARD TO SOFT IN JOLIET PRISONS

Wide Variation Found at Four Institutions.

The announcement of Governor Elect Horner that he plans a complete reorganization of the prisons of Illinois when he assumes office prompted an investigation of present conditions in the old and new penitentiaries at Joliet and Stateville. In this second article, the life of the convicts at the old prison, on the honor farm, and in the women's prison is described.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

The gruff tones of a drill sergeant rend the wintry air in the yard of the old Joliet prison. The measured tread of marching feet on the frozen ground echoes against the yellow stone walls.

"Column right!" yells the leader. The marching convicts, four abreast, in faded blue and brown uniforms, swing sharply. The man who has given the order takes up the marching count.

"One—two—three—four!" he barks in the singsong army chant.

First Assistant Warden Edward M. Stubblefield, in charge of the old prison, looks on critically. His keen eyes watch for any deviation from the brisk, military stride. Finally satisfied, he turns away. The clump-clump of hobnailed shoes continues.

Prison of the Incorrigibles.

There is no Christmas cheer evident in the old prison. There are no saunt'ering convicts, cigaret in mouth, as at Stateville. Here are gathered together the incorrigibles, the old timers, the riffraff, the scum of the underworld of Chicago and other Illinois cities, who resent their captivity and show it.

This is the type of men, the next governor of Illinois points out, for whom the penal laws of the state must be revised with a view to making them more effective against the organized and habitual criminal.

In particular, Governor Elect Horner declared, should the pardon and parole board be reorganized in order to deal efficiently with the problem of deciding if such men should be released upon society before their sentences have elapsed.

Function of Parole Board.

"The pardon and parole board should consist of a small number of highly trained men who should devote themselves entirely to their task," he said. "Their function should be to study the character of the individuals incarcerated with a view of releasing only those who shall give clear evidence of their fitness for a life of freedom and of keeping incarcerated all those who show any evidence of possible future dangerousness to society."

Not many of the men in the old prison could give "clear evidence of their fitness for a life of freedom," Assistant Warden Stubblefield asserts. An iron hand is needed to rule them and keep them from mutiny. Many times in the last fifty years blood has been shed here by rioting convicts. They have been kept under control now since Stubblefield took charge in the summer of 1931 after the riots which resulted in the slaying of three convicts.

One Result of Stateville.

When the new prison at Stateville was built eight years ago a system was inaugurated whereby prisoners were rewarded for good behavior by a transfer to the modern institution with its airy, sunlit cells, its less stringent regulations. The result has been the gradual accumulation in the old prison of the more hardened criminals, who find it impossible to behave if given any privileges.

Strangely enough, many of the long termers prefer incarceration at the old prison, Stubblefield reveals. In the first place, they dislike the association with the younger prisoners, whom they refer to contemptuously as "punks." Secondly, they are uneasy under the rather easy régime prevalent at Stateville.

They want to be with their own kind and they want to be handled without gloves. There is no desire for reform in them and they are irritated at the efforts of the state to improve them.

"I have sent some of the oldtimers to Stateville as a reward for good behavior and have had them plead after a few weeks there to be returned to the old prison," says Stubblefield.

He too has the same great problem of idleness to combat that exists at Stateville. He has solved it partly by inaugurating a system of calisthenics and drilling, which keeps the men's bodies healthy and their minds occupied for portions of the day.

"I've opened a gymnasium where forty to fifty boxers get training each day," Stubblefield remarks. "The drilling and the calisthenics also do some good. These men need more strict discipline and they get it. They wouldn't understand privileges. Marching in the yard, under the supervision of an inmate who acts as sergeant, is the sort of rigorous exercise which they prefer.

Fifteen Acres for 1,759 Inmates.

"We have only fifteen acres here to take care of 1,759 prisoners. We have more than one-half the number of inmates at Stateville and less than one-fourth the area in which to take care of them.

"Smoking by inmates is allowed only in the cells. The guards are on the job all the time. Guards are not permitted to smoke while on duty, and their coats must be buttoned up and their demeanor strictly businesslike at all times. Silence is enforced in the yard and in the dining room."

Stubblefield looks forward to the completion of a blanket factory, now being constructed, to help keep the men busy. This factory will supply blankets, uniforms, and other articles of woolen clothing for all state institutions.

The prison was built in 1857. Its turreted walls and towered main building were copied from the then Prince of Wales' shooting lodge. The cells are small and gloomy.

A Cell Is Inspected.

An inspection of one of these cells was made. It is in the first tier and no ray of sunlight ever penetrates to it. A small electric light affords illumination. Two bunks, a small table, and a chair complete the furniture. Where the cells at Stateville have modern plumbing, the cells at the old prison are furnished with tin buckets.

The solitary confinement cells are even more depressing than those at Stateville. The prisoner dwells in semi-darkness. He has two blankets and he sleeps on the floor. He is given a union suit of khaki and a pair of slippers to wear and he gets six ounces of bread and a cup of water daily.

"We have a merit system and the reward is time off for good behavior," says Stubblefield. "That is the only reward these men appreciate and want. When a prisoner is admitted, he is put in grade C. After three months of good behavior he is put in Grade B and three months more of good behavior gets him in Grade A. In the last grade, of course, he gets more days off for good behavior and he is not allowed to see the parole board until he is in Grade A.

"After a man is in the old prison a year and has seen the parole board, he can be transferred to Stateville. If his behavior is bad there, he is sent back to the old prison."

View of the Honor Farm.

After inspecting the old prison with its rigorous discipline the visitor is startled by what he sees when he motors west of Stateville to the headquarters of the honor farm.

A small group of barns and other farm buildings surround a red brick structure, which resembles a college dormitory. In the barnyard are overalled prisoners working without supervision. All over the 2,200 acres of the farm are other prisoners, also unguarded.

This reporter and Warden Frank D. Whipp entered the red brick building. Prisoners were scrubbing the floors of the kitchen. An appetizing odor came from the cooking vessels. In a big lounging room prisoners listened to the radio, read magazines, or talked together. Upstairs, in comfortable bedrooms, others reclined. There are seven guards assigned to handle the 117 honor prisoners, but the warden and reporter saw not one of them during an hour's visit.

Proud of Work Done.

The entire contingent of prisoners could walk off the farm, disappear in the cornfields, and their absence might not be noticed for hours, it was apparent.

Warden Whipp, while not too certain that the honor farm is beneficial [he has added no prisoners to the honor farm in a year], is proud of the work done.

"The entire Christmas dinner at Stateville will be furnished from produce of the farm," he says. "One hundred and twenty-five lambs and sheep will be slaughtered to provide the dinner. We have 190 head of cattle, 1,500 to 2,000 head of hogs, 5,000 poultry. We receive 2,359 gallons of milk daily, six gallons of cream, and 103 dozen eggs."

Escapes have been frequent in the past from the honor farm, but the reporter had a feeling that they will be few this winter. Not many prisoners could find better lodging in the outside world than this comfortable country home.

Women's Prison Visited.

The women's prison is the fourth penal institution at Joliet. Situated near the old prison, the number of its inmates is rapidly decreasing, as prisoners are transferred to the new women's prison at Dwight. Only sixty now remain. Here also the prisoners live comfortably in commodious cells and are well cared for. The women convicts are not as fortunate as the honor farm prisoners, but their life is not hard, an inspection revealed.

This survey has shown a wide variation in the treatment accorded the convicts at the four institutions. At the old prison there is iron discipline for the dangerous prisoners lodged there. At the new prison idleness and many privileges make it appear that the inmates are not suffering the proper penalty which a state has imposed upon them for misdeeds. At the honor farm and in the women's prison the convicts seem almost to be receiving a reward for something meritorious done, not a punishment for crimes committed.

ILLINOIS KEEPS 43,693 PERSONS IN INSTITUTIONS

Bloomington, Ill., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Yearly per capita costs of the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors' Children's school at Normal are higher than the general average for all state institutions, but lower than that of many of the other institutions.

The figure for the children's school is $510.11 a year for each inmate, according to official statistics released here today. This is the lowest figure of the state school group. The per capita at the Jacksonville School for the Deaf is $722.51, and for the Jacksonville School for the Blind is $893.43.

For the twenty-six state institutions—penal, hospital, and reformatory—the average per capita yearly cost is $307.66. The total population of these state institutions on June 30 last was 43,693.

In the penal group the lowest cost, $245.83, was at the Southern Illinois penitentiary at Menard, and the highest, $824.17, was at the reformatory for women at Dwight, a new institution.

BALANCE BUDGET IN PHILADELPHIA BY SALARY SLICE

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—By providing wage cuts up to 22 per cent for all city and county employes earning more than $600, city council leaders today ended two months of wrangling over fiscal matters and pared the 1933 budget down to $81,417,133, the amount announced last fall by Controller Will B. Hadley as the estimated receipts for next year.

Before the salary cuts were decided upon the councilmen faced a deficit of $4,000,000 and in their efforts to reduce it they had determined to discharge nearly 500 members of the police force.

Robert E. Crowe in N. Y. Hospital for a Rest

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Told that there were conflicting reports in Chicago concerning his illness, Robert E. Crowe, former state's attorney of Cook county, who is in Memorial hospital here, said today the stories were all wrong. "I'm here just for observation and a little rest," he said. "There's nothing really the matter." The former Chicago prosecutor has been in the hospital for a week and said he expects to remain another week or two.

the knowledge of state insurance officials.

Attorney Herbert J. Friedman, counsel for ten policyholders who were permitted to intervene in the receivership suit by Judge Wilkerson yesterday, said he would ask Judge Otto Kerner to begin an investigation of the department of trade and commerce and the office of superintendent of insurance as soon as he takes over the office of attorney general after the first of the year.

Prohibits False Statements.

Illinois laws do not prohibit an officer or director from borrowing money from his own insurance company, but the state insurance act does prohibit the making of false statements in the annual report. Besides the inflation of collateral and stock and bond investment values, the company officials are alleged to have made false statements regarding the loans, carrying upon the books the names of dummies who did not receive the money.

The petition of the intervening stockholders makes many allegations of fraud and mismanagement, most of which were stated orally by Attorney Friedman in a hearing Tuesday.

The investment of $13,000,000 in securities of the La Salle and Stevens hotels, both of which are in receivership; the payment of dividends in 1930 and 1931, when the company was allegedly insolvent, and the making of the collateral loans on security of almost no value are attacked in the petition. The Illinois Life company has 70,000 policyholders and $150,000,000 insurance in force.

District Attorney Returns.

United States Attorney Dwight H. Green returned from Washington yesterday, after conferring with officials there on the investigation of the insurance company crash. He said the accounting phase of the inquiry would be undertaken immediately and that two experts were being sent from Washington to audit the books. James Egan, head of the accounting division of the bureau of investigation at Washington, is in charge of the accounting work. Mr. Egan is also directing the government's investigation of the Insull utility empire crash.

A former department manager of the insurance company is said to have volunteered to give information concerning the activities of its officials. This man, it is reported, was closely associated with James W. Stevens and is familiar with many company secrets. He said that persons have accused him of defrauding them in the sale of insurance and that he is anxious to vindicate himself by giving information.

TO SOUTH SIDERS: HERE IS WHY THE COFFEE WAS BAD

Because an industrial plant somewhere in the Calumet area was pouring an oily, unpleasant fluid into the lake, thousands of south side husbands growled at their wives yesterday over the quality of the breakfast coffee.

The fluid was phenol, better known to laymen as crude carbolic acid. It unites with chlorine used to purify Chicago water to form a compound which gives the water a bad taste and smell, which was noticed yesterday throughout the south side.

Arthur E. Gorman, city water purification engineer, said that the phenol probably came from the refuse discharged from ammonia stills of by-product coke plants along the Calumet river and the Indiana Harbor canal. The same trouble was observed in 1927, at which time the coke plants cooperated with the city by installing apparatus to take the phenol out of their waste.

REVEALS INSULL SALE PROFIT IN MONTREAL TRIAL

Insurance Head Takes Stand in Libel Suit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 22.—The criminal libel trial of J. J. Harpell, publisher of the monthly Journal of Commerce, was marked today by the appearance on the witness stand of both principals in the case.

Interest mounted as T. B. Macaulay, 72 year old president of the Sun Life Assurance company, who instituted the action against Harpell, took the stand to testify about the money which Harpell alleged the Sun Life lost when it loaned funds to Samuel Insull and the Insull interests.

Macaulay repeated what was brought out in yesterday's evidence, that the company's loan of $9,375,000 to Insull Utility Investments, Inc., had been paid back in full. He also said that the Sun Life made a profit of more than $6,000,000 in the sale of shares in the Commonwealth Edison company.

Harpell, on the stand himself, repeated his central charge against Macaulay.

"He was a crook 25 years ago and is a bigger crook today," he declared.

Excitement was also at a high pitch when Mitchell F. Hepburn, leader of the Liberal party in Ontario and member of a banking committee of the house of commons, was being questioned. The defense tried to ask him questions relative to hearings of this committee, but counsel for Macaulay objected and the court sustained the objections, holding the questions were irrelevant. Harpell remarked that much of the evidence he wanted to bring out would be barred in this way, whereupon Chief Justice Greenshields warned him not to cast reflections on the court.

John D. Rockefeller Jr. Sends Baptists $100,000

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—When the Rev. Dr. William Howard Barnes, executive secretary of the Northern Baptist convention, opened his mail today there was a letter from John D. Rockefeller Jr., enclosing $100,000 as part of a gift of $500,000 toward the "unified budget" of the denomination for the year.

BETTY COMPTON LASHES SEABURY; CHARGES FALSITY

Flays Judge for Naming Her in New York Probe.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

CAP D'ANTIBES, France, Dec. 22.—Betty Compton, the actress, who is staying at the same hotel in Cap D'Antibes as former Mayor Walker of New York, was informed today that Samuel Seabury, in a report to the Hofstadter legislative committee last Monday had named her as the "unnamed person" who had received money out of the brokerage account set up for former Mayor Walker by Paul Block. She issued the following statement:

—"My attention has been drawn to another statement by Mr. Seabury referring to my personal business. This statement is not only misleading, but false, and can not be attributed to ignorance because Mr. Seabury knows the truth.

Never Subpoenaed.

"His exercise of apparently limitless powers of subpoena into private affairs has supplied him with all my bank accounts and business transactions, which contradict his statement with cold facts, nor did he ever invite or subpoena me for private or public hearing even when I was in New York for four weeks, which fact was emblazoned in all the newspapers.

"Did he ever try to get hold of me? He did not, nor did he during last September and October when he was living at the Plaza Athanee in Paris, and I was at the same time staying at the Hotel George V. Surely my address was known to him then. At any rate, his investigators and wiretappers were well aware of it.

Has Never Seen Him

"I would have liked to have seen him, but I never have, though I did hear of him some years ago in backstage gossip, when I was in the theater. While we were both in Paris only five minutes apart he had nothing to say to me or about me, but with the Atlantic between us he becomes as courageous as he is chivalrous.

"When it comes to slander, he follows the old sailor's maxim, 'women and children first.'"

Vehicles of Lincoln Era Parade in Loop

Taken to Fair

A parade of vehicles of the civil war era was held yesterday from the Chicago Stadium to the Lincoln exhibit on the World's Fair grounds. A covered wagon dating back to 1850, a landau in which Gen. Grant once rode, and a hickory sleigh of 1865 are included in the vehicles to be exhibited at the fair.

TWO HELD AS ROBBERS.

Harry Danford, 32 years old, 2122 Indiana avenue, and Joseph Daniel, 28, of 4037 Drexel boulevard, were held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $10,000 each by Judge Frank M. Padden on charges of robbery.

FORMAL FRAUD CHARGES FILED AGAINST BROKER

Accused by Mother of Mary Miles Minter.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The tragedy that has always followed Mary Miles Minter's film millions—the wealth that the curly haired actress accumulated from her screen earnings until the sensation shrouded death of her director, William Desmond Taylor, led up to the close of her movie career—today had claimed a new victim.

Leslie B. Henry, prominent as a clubman, sportsman, and in civic affairs in Pasadena, is facing complaints alleging 15 counts of grand theft and eight counts of forgery in connection with the dissipating of $500,000 of the Minter money. The funds had been turned over to him in his capacity as investment custodian by Miss Minter's mother and former guardian, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby.

Henry was arraigned today before Municipal Judge Irving Taplin, with preliminary hearing on the charges set for Jan. 3.

Released on Bail.

Before the hearing the contents of a sensational "suicide" letter which he wrote to Mrs. Shelby last month were made public.

Why Henry did not take his life, as he had warned Mrs. Shelby he was going to do so that she could secure $250,000 from Henry's life insurance, was something he declined to discuss. "The letters will take care of themselves," he said in jail.

After this one spirited reply, the pessimism of the man who had for years been president of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses association, arranging the annual New Year's football games between champions of eastern colleges and the far west, increased when he was informed the district attorney had set $100,000 bail for his release. But Henry was later released when a bondsman posted $50,000 bail.

In his letter to Mrs. Shelby, Henry told of his speculating with money from her securities and of his plan to commit suicide.

Henry had intended to end his life by driving his automobile head on into a locomotive, it was disclosed.

Settled Out of Court.

The money which Henry is accused of embezzling from Mrs. Shelby was acquired by the mother from the actress' salary while the daughter was a minor.

Retiring from the films after the unsolved Taylor case, Miss Minter sued her mother several times with demands for an accounting and restoration of funds. She dismissed her last suit which had demanded $1,000,000 and accepted a settlement out of court, in March, 1928.

256 STUDENT POLICE RECEIVE STARS TODAY, THEN GO TO SCHOOL

The first group of candidates for police jobs to be sworn in in more than two years will take their oaths today in the city hall. The 256 probationers will then be given shields by Police Commissioner Allman, but they will not start patrolling beats until about March 16.

In the meantime they will go through what was pronounced yesterday by Maj. John Bauder, police drill master, to be the stiffest course of mental and physical training ever given Chicago police recruits. The recruits will spend eight hours a day, six days a week, in the classroom and gymnasium.

"When assigned to duty," said Maj. Bauder, "they should be the best trained that we have ever added to the force. The former police training course lasted only thirty days, while the new course covers 70 days.

The instructors are Lieuts. Arthur Padden and Samuel Peterson. Both have studied law and both are expert pistol shots. They will be assisted by Sergt. Jack Moffatt.

The police students will study the criminal code of Illinois and the Chicago city code. They will learn the regulations of the police department, traffic regulations, and the forms of police reports.

Because of the size of the police classes, they will be instructed at two schools, one at the Fillmore street and the other at the Chicago avenue station, beginning Tuesday.

DECISION TODAY IN CLAIM AGAINST THE BLACKSTONE

Insurance Co. Seeks Sale for $1,615,000 Debt.

A decision involving the investment of $150,000,000 by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in Illinois mortgages, and similar investments amounting to $500,000,000 by other insurance companies which are classed as foreign corporations because they are incorporated in other states, was delayed yesterday by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson until today.

The point involved, and which was raised in connection with the bankruptcy petition against the Blackstone hotel, is that while the Illinois department of trade and commerce licenses the companies to engage in the insurance business here it does not authorize them to engage in a general business in this state.

Claim Totals $1,615,000.

That contention was presented to Judge Wilkerson by attorneys representing the receivers appointed by the court to take charge of the management of the Blackstone hotel. The Metropolitan Life Insurance company holds a first mortgage on the hotel and charges a default in payment of interest and principal. The insurance company's claim totals $1,615,000 and the company has petitioned for a foreclosure sale.

The law firm of Le Forgee, Samuels & Miller of Decatur and Attorney Thurlow G. Essington of Chicago, representing the receiver, Paul G. Evans in resisting the foreclosure order, raised the point that because of the lack of state authorization the insurance company's loan should not be regarded as a first lien on the property but that the company should be considered only as a general creditor. [Tracy Drake, one of the brothers who founded the Blackstone hotel, resigned as co-receiver last Monday.]

A ruling sustaining the receiver's contention, it was explained, would give the Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust company, as holders of a second mortgage, a priority of claim.

Speak for Insurance Company.

Attorneys Nathaniel Rubinkam and Thomas M. Hoyne, representing the insurance company, said such a ruling would be against public policy. Although there is no specific authorization and the only similar case to be found in the law books was in a South Dakota decision, Attorney Rubinkam said it was the natural thing for a company to invest in a state money collected in premiums in that state.

To forbid the investment in this state of money collected here by foreign corporations would be a great financial loss for the state, Attorney Rubinkam said, and he gave the figures of $150,000,000 for the Metropolitan, and $500,000,000 for the other companies, as the total of the insurance funds invested in Illinois mortgages.

POPE ARRANGES XMAS TRUCE IN GRAN CHACO WAR

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The foreign ministry announced tonight that Bolivia and Paraguay have agreed to a Christmas day truce on the Gran Chaco battlefront. The truce will extend from midnight, Dec. 24, to midnight, Dec. 25.

The truce was suggested by Pope Pius XI., it was announced. The suggestion was transmitted to the foreign ministry here by the papal nuncio.

Paraguay was informed of the proposal and upon receipt of her acceptance, the ministry explained, the Bolivian government agreed.

Kept from Church Party, Girl of 15 Kills Father

Newport News, Va., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Refused, police said, permission to attend a Sunday school party, Frances Lassiter, 15 year old high school sophomore, tonight shot and killed her father, Alexander M. Lassiter. Police said the father, after refusing permission, had consented and was searching for a key to give his daughter. He was shot three times.

MRS. SUSAN CANDY OF OAK PARK IS GRANTED DECREE

Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday granted Mrs. Susan Candy, 1131 Fair Oaks avenue, Oak Park, a divorce from Albert T. Candy Jr., an employé in the wax manufacturing concern which bears the name of his father. Mrs. Candy was awarded custody of her two children, Albert III., 5 years old, and Thomas, 3 years old. She also was given $350 a month in alimony and support money and $1,500 for her equity in her husband's Oak Park home. Mrs. Candy charged cruelty. She was represented by Attorney Frank Cantwell. The couple married in May, 1926, and separated last June.

JURORS UPHOLD DETECTIVE WHO SLEW EX-CONVICT

Policemen Commended for Killing 2 Bandits.

"Justifiable homicide" was the verdict of a coroner's jury yesterday on the killing of William Nydick, former convict, by Detective Harry Miller of Mayor Cermak's hoodlum squad, on Wednesday night. A similar verdict was returned by another coroner's jury at an inquest over the bodies of two Negro robbers, one unidentified, the other named Leroy Bowie, who were killed on Wednesday by Policemen Henry Van Boggett and Thomas Delanty.

Miller, whose partner, Sergt. Harry Lang, shot Frank Nitti, Capone gang business manager, last Monday, testified at the Nydick inquest that he shot Nydick three times when the hoodlum tried to reach into a bureau drawer in which it was said a gun was later found. Miller had gone to the Park Row hotel, 4140 Roosevelt road, to arrest Nydick on a warrant and the shooting occurred in a room in which Nydick and his wife lived as Mr. and Mrs. William Long.

Shooting Is Reenacted.

Mrs. Nydick personally and through her attorney, Harry May, declared that no revolver was in the bureau drawer. Deputy Coroner Jacob Schewel took the jury, the widow, the witnesses, and the police to the hotel, where the shooting was reenacted.

The testimony was that three policemen of Miller's squad, Albert Hahn, Edward Dooley and Theodore Tierney, were in the room with Nydick before Miller entered. Miller had a warrant calling for Nydick's arrest as one of two robbers who, in May, 1931, obtained $550 from the Wolock & Bauer Shoe company, 3333 Roosevelt road.

"That's the fellow we want," said Miller as he entered the room, according to the testimony. Nydick was seated at that time a few feet from the bureau. He leaped for the bureau, whereupon Miller shot him, Detective Hahn testified. Asked why he or some other policeman didn't seize Nydick at that time, Hahn said he started to jump over the bed to reach Nydick, but Miller fired in the meanwhile.

Policeman Defends Action.

"I had to shoot," said Miller. "I wasn't taking any chances."

"Isn't it a fact that you had a personal animosity toward Nydick?" asked Attorney May.

"No," said Miller, "I never saw him before. Of course, I might have seen him around town, but I never spoke to him."

That statement was considered a refutation of the report that Nydick was one of the two men who, a year ago, disarmed Miller and Lang and held the two policemen captive for a short time.

"You're sure you didn't dislike him?" the attorney asked again.

"I don't like any thief," said Miller, "but I had no personal dislike for him."

Deputy Chief of Detectives William Blaul read Nydick's police record to the jury. He said Miller and Lang had been carrying a warrant for Nydick's arrest for more than a year, after Harry Bauer, part owner of the shoe company, had identified Nydick's picture as that of one of the robbers.

Jury Commends Policemen.

At the other inquest the coroner's jury commended Policemen Van Boggett and Delanty for their heroism in engaging in a pistol battle with the two Negroes. The Negroes were fleeing from a flat at 4332 St. Lawrence avenue, where they had robbed Mrs. Ophelia Johnson, colored, of $300 and tied her and two other women to chairs with rope. The Negroes fired several times at the policemen, one bullet cutting Van Bogget's coat sleeve.

An aftermath of the shooting of Nitti, to which Sergt. Miller was a witness, came yesterday when Dr. Gaetano Ronga, father-in-law of the wounded gangsters, charged that $220 which Nitti had in his pocket was missing. The money was later found to have been placed in a safe at the detective bureau and a receipt given to Nitti, who is expected to recover from his wounds.

ENDS LIFE WITH CHLOROFORM.

Davenport, Ia., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Emptying the contents of a bottle of chloroform on two handkerchiefs, placing them over his face and then covering his head with a blanket, E. O. Manson, 65, St. Paul, Minn., killed himself in a hotel here.

SENT TO PRISON

WILLIAM O'BRIEN.

DYING MURDERER SENTENCED TO 25 YEARS IN PRISON

Pleads Guilty to Hold-up Killing.

William (Bull) O'Brien, 32 years old, was sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary yesterday by Judge Harry A. Lewis on a charge of murder. The defendant pleaded guilty to shooting William Walsh, 7700 Aberdeen street, in an attempted robbery in which O'Brien was wounded and another robber was killed by a policeman.

Judge Lewis was told that the prison term was virtually a sentence of death. Paralyzed from the hips down, O'Brien was wheeled into the courtroom on a stretcher. Physicians testified that gangrene had developed from the police bullets in O'Brien's spine and that he cannot live more than a year.

Member of Notorious Family.

O'Brien is the third of a family notorious in police records for the last 12 years. His brother, "Smiling Jack" O'Brien, was hanged in 1920 for the murder of Detective Sergeant Richard Burke in a saloon at 33d and Halsted streets. In the same year William was sentenced to the penitentiary for the theft of an automobile.

Late in 1920 prison officials intercepted a letter written by William O'Brien from the state penitentiary in which he told of a plan to escape. The letter urged a friend in Chicago to get O'Brien a gun so he could "kill every copper in Chicago."

The escape plot was foiled. O'Brien served 10 years and was paroled in 1930. Another brother, Lawrence, has figured in police records on numerous occasions.

The crime for which William O'Brien was sentenced occurred on the night of Sept. 22. Walsh, who was 28 years old, had attended a banquet for State's Attorney Swanson in a loop hotel. He started home after the dinner with a friend, Policeman William Kenney of the state's attorney's office. Kenney's automobile developed engine trouble and stopped at 85th street and Racine avenue.

Policeman Opens Fire.

Both of the men got out and lifted the hood. Kenney was interrupted by the command, "Stick 'em up." Four hoodlums in an automobile had stopped beside the stalled car. Kenney pushed Walsh to one side, drew his revolver and opened fire. One of the bandits, Albert Swartz, was killed instantly by the detective's bullets. O'Brien was shot and fell to the ground.

Detective Kenney turned his attention to the other bandits who were driving away. O'Brien drew his revolver as he lay on the ground and opened fire on Kenney. His shot missed the detective and struck and fatally wounded Walsh. The two bandits who escaped were captured later and are now awaiting trial.

IN JAIL AS FUGITIVE.

Bloomington, Ill., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Philip W. Ittenbach, 32, is in jail here as a fugitive from justice at Norfolk, Va., where he is wanted on charges of safe blowing, burglary, larceny and attempt to kill.

HORNER'S BOARD MEETS TO PLAN JOB LEGISLATION

Program to Be Ready for Assembly Next Month.

Suggestions for increasing employment in Illinois, which may be presented to the next general assembly in January in the form of proposed legislation, were considered yesterday at the first meeting of Gov. Elect Horner's commission on unemployment. The group met all afternoon in the office of its chairman, Harry A. Wheeler, at 38 South Dearborn street.

No conclusions were reached but a variety of plans were discussed—both for temporary and permanent increases in jobs—and the members present bore in mind the injunction given them by Gov. Elect Horner in a letter read at the opening of the meeting.

Governor Urges Speed.

"I believe," said this communication, "that you will be able to make some preliminary suggestions without making extensive surveys, but I am not even suggesting that your examination be merely a cursory one.

"What I am anxious for is that it state legislation is necessary to carry out your suggestions, those recommendations may be presented soon. The next general assembly is soon to be convened and I am hoping it will promptly and without unnecessary delay dispose of its business in a compratively short session."

From the tone of the letter it was thought likely that the governor elect expected a preliminary report from the commission before the assembly convenes on Jan. 4.

To hasten such a report a subcommittee was named to seek a set of specific recommendations. It consists of O. C. Doering, Martin P. Durkin, Chicago Building Trades council; E. J. Buffington, Prof. A. J. Todd of Northwestern university, and Harold H. Swift, and is expected to report back to the whole committee on Jan. 3.

Study Share Work Movement.

The plans considered yesterday included the "share the work movement," headed by W. C. Teagle. A telegram from Teagle to Judge Horner, which quoted President Elect Roosevelt as saying that the work sharing plan is "essential in the continuing emergency," was read by Chairman Wheeler. The proposal was not advocated by the governor elect, however, his letter stating that the plan "might also have your consideration."

Attention was called by D. F. Kelly of The Fair store, to the large tracts of waste lands in Cook county and the state which are suited for gardening and farming, and a survey to determine how much of this acreage could be used by the unemployed is expected to be made.

That the jobless would much rather work for their sustenance than receive a dole was the thought expressed by Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and by Mr. Doering. Continued relief in idleness through charity alone brings about the destruction of individuality, it was said.

Other members of the committee participating in the discussion included Prof. Ernest L. Bogert of the University of Chicago, Thomas S. Hammond, A. E. Staley of Decatur, Martin P. Durkin, and Charles P. Lundberg of Rockford.

Already on Dole, Says Horner.

In his letter, Governor Elect Horner said: "One may well be dismayed when one considers the existing crisis, with business enterprises discouraged, hundreds of thousands of our fellow citizens unable to obtain work and widespread suffering only prevented by extraordinary measures to give relief. Recognition of the fact that relief which is being given can only be temporary and before long the resources that are now being employed in the emergency will be exhausted would appall us, if we did not realize that our nation and our state have passed through other crises because of the courage and energy of their citizens.

"We are now unquestionably on the 'dole' system and we must extricate ourselves from the danger of its permanency as quickly as our courage and the substitution of general employment will permit. We should not be willing to believe that the courage and foresight of the men of the past were superior to those of the present, and I am confidently relying upon you to give proof to this effect."

In Benefit Pageant

The Rev. Isaac Abraham as he will appear in role of a king in pageant, "Let There Be Light," which will be given at Paul Rader's tabernacle, 825 Barry avenue, Dec. 27-31, with a cast of 1,000 persons for benefit of city's poor. The Rev. Mr. Abraham is a Persian missionary.

SHOP RAIDED ON SHORT WEIGHT CHARGE; 3 SEIZED

City Sealer Joe Grein yesterday led a raid on a butcher shop at 1760 West Chicago avenue, one of a chain of 32 operated in Chicago by the Andreas Markets, Inc., and arrested the manager and two clerks on charges of giving short weight. He locked them in their own cashier's booth until a patrol wagon arrived to take them to a police station.

The arrests were made, Sealer Grein said, after investigators had discovered that the manager, Frank Piotrowski, and the clerks, Joseph Strachlak and Thomas Jasinski, were overcharging customers as high as 100 per cent. Beneath the scale the raiders found a five pound weight which, the sealer said, was attached to the scale platform every time a Christmas turkey was weighed.

"The Andreas markets were organized to take over some of the stores of the General Market company," Sealer Grein said. "That company went into bankruptcy shortly after it was fined more than $2,000 for giving short weight on evidence disclosed in the investigation of the conduct of Dan Serritella, former city sealer. I will assign inspectors to visit all of the other Andreas markets tomorrow."

Patrick S. Smith Better, Says Report from Hospital

A "marked improvement" in the condition of Patrick Sheridan Smith, city clerk under the last Republican administration, was reported yesterday at the Illinois Central hospital. Mr. Smith, who is 50 years old, was stricken with a hemorrhage, caused by gastric ulcers, last Monday in his apartment at the Jackson Park hotel, 1539 East 63d street. A blood transfusion was performed on Wednesday.

COUNTY TO ASK R. F. C. FOR NEW $6,500,000 LOAN

Seeks Funds for January Relief Work.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation will be asked to lend about $6,500,000 directly to Cook county to continue the relief of the idle next month. This was decided by the county board and the Illinois emergency relief commission at a joint meeting yesterday. The application is to be submitted on a day to be set by the R. F. C., probably next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The application from the county for a direct loan will be made through Gov. Emmerson, according to Edward L. Ryerson Jr., chairman of the relief commission. He suggested that the application be made by the county because of the county's inability to sell $17,000,000 of its bonds, which were authorized by the recent special session of the legislature to carry on relief work.

Will Aid County Officials.

Officials of the relief commission agreed to cooperate with the county officials in making the application. Mr. Ryerson, Wilfred S. Reynolds, the executive secretary of the commission, and Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton, a member, will go to Washington with the county officials. Mr. Sexton expressed the opinion that the R. F. C. would want the relief commission to administer the loan.

Mr. Ryerson announced that the commission was making every effort to make all counties in the state self-sustaining in solving their relief problems. Whether the commission will request an additional loan for relief in the counties other than Cook was not disclosed. Mr. Ryerson asked the commissioners what they had done toward raising funds through the other means provided by the recent legislation.

Commissioner Peter M. Kelly replied that virtually all available county gasoline tax funds had been diverted for relief this month and that the optional county sales tax had not been put into operation because of doubts as to its constitutionality and the expense of collecting it.

Demand More Local Aid.

The R. F. C. directors told state, city, and county officials last month that more local funds for relief would have to be raised before additional federal funds would be forthcoming. Cook county has diverted $500,000 of its gasoline tax money, and other counties have done likewise. Illinois has received $25,238,228 in loans for relief up to the present by the R. F. C., and the maximum that may be loaned any state is $45,000,000.

The county commissioners talked of offering part of the $17,000,000 of county bonds to the R. F. C. as collateral for the loan now sought. The bonds are to be amortized by county gasoline tax funds.

The relief commission refused to consider additional allocations for relief of public employés. The first allocation of $50,000 was absorbed in the first two days that applications were taken.

To Stay Within Quota.

Joseph L. Moss, director of the county bureau of public welfare, said that food, coal, and milk orders issued the rest of this month would be only for the period to Jan. 1, in order to stay within the bureau's allocation for the month. Ordinarily the orders are issued for two weeks or one month.

The county board will meet today to consider advertising for bids for new contracts covering about 300,000 tons of charity coal. The specifications for the new contracts were prepared by the relief commission.

Religion Caused Rift with Wife, Says M. F. Cudahy

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—A difference in religions was the main cause of the rift in the marital life of the Michael F. Cudahys, it was testified today by the wealthy packer, president of Cudahy Brothers company, who is suing his wife for divorce.

He gave the testimony at a hearing before W. J. McElroy, court commissioner. Attorney Walter Gold, attorney for his wife, did the questioning.

Cudahy is Catholic and his wife, Alice, he said, belongs to the Episcopalian faith.

They were married by a civil ceremony while making a lake cruise on a yacht in 1931, he said. He wanted a church ceremony at the time of the wedding, he testified, but it was impossible on the yacht.

Argues Against His Faith.

He felt his wife's intolerance to the faith he professed within a year after their marriage, he said. She often embarrassed and perturbed him, he continued, by arguing against his religion when third parties were present.

Their son was not baptised in the Catholic faith until a year after he was born, the wealthy packer testified, and then without his wife's knowledge and while she was on a trip to Florida.

He wanted the child baptized immediately after birth. The mother said she did not object, Cudahy said, but kept postponing the ceremony.

There was considerable testimony regarding the courtship of the two. When he first met his wife, he considered their relationship purely "Platonic," he declared.

The question of marriage first was brought up by her, he asserted. Because of the difference in their religious beliefs, he questioned the advisability of the union, he testified, even going so far as to consult one of her relatives at Greenwich, Conn.

After the relative had told him religious differences should not interfere with romance, they became engaged, Cudahy said.

Since their marriage he and his wife have traveled extensively, he said.

Gives Statement of Assets.

At the hearing Cudahy submitted a statement of his assets, as follows: Stocks and bonds, mostly in "closed" corporations like Cudahy Brothers company, $1,096,820; accounts receivable, $434,288; and notes receivable, $117,645. Some of the loans, which form part of the notes receivable, are of doubtful value, he said. His income for 1932 will be about $15,000 less than in 1931, when the net income was $234,993, he testified.

Arrangements are being made to give auditors for Mrs. Cudahy a chance to go over the books, Cudahy's attorney, at her counsel's request, said it could be arranged.

Chicago, It Appears, Has Some Intellectual Thieves

Dr. J. C. Todd, dean of the Indiana school of religion, University of Indiana, reported to the police last night that thieves broke into his automobile while it was parked near the Quadrangle club of the University of Chicago and stole his overcoats and a number of books. At the time Dr. Todd was studying in the library of the Chicago Divinity school.

TODAY AND EVERY DAY

WHY THEY'RE SO GOOD!

The finest chocolate coatings, the best grade of cream, the purest table butter, the most expensive nut meats and flavorings, and the purest cane sugar are used in making Fannie May's wonderful home-made candies.

Be Sure Your Christmas Candies Are Pure and Fresh

Note the spurts of cream which occasionally burst through Fannie May's chocolate coatings, and the irregular shapes of her candies. These mark Fannie May's as the most genuinely home-made candies you can buy, for only chocolates made in a commercial way, usually doctored with preservatives, will retain their machine-cast uniform shapes. Fannie May's contain no preservatives and are the freshest, purest and most wholesome candies obtainable at any price.

They Are Fresh Today—and Every Day—in Over 50 Luscious Varieties

They're the same delicious Fannie May candies that used to cost you 70c a pound—still chock-full of the same rich goodness, the same inimitable home-made flavor that has made them famous for so many years. At this new low price, you haven't an excuse in the world for not buying the best! Christmas just wouldn't be Christmas without them!

PARTIES BRINGING REAL CHRISTMAS TO CITY'S YOUNG

Double Business Holiday to Be General.

Bringing a real Christmas to a lot of children who didn't expect any was the pleasant task of many civic, school, and church groups yesterday. Such Yuletide festivities will continue through Christmas week-end and until New Year's, and it is likely that nearly every child in the city will be remembered before the holidays are over.

Christmas will mean a double holiday for those employed, and some business houses will be closed three days beginning tonight. Even the mailman, who has worked overtime the last few days seeing that other folks get their packages, will have two days to enjoy his own. The post office will maintain holiday schedule on Monday and there will be no delivery of mail by letter carriers.

Double Holiday General.

The Association of Commerce reported that the double holiday will be observed generally by business concerns and public buildings. The Chicago Historical society expects to be open on Christmas afternoon and also the afternoon of New Year's.

Over 1,700 widows, orphans, and retired firemen will be especially happy on Christmas because they received their November pension checks yesterday. The total pension roll, $126,000, was made payable through the purchase of firemen's pension board warrants by the city aggregate of funds.

Eight hundred members attended the annual Christmas party of the Advertising council for the benefit of the Off-the-Street club yesterday at the Hotel Sherman. The club, located at 1534 West Van Buren street, has a registration of 1,500 children between the ages of 4 and 14, whom it seeks to keep off the streets after school.

Post Distributes Baskets.

The Board of Trade post of the American Legion started the distribution of 100 boxes and baskets for destitute war veterans and their families yesterday in the Board of Trade building. Peter B. Carey, president of the Board of Trade, was honorary chairman of the basket fund. Walter Mooney is the post commander.

For more than ten years Sampson & Co. has been providing for needy children at Christmas time. Yesterday 300 children were given a party and toys at 63 West Lake street.

A hundred children under twelve years old, sons and daughters of the members of the Interfraternity club, were entertained at the club at 106 South Wabash avenue. Alex Wilson played the rôle of Santa, even to coming down the chimney and presenting each child with presents.

Show for Children Today.

The annual Christmas party of the Chicago Drug and Chemical association was held last night at the Knickerbocker hotel. The Northwest Fencing club will participate in the annual Christmas show for children this afternoon at the Almira Simons fieldhouse, Hancock and Wabansia avenues, and Helvyn park, 4449 Wrightwood avenue.

Chief among tomorrow's preparations for Christmas cheer will be the visit of a fleet of trucks to 3,500 homes with Christmas dinner baskets. The trucks will leave from the Nativity Roman Catholic church, Thirty-Seventh street and Union avenue, for distribution to the poor in the Eleventh ward. Funds for the baskets were raised at a dance benefit at the Trianon ballroom last week, sponsored by County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough.

Christmas celebrations for the poor children in five sections of the city will be given by the Salvation Army officers and workers tomorrow. Three thousand children will be entertained. There will be Christmas carols, a Punch and Judy show, motion pictures, and magicians.

OPERA STAR HERE

ROSALINDA MORINI.

Rosalinda Morini, soprano, arrived yesterday on the Broadway limited of the Pennsylvania railroad at the Union station. She came to Chicago to sing at the Chanukah festival to be given Christmas night at the Chicago Stadium under the auspices of the Zionist organizations of Chicago.

GANGSTERS FLEE CHICAGO; SEIZED IN MILWAUKEE

Four Chicago hoodlums, spending an enforced vacation outside the city, were arrested last night in a room at the La Salle hotel, Milwaukee. With them they had three shotguns and two pistols.

The men are Dominic Bello, Dominic Brancato, Joseph Lisicandrillo, and Frank Lalton. All but Lalton were seized in a raid made Dec. 13 on a storeroom at 413 West Division street, said to have been the alcohol headquarters of the Capone organization. Bello and Brancato were arrested several times previously on charges of carrying concealed weapons.

When the Milwaukee police asked the four men why they had left Chicago, Bello replied:

"Mayor Cermak has been making it too hot for us down there."

Special Policeman Shot as He Escorts Merchant Home

Edward Lucas, 40 years old, 650 West 60th street, a special policeman, was seriously wounded late last night in a pistol battle with four robbers. He was accompanying Joseph Starkman, a butter and egg merchant at 2908 West Roosevelt road, to the Starkman home at 1105 South Richmond street. Starkman was carrying a considerable sum of money. The bandits drew up beside them, and when they saw that Lucas wore a star they opened fire, striking him in the left hip. He emptied his pistol at the men as they drove away. The money was saved.

GOOD FELLOWS TO VISIT HOMES OF POOR TOMORROW

Volunteers Exceed 1931 Total; More Needed.

Tomorrow, Good Fellows, is your day to deliver baskets and Christmas cheer to the poor. If you have been assigned a family, don't fail to deliver. Without your visit the home would not have a holiday—and you wouldn't enjoy the week-end.

If you haven't been assigned a family, it's still not too late to join this army of good cheer. Telephone Superior 0100 today and ask for the Good Fellow headquarters, or call in person at THE TRIBUNE Public Service office, at Dearborn and Madison streets.

You'll receive the name, address and brief description of a family recommended as deserving of a Christmas basket. The names are compiled by the United Charities, the Central Charity bureau, the Cook County Bureau of Public Welfare, the Juvenile court, and other affiliates of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies.

Yesterday Good Fellow enrollments were 32 per cent higher than for the same date a year ago, but the headquarters still had many destitute families for whom no basket had been provided. There are children who will be without candy or toys unless some Good Fellow volunteers today. And there are childless old couples, alone and lonely, waiting for some evidence of kindness on the yuletide.

The deepest pleasure of Christmas comes from sharing happiness with others. If you believe this, if you would bring cheer to some home dependent upon you alone for a merry Christmas, telephone the Good Fellows' headquarters, Superior 0100, for the name of one of these deserving families.

Hotel Takes 100 Families.

James Hart, manager of the Croydon hotel, 616 Rush street, yesterday was assigned 100 families. Guests at the hotel raised money for the baskets with a dance earlier this week.

If you're unable to make a basket delivery personally and still wish to participate in the Good Fellows' campaign for cheer, a cash contribution can be mailed today. Tomorrow will be too late. Every penny will be spent for baskets for the poor. THE TRIBUNE pays administration expenses.

ROBIN SENT SOUTH FROM RACINE DEAD; TOO MUCH KINDNESS

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 22.—(AP)—It appears now that kindness killed Cock Robin.

The chief of police at Racine, Wis., shipped a stranded robin to the chief of police here yesterday. The bird had been ill, having recovered from a blow with a stone. It was unable to migrate south with others in the fall.

It got very cold in Racine and robins were strictly out of season, so the Racine chief sent the bird south in a box.

Today the bird turned over and died. There is some talk that it got too much food and attention.

DEVINE CAMPAIGN FOR SPEAKERSHIP IRKS DEMOCRATS

Dixon Assemblyman May Lose Out.

Christmas spirit in the political camps was given a setback yesterday when it was revealed that opposition to the campaign being waged for him may cost State Representative John P. Devine of Dixon his chance—hitherto considered excellent—of being elected speaker of the Illinois house of representatives.

During the post-election conferences of the Democratic big chiefs at French Lick there was an understanding reached that the reorganization of the two chambers of the assembly, in each of which the Democrats had won a majority, would be allowed to wait until about New Year's.

One of the suggestions some five weeks ago was that this "pot be allowed to boil and settle," but the fresh indications now are that the pot may boil over with a revival of some of the hostility of the April primary.

Michael Fahy's Activities.

The opposition discovered among downstaters and among some Chicagoans is ascribed to the excessive activity of Representative Michael Fahy of Toluca in Devine's behalf. Although a Democrat, Fahy is not looked upon as a friend of the incoming administration. In support of this distrust of Fahy, it is pointed out that he openly declared war on Edward J. Barrett, nominee for state auditor, and that Fahy's immediate neighborhood was only lukewarm toward the head of the state ticket.

Those who now question the likelihood of Devine's election say that Fahy, with or without the speakship candidate's consent, has become a sort of downstate manager for Devine and is urging his election "no matter what the administration wants." The general attitude of the Democratic members is that the wishes of Governor Elect Horner should play an important part in the selection of a speaker for the next two years.

Burns' Chances Brighten.

The falling off of Devine stock, which may not be fatal, had two immediate effects in the conversations concerning the speakership. One was to brighten the outlook for Representative James T. Burns of Kankakee, a former county judge believed to have fine qualifications for the post of presiding officer.

The other was to revive early talk—dismissed at that time as "politically ridiculous"—that the wisest move the Democratic majority could make would be to continue David E. Shanahan in the speakership, although he is a Republican. His fairness in the chair during his six terms has been conceded on both sides. Retaining him as speaker, it was argued, not only would be considered a public guarantee of the intentions of the new assembly to "legislate on merits alone," but also would avoid much of the danger of a factional split among the Democrats.

Rob North Side Woman of $1,650 Rings on Street

Miss Freda C. Appleton, 35 years old, 456 Deming place, reported to Sheffield avenue police last night that two men seized her as she was walking home at Hampden court and Diversey parkway. Threatening her with a revolver, the men dragged her under a porch and took two diamond rings valued at $1,650 and $3 in cash, she said.

GOVERNORS WAR WITH WORDS OVER R. E. BURNS CASE

Georgian Says No Wonder Kidnapers Pick Jersey.

Yesterday Gov. Harry A. Moore refused to permit Burns to be extradited from New Jersey and returned to the Georgia prison camp whence he escaped to tell of his experiences in a book and a motion picture.

Today Gov. Richard B. Russell Jr. of Georgia issued a statement charging that Gov. Moore was either "desirous of basking in the light of some cheap publicity" or had been "completely taken in by the writings of Burns, which have been proven false and are a slander on the state of Georgia."

No Wonder They Kidnap.

He added that the New Jersey governor's decision "makes it easy to understand how the most horrible crime of modern times—the kidnaping and murder of the Lindbergh baby—could go unpunished in a state whose governor has such ideas of law and properties as manifested by the judgment in this case."

Meanwhile, Burns himself was obeying the injunction of Gov. Moore, given at the end of the hearing which brought his release yesterday, that he avoid any further personal publicity. A scheduled appearance of Burns before the microphone of a radio station tonight was canceled.

Burns has not made known his plans for the future, but, with Gov. Moore's assurance that "as long as he conducts himself as a decent citizen" he is safe in New Jersey, he is not expected to leave this state. With profits from his book and motion picture he has opened a small gift shop in West Orange.

The Georgia governor reported in Atlanta dispatches asserting Gov. Moore's decision is a direct violation of the federal constitution.

"The effect of the decision," the Georgia governor said, "not only declares that New Jersey is not bound by the constitution of the United States, but that the governor of that state has a right to decide whether or not the penal system of another state is satisfactory and whether it should be enforced.

Not Read in Georgia.

"The question of whether the confessed criminal, Burns, shall or shall not be punished is of little moment. The action of the governor of New Jersey in sitting as court and jury and passing sentence not only on a convict, but on the sovereign state of Georgia, is far reaching in its consequences.

"Nobody in Georgia has paid any particular attention to the writings of Burns, because we did not think that any person of reasonable intelligence would give weight to the product of a confessed highwayman who was attempting to escape paying the penalty for his crime.

"However, when the governor of a state charges that our penal system is barbarous and inhumane, it is time for such charges to be denounced for what they are, and I hereby brand them as absolutely false and unfounded."

ARRESTED FOR KILLING CHICAGO AUTO EMPLOYE

Man Held in Florida Has Police Record.

Pensacola, Fla., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Harry Maguar, 33 years old, was under arrest here today on a charge of killing Leon P. Neal, 37 years old, 130 North Parkside avenue, Chicago. The bullet riddled body of Neal was found by hitch-hikers on a highway near Chillicothe, Mo., a week ago.

Maguar was arrested with two women when police recognized the car in which they were riding as the one sought by Missouri officials in connection with the Neal murder. Officials said that Maguar had assumed Neal's name. They found in possession of the prisoner a blood stained blanket, an automatic revolver containing the same calibre bullets that killed Neal, and automobile license papers bearing Neal's name.

Two Women with Him.

Virginia Ross of Kansas City was registered at a local hotel with Neal as his wife, and May Pennington of Pensacola was posing as her sister. Maguard and the two women refused to talk other than to admit their identities and to say that they came here from Chillicothe.

Neal, who was employed at the Weidenhof company, an automobile appliance concern at 4352 West Roosevelt road, Chicago, left his Chicago home two weeks ago to attend the funeral of his brother in Dallas, Tex.

He left Chicago in a car of the United States Limousine lines, 9 North Dearborn street, Chicago. Maguar was also a passenger in the automobile. The car broke down in Pontiac, Ill., police learned, and Neal's automobile was brought to him at his request by an employé of the automobile appliance company.

SEEN BY FELLOW WORKER.

Eram Burkhart, who delivered the automobile to Neal in Pontiac, said yesterday that Neal and Maguar seemed to be the best of friends when he met them. They invited him to go to Dallas with them, Burkhart said, and when he refused on the ground that he was dressed in working clothing Maguar offered to loan him a suit of clothing. Officials of the automobile appliance company said that Neal was a model employé. They said they had never known him to seek the company of any woman but his wife. Chicago police records show that Maguar had been arrested on charges of violation of the Dyer act, forgery, and burglars. He served thirty days in the house of correction on a sex charge.

Parted in Infancy

Two sisters who learned only recently of eac hother's existence, having been separated since infancy, met yesterday in the Union station when the younger, Mrs. Agnes Roux, 29 years old, of Glen Cove, Long Island, N. Y., arrived on a Pennsylvania train. She was embraced by the other sister, Mrs. Margaret Fowley, 30 years old, of 1721 Otto street.

They had agreed to wear green and found no difficulty in recognizing each other. Mrs. Roux, who had been adopted as an infant by a French family in the east after being placed in the Foundlings' home in New York on the death of her mother, went to the Foundlings' home last June when she wished to adopt a baby. From her records she found that she had a sister and traced her.

They learned that included in the family was another sister, Mrs. Mary Skelly, for whom they are searching, and a brother, whose name they did not learn.

COURT TO SUE FOR RECOVERY ON FUGITIVE'S BOND

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court revealed last night that records in the case of George Berman, wanted in Milwaukee for a $47,000 bank robbery, have been turned over to the bond court and that suit to recover on the $5,000 real estate bond on which Berman was released would be started today by the bond court. The records previously had been reported missing from the court of Municipal Judge Jay A. Schiller.

Berman was scheduled to appear in court on Wednesday before Judge Schiller but he failed to do so. Judge Schiller then learned that Berman, who was arrested here on Nov. 4 on a fugitive warrant issued in Milwaukee, was held originally on a $50,000 bond, subsequently reduced by Judge Sonsteby to $5,000. Judge Schiller ordered this bond forfeited.

A Mistake, Lawyer Says.

Judge Sonsteby said the reduction had been requested by Robert S. Lee, who represented himself as general counsel for the Lexington Surety company and who asserted that Berman's arrest was a case of mistaken identity. Berman, Lee said, was a son of an official of the surety company. Later it was learned that Lee, who has an office in Indianapolis, holds no license to practice law in Illinois and that he is not general counsel for the surety concern. Judge Sonsteby declined to comment on this information.

The report that the records had disappeared was given out when Judge Schiller failed to find them in Municipal court files when he sought them to discuss the bond reduction with Chief Justice Sonsteby. Judge Schiller had not been informed that the records were in possession of the bond court.

Saloon Keeper Names Robbers.

Berman was accused by Milwaukee police as one of four men who held up two messengers of the Badger State bank in Milwaukee on Aug. 30 and escaped with $47,000 in cash and securities. Jack Walsh, Milwaukee saloon keeper, in whose saloon the robbery was planned, gave the police the names of those who took part.

Judge Sonsteby said last night that he expected Berman would be rearrested soon.

HELD IN $55,000 BONDS.

Miles Brogan, 18 years old, 3709 Sheffield avenue, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bond of $55,000 by Municipal Judge John Gutknecht on six charges of robbery.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 61; recovered, 88; stripped, 28 (from police records ending at midnight Wednesday).

Automobile thieves in court: Stanley Krol, five charges of larceny, held to the grand jury in bonds of $10,000 on each charge; Joseph Zudran, four charges of larceny, held to the grand jury in bonds of $10,000 on each charge; Sol Nimer and Edward Kalak, guilty of stealing automobile parts, sentenced to sixty days each in the Bridewell and then placed on probation for six months. All the cases were heard by Judge Harold P. O'Connell.

Choke Crippled Girl to Death Trying to "Drive Out a Devil"

Linden, Tex., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Religious rites intended to "drive the devil" from the body of a 5 year old crippled child and to which the child's death was attributed resulted in murder charges being filed against two Apostolic preachers here tonight.

The rural community in which the tragedy occurred has been aroused almost to mob violence and Sheriff Nat Curtright declared a double lynching had been narrowly averted.

Dumb and Unable to Walk.

Ministers Paul and Coy Oaks, brothers, admitted to Sheriff Curtright they choked the child to death in an attempt "to drive out a devil" which they believed responsible for the partial paralysis of her body.

The child, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clayton, was stricken with infantile paralysis in infancy and has been dumb and unable to walk.

George Wilson, a neighbor of the Claytons, told officers he was attracted to the Clayton residence by a commotion. He declared he found the two preachers kneeling over the prostrate form of the child. They ordered him to leave, Wilson said, declaring he was a devil. The child's father was in the room, but the mother had gone to another part of the house.

Preach Divine Healing.

Dr. O. R. Taylor, Cass county health officer, said the child had been choked to death and Sheriff Curtright said both preachers admitted choking the child.

The brothers came to Cass county several months ago from another part of Texas and have been holding meetings and preaching divine healing in rural communities, the officers learned. Preliminary hearings for the accused preachers have been set for Monday.

ROB COUPLE IN FRONT OF HOME.

Adolph Yedlin and his wife, Mildred, were robbed of $3 and jewelry valued at $1,625 early yesterday by two bandits in front of the Yedlin home at 6932 Medill avenue.

GOV. ROOSEVELT DENIES REFUSAL TO AID ON DEBTS

He Issues Statement After One by Hoover.

Rosenman, a close friend and advisor of Mr. Roosevelt, said he had been "sitting with the governor" during the evening.

HOOVER HALTS DEBT WORK

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The question of war debt revision so far as the waning Hoover administration is concerned was pronounced officially dead today.

Following the issuance of the telegraphic correspondence between the President and the President elect, in which Gov. Roosevelt rejected the Hoover proposals, it was revealed that the President has definitely abandoned his undertaking to reopen the debt settlements and to commit his successor to such policy.

Hoover's Efforts Fail.

Mr. Hoover did his utmost to deliver what Great Britain and the other debtors wanted, but he failed. He could not induce congress to reconstitute the debt funding commission. He could not induce Gov. Roosevelt to join him in sponsoring the creation of an executive commission to treat with the debtors. He could not induce any Democrats to serve on a commission created without coöperation of Gov. Roosevelt. And, finally, he found the debtors not at all interested in negotiating, with Gov. Roosevelt out of the picture.

The whole question of reduction of the debts demanded by the debtors under threat of repudiation of their obligations otherwise goes over to the Roosevelt administration.

States Roosevelt's Stand.

"Gov. Roosevelt," said the President in making public the correspondence, "considers that it is undesirable for him to assent to my suggestions for coöperative action on the foreign problems outlined in my recent message to congress. I will respect his wishes.

"Situations will no doubt develop and will be dealt with by the administration as they arise, but, of course, no commitments will be made for the next administration.

"The correspondence between myself and Gov. Roosevelt is attached hereto."

Less formally, but no less authoritatively, it was stated that Mr. Hoover will take no further steps toward the appointment of a commission to negotiate with the debtors.

Debtors Lose Interest.

What Great Britain and the other debtors were chiefly interested in was committing Roosevelt to the policy of debt revision which Mr. Hoover had espoused so satisfactorily from their point of view. When Mr. Hoover failed to deliver Mr. Roosevelt's coöperation they lost interest.

The correspondence discloses that Gov. Roosevelt viewed the President's efforts as designed to commit the President elect to a debt revision policy and that the President elect was exceedingly wary of such entanglement.

In a telegram addressed to Gov. Roosevelt last Saturday the President employed the same arguments for an immediate opening of negotiations with the debtors that he embodied in his special message to congress two days later. Then he asked his successor if he would join in the selection of a negotiating delegation or if he preferred to defer the whole matter till after March 4.

Proposals Rejected.

Gov. Roosevelt replied on Monday that he deemed it improper for himself and inadvisable for the President that the President elect "should take part in naming representatives." They would be responsible to Mr. Hoover, his successor pointed out, and not in touch with the President elect prior to March 4.

"I think you will recognize," said Gov. Roosevelt, "that it would be unwise for me to accept an apparent joint responsibility with you when, as a matter of constitutional fact, I would be wholly lacking in any attendant authority."

This answer also disclosed that Gov. Roosevelt will not approach the debt question from the same viewpoint as does President Hoover. He is opposed to the Hoover plan of lumping debts, disarmament and world economic problems together. His view is that these questions "will be found to require selective treatment," to begin with, at least, no matter what relationships among them may develop eventually.

Favors Arms Reduction.

As to disarmament, the governor approved the Hoover policy and agreed that reduction of armaments would have a "very positive and salutary influence on debt and economic discussions," but he suggested that it would take so long to achieve results in this field as to put disarmament out of the immediate picture.

As to the debts, Gov. Roosevelt clearly indicated that while the executive might properly explore possibilities, any actual negotiations with the debtors should be undertaken only under congressional authority.

The world economic conference to be held in the spring, Gov. Roosevelt thought, "should not be submerged in conversations relating to disarmament or debts," as he evidently felt it would be if the Hoover policy were followed. He therefore rejected the Hoover suggestion of a delegation to the economic conference composed of debt and disarmament negotiators.

Roosevelt Rejects Last Minute Plea to O. K. Hoover Debt Plan

Several hours before Gov. Roosevelt issued a statement last night denying that President Hoover was correct in saying that Gov. Roosevelt did not wish to co-operate with the administration on foreign problems, the following story of efforts to bring President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt into accord was sent from Albany:

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—A last minute attempt was made by a high official of the Hoover administration to get Franklin D. Roosevelt, President elect, to agree that any commissioners or representatives temporarily appointed by President Hoover to make a preliminary study of the European war debts be continued as a permanent body after he becomes President, it was learned here today from friends of the President elect.

These friends expressed some indignation at what they regarded as a move to leave recommendations for settlement of the question to a body named not by the President elect but by the outgoing President.

This attempt, it was said, was made late last night by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson. It was not disclosed by the telegraphic correspondence between President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt which was made public by the President at Washington.

Reads Governor's Wire.

According to the story told here by some of Gov. Roosevelt's friends, about the time he filed his final telegram to President Hoover at 9:14 last night, in which he reiterated his refusal to accept joint responsibility for exploratory investigation and declined to accept the President's suggestion that he designate Owen D. Young, Col. Edward M. House, or some other Democrat in whom he had confidence, Gov. Roosevelt called a friend in Washington and read him the telegram.

A short time later, it was said, Secretary Stimson called this friend of Gov. Roosevelt, whose name was not disclosed, and asked him what he had heard of the governor's answer to President Hoover's second telegram.

At that time or just prior to it, Secretary Stimson and Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, are understood to have been in conference at the White House with President Hoover and are said to have been greatly concerned over the situation which might develop in France today, when the new cabinet headed by Joseph Paul-Boncour was expected to state its position on the debts to the French senate and chamber of deputies.

Fear French Cabinet will Fall.

According to the information here there was fear in the minds of the President and his advisers that unless Gov Roosevelt's reply offered hope of early debt adjustment or at least some certainty of early consideration the new French cabinet might fall.

At the time Secretary Stimson got in touch with the Washington friend of Gov. Roosevelt, the latter's telegram apparently had not been received at the White House, although it had been sent from the executive mansion here.

Gov. Roosevelt's friend is said to have informed Secretary Stimson of the substance of the governor's telegram, upon hearing which Secretary Stimson is reported to have said that it would not do at all.

Tide Over Foreign Situation.

Secretary Stimson is reported further to have said that there must be a "bridge" to tide over the international situation during the period which will intervene before Gov. Roosevelt takes office as President. It was then that he is said to have made the suggestion that the representatives whom President Hoover might name be continued on a permanent body to study the debt situation.

Gov. Roosevelt's Washington friend reported his conversation with Secretary Stimson to the governor at Albany. Gov. Roosevelt refused to entertain the suggestion.

Text of Messages Exchanged by Hoover and Roosevelt on War Debts

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Here are the texts of the four telegrams exchanged by President Hoover and President Elect Roosevelt on the debt situation:

HOOVER'S FIRST MESSAGE

"My dear governor:

"As you have seen from the press the position of the debtor governments in respect to the Dec. 15 payments is now largely determined. In accord with both your expressions and my own statements it is the duty of the United States to survey and exchange views on these questions individually with some of the debtor governments. It is necessary to consider the character of machinery to be erected for this purpose.

"These problems cannot be dissociated from the problems which will come before the world economic conference and to some degree those before the conference on world disarmament. As the economic situation in foreign countries is one of the dominant depressants of prices and employment in the United States it is urgent that the world economic conference should assemble at as early a date as possible. The United States should be represented by a strong and effective delegation. This delegation should be chosen at an early moment in order that it may give necessary consideration and familiarize itself with the problems, and secure that such investigation and study is made as will be necessary for its use at the conference.

Favors Full Discussion.

"Beyond this such problems as the exchange of views in respect to debts cannot be accomplished in satisfactory manner through the ordinary routine of diplomatic contacts. Satisfactory conclusions can only be reached by free and direct round table discussion with each government separately where agreement may be had upon fact and where conclusions can be reached. It has been an almost universal practice in our government where unusual and vital questions are involved to appoint special delegations to undertake such discussions. The routine machinery of diplomacy neither affords the type of men required nor can they give the time from other duties which such discussions require.

"While we must not change our established policy of dealing with each debtor separately, and indeed no other course could be entertained in view of the widely divergent conditions which exist in the different countries and the very different situations in which they find themselves, and while the decision heretofore reached not to consider the debt question at the coming world economic conference is a wise one, it seems clear that the successful outcome of the world economic conference will be greatly furthered if the debt problems can be satisfactorily advanced before that conference, although final agreement in some cases may be contingent upon the satisfactory solution of certain economic questions in which our country has a direct interest and the final determination of which may well form a part of the matters coming before the economic conference.

Wants Members of Congress.

"It is desirable that such delegation should include members of the congress in order that such intricate facts and circumstances can be effectively presented to the congress. It is no derogation of executive authority to choose members from that quarter. It might be well to consider whether this delegation should also embrace in its membership some of the old or new members of the delegation to the arms conference in order that these three important questions should be given coördinate consideration.

"If it were not for the urgency of the situation both at home and abroad and the possible great helpfulness to employment and agricultural prices and general restoration of confidence which could be brought about by successful issue of all these questions and the corresponding great dangers of inaction, it would be normal to allow the whole matter to rest until after the change of administration, but in the emergency such as exists at the moment I would be neglectful of my duty if I did not facilitate in every way the earliest possible dealing with these questions. It is obvious that no conclusions would be reached from such discussion prior to March 4, but a great deal of time could be saved if the machinery could be created at once by the appointment of the delegates as I have mentioned.

"I shall be informing the congress of the economic situation and of the desirability of the above proposed machinery for dealing with these conferences. I should be glad to know if you could join with me in the selection of such delegation at the present time or if you feel that the whole matter should be deferred until after March 4. I believe there would be no difficulty in agreeing upon an adequate representation for the purpose. In such selection the first concern would be the selection of a chairman for the delegation.

"HERBERT HOOVER."

ROOSEVELT'S REPLY

"The President:

"The White House.

"Dear Mr. President: I have given earnest consideration to your courteous telegram of Dec. 17 and I want to assure you that I seek in every proper way to be of help. It is my view that the questions of disarmament, intergovernmental debts, and permanent economic arrangements will be found to require selective treatment, even though this be with full recognition of the possibility that in the ultimate outcome a relationship of any two or of all three may become clear.

"1. As to disarmament: Your policy is clear and satisfactory. Some time, however, is required to bring it to fruition. Success in a practical program limiting armaments, abolishing certain instruments of warfare, and decreasing the offensive or attack power of all nations will, in my judgment, have a very positive and salutary influence on debt and economic discussions.

Against Fixing Policies.

"2. As to the debts: If any debtor nation desires to approach us, such nation should be given the earliest opportunity so to do. Certainly in the preliminary conversations the chief executive has full authority, either through the existing machinery of the diplomatic service or by supplementing it with specially appointed agents of the President himself to conduct such preliminary investigations or inquiries without in any way seeking formal congressional action. I am impelled to suggest, however, that these surveys should be limited to determining facts and exploring possibilities rather than fixing policies binding on the incoming administration. I wholly approve and would in no way hinder such surveys.

"3. As to the economic conference: I am clear that a permanent economic program for the world should not be submerged in conversations relating to disarmament or debts. I recognize, of course, a relationship, but not an identity. Therefore I cannot go along with the thought that the personnel conducting the conversations should be identical.

He Suggests Delay.

"By reason of the fact that under the constitution I am unable to assume the authority in the matter of the agenda of the economic conference until after March 4 next, and by reason of the fact that there appears to be a divergence of opinion between us in respect to the scope of the conference, and further by reason of the fact that time is required to conduct conversations relating to debts and disarmaments, I must respectfully suggest that the appointing of the permanent delegates and the final determination of the program of the economic conference be held in abeyance until after March 4. In the meantime I can see no objection to further informal conferences with the agenda committee, or to the carrying on of preliminary economic studies which would serve an undoubtedly useful purpose.

"I feel that it would be both improper for me and inadvisable for you, however much I appreciate the courtesy of your suggestion, for me to take part in naming representatives. From the necessity of the case, they could be responsible only and properly to you as President for the effective performance of their assignments, particularly in matters calling for almost daily touch with and direction of the executive. I would be in no position prior to March 4 to have this constant contact.

"I think you will recognize that it would be unwise for me to accept an apparent joint responsibility with you when, as a matter of constitutional fact, I would be wholly lacking in any attendant authority.

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

HOOVER'S SECOND MESSAGE

"The White House, December 20, 1932, 2:30 p. m.

"Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt,
"Albany, New York.
"My Dear Governor:

"I have your telegram expressing the difficulties which you find in coöperation at the present time. In the face of foreign conditions which are continually degenerating agricultural prices, increasing unemployment and creating economic difficulties for our people, I am unwilling to admit that coöperation cannot be established between the outgoing and incoming administrations which will give earlier solution and recovery from these difficulties.

"If you will review my previous communications and conversations I think you will agree that while outlining the nature of the problems my proposals to you have been directed to the setting up not of solutions but of the machinery through which by preparedness the ultimate solution of these questions can be expedited and coördinated to the end that many months of delay and increasing losses to our people may be avoided.

Recognizes Divergent Views.

"I fully recognize that your solution of these questions of debt, the world economic problems and disarmament might vary from my own. These conclusions obviously cannot be attained in my administration and will lie entirely within your administration. I wish especially to avoid any embarrassment to your work and thus have no intention of committing the incoming administration to any particular policy prior to March 4. Even the exploratory work you suggest should be participated in by men in whom you have confidence, and I wish to facilitate it. What I deem of the utmost importance is that when you assume responsibility on March 4 machinery of your approval will be here, fully informed and ready to function according to the policies you may determine.

"My frequent statements indicate agreement with you that debts, world economic problems and disarmament require selective treatment, but you will agree with me that they also require coördination and preparation either in the individual hands of the then President or in the hands of men selected to deal with them and advise him. There is thus no thought of submerging the world economic conference with other questions, but rather to remove the barriers from successful issue of that conference.

"With a view to again making an effort to secure coöperation and that solidarity of national action which the situation needs, I would be glad if you could designate Mr. Owen D. Young, Colonel House, or any other men of your party possessed of your views and your confidence and at the same time familiar with these problems, to sit with the principal officers of this administration in an endeavor to see what steps can be taken to avoid delays of precious time and inevitable losses that will ensue from such delays.

HERBERT HOOVER."

ROOSEVELT'S SECOND REPLY

"Albany, N. Y., 9:45 p. m., Dec. 21, 1932:

"The President,
"The White House,
"Dear Mr. President:

"I think perhaps the difficulties to which you refer are not in finding the means or the willingness for coöperation, but rather in defining clearly those things concerning which coöperation between us is possible.

"We are agreed that commitments to any particular policy prior to March fourth are for many reasons inadvisable and indeed impossible. There remains therefore before that date only the possibility of exploratory work and preliminary surveys.

"Please let me reiterate not only that I am glad to avoid the loss of precious time through delay in starting these preliminaries but also that I shall gladly receive such information and expression of opinion concerning all of those international questions which because of existing economic and other conditions must and will be among the first concerns of my administration.

"However, for me to accept any joint responsibility in the work of exploration might well be construed by the debtor or other nations, collectively or individually, as a commitment—moral even though not legal, as to policies and courses of action.

"The designation of a man or men of such eminence as your telegram suggests would not imply mere fact-findings; it would suggest the presumption that such representatives were empowered to exchange views on matters of large and binding policy.

"Current press dispatches from abroad already indicate that the joint action which you propose would most certainly be interpreted there as much more of a policy commitment than either you or I actually contemplate.

"May I respectfully suggest that you proceed with the selection of your representatives to conduct the preliminary exploration necessary with individual debtor nations and representatives to discuss the agenda of the world economic conference, making it clear than none of these representatives is authorized to bind this government as to any ultimate policy.

"If this be done, let me repeat that I shall be happy to receive their information and their expression of opinion.

"To that I add the thought that between now and March fourth I shall be very glad if you will keep me advised as to the progress of the preliminary discussions, and I also shall be happy to cousult with you freely during this period.

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

HARRY F. GERGUSON, SELF-STYLED PRINCE, BACK IN NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Patrons and waiters in an expensive mid-town speakeasy recognized a long expected acquaintance tonight in the person of Harry F. Gerguson. He has been shuttling back and forth between Europe and the United States for years and writing his self-appropriated name of Prince Michael Romanoff in large letters on police blotters, immigration records, society invitation lists, and check books on both sides of the Atlantic.

As is usually the case when the self-styled prince suddenly reappears in New York, Hollywood, Paris, or on the Riviera, Gerguson's long overdue visit to one of his favorite haunts on the west side caused quite a flurry tonight.

The big question was: How did he land here and what particular one of the luxurious liners that came to port this week brought him back?

Immigration officials probably would have asked him the same question—if they had caught him at the pier, or even later. Ever since Gerguson finished a term in jail in Paris not so many days ago immigration officials have been on the lookout for him.

They had definite orders to that effect, having received a warning from Paris that Gerguson had finished his term of one month for failure to obey an order expelling him from France. Whether he will be deported remains to be seen.

HARVARD MAN IS MENTIONED FOR CABINET POST

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The visit of Prof. Felix Frankfurter of the Harvard Law school to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt at the executive mansion tonight revived reports that the President elect might consider him for appointment as United States attorney general. It is known that Prof. Frankfurter has friends in the Roosevelt camp who would be satisfactory to the liberals. He is regarded as of the liberal legal school of thought, of which prominent exemplars are the retired Supreme court justice, Oliver Wendell Holmes, and Supreme Court Justice Brandeis. He is from Massachusetts, a state which the President elect might like to have represented in his cabinet, and he has something of the academic atmosphere, for which Gov. Roosevelt seems to have a liking in his advisers.

Harold [Fat] Watkins, sentenced to six years in prison for complicity in the Dearborn station mail robbery a decade ago, left last night for Leavenworth penitentiary. With him went sixteen other prisoners under the supervision of Deputy Marshal Gavin.

BRITAIN TO END GOVERNMENT BY FORCE IN INDIA

LONDON, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Emergency ordinances of the Indian government which have been in effect during the period of disturbances in India are about to be listed, Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary for India, indicated in the house of commons today, as a consequence of a decision by the Indian assembly and the provincial councils that they are prepared to take upon their own shoulders powers to deal with any further trouble.

"I'm glad to say," he told the house, "that by the beginning of the new year the emergency ordinances will be required no longer."

The third round table conference on India is expected to conclude within a few days. Sir Samuel said he thought it would be found that a great measure of agreement had been reached.

CHAMBER BACKS PAUL-BONCOUR'S POLICY ON DEBT

"Prudence" Is Urged by French Premier.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 22.—Approving the discreet assurance that France will stand firm on her present position on war debts, while accepting any really serious concessions to this stand that America chooses to make and a general governmental program flavored with socialist ideology, but without any revolutionary proposals, the chamber of deputies tonight voted confidence in the Paul-Boncour government. The vote was 400 to 185.

Little interest was aroused in the chamber by that part of Premier Joseph Paul-Boncour's ministerial declaration which dealt with the debt policy. This policy was known in advance and upheld the theory to which everybody in the chamber subscribes—that it is useless to carry on any serious negotiations for making the defaulted $19,261,432 interest payment until President Elect Roosevelt takes office.

Urges Greatest Prudence.

"We consider that present circumstances and the extreme complexity of the American political situation render it necessary to exercise the greatest prudence in carrying on any negotiations," the government's proclamation said." "The orientation of these negotiations already has been marked out by the chamber's vote on the debts Dec. 14."

[The chamber on Dec. 14 voted against payment of the interest due Dec. 15 unless the United States first agreed to confer about revision.]

At the same time Paul-Boncour admitted he would be only "too happy to seize upon any possibility of rapprochement which might arise."

"To this end we will negotiate with the firm intention of preparing a general solution to the economic disorders caused by the war debt burden," the premier announced.

The rest of the government's program was tame enough and aroused only academic discussion. On disarmament Paul-Boncour continues the policy of the fallen government of Edouard Herriot, but noticeably soft pedals the traditional French insistence on security as a condition of disarmament.

His financial policy is obscure. On one hand he promised that drastic scaling down of public expenditures will be effected, while on the other hand the government frankly capitulates before the refusal of civil servants to accept salary cuts. No attempt to apply the economies envisaged by this government will be made until after the holidays.

Premier Favors Socialists.

In the meantime the government pledges itself to ask for only one emergency monthly appropriation bill on the present scale and declares that all measures designed to balance the entire 1933 budget will be included in the appropriations bill for February.

Two minor sops to Paul-Boncour's old Socialist companions were included in the program—energetic action by the state to maintain the price of wheat through operations of the newly created wheat board and application of a system of collective contracts between workers and employers to reduce idleness.

This relatively anodyne socialism was reinforced by verbal socialism on the part of the new premier. Defending the functionaries who are virtually in open revolt against the state, he declared that all government services should be unionized and that it was the duty of the state to consult unions.

Many bouquets were tossed to the Socialists by Paul-Boncour. He declared he is personally in favor of the sweeping social and financial reforms demanded by the Socialists as conditions to their participation in the government, but believed that the present financial mess had to be cleaned up before this experiment could be tried.

Socialists Support Him.

The impression prevailing at the time of the formation of the cabinet that it was just a stop gap government intended to keep the place warm for Herriot was strengthened by tonight's debate, but the evident desire of the Socialists to keep Paul-Boncour in power as long as possible also was revealed.

While the government was putting the last touches on its ministerial declarations this morning Ambassador Walter E. Edge of the United States called on Herriot at his hotel this morning for an unofficial conference on debts. It is not known just what came out of this talk.

DIES AFTER TAKING POISON.

Jesse Michael, 20 years old, 308 West 51st street, died yesterday in the county hospital after drinking poison on Wednesday in his home. Police said that Michael was despondent over a dispute with his wife.

SENATE ADOPTS FILIPINO LIBERTY BILL REPORT

House to Concur in Conference Change.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The senate today concurred in a conference report on a Philippine independence bill granting freedom to America's insular possession after a probationary period of ten years.

The house is expected to consider the conference report tomorrow and virtually is sure to approve it. There will remain then in the way of the independence act only the possibility of President Hoover's veto or the chance that the Philippine legislature will not see fit to put it into effect.

Their Path to Freedom.

The requirement that the insular legislature have the final choice of whether or not to embark on the path to freedom was placed in the bill in the senate and was adopted by the conference committee of the two houses, which gave its final approval of the measure this morning.

Also in the bill was the senate amendment providing that the Philippine people shall have a veto on independence only at the beginning of the probationary period, but not at its close.

The ten years now carried in the bill represents a compromise between the eight years of the bill passed by the house and the twelve years in the senate measure. Allowing for the calling of a constitutional convention, the adoption of a constitution, the election of a provisional government, and the proclamation of freedom at the end of the provisional period, the independence process prescribed by the bill would require from eleven to thirteen years. In other words, if approved at every step, the act would mean freedom for the Philippines some time between 1943 and 1945.

Act While Kingfish Is Away.

As agreed to by the conference committee the larger free entry allowances of Philippine sugar and cocoanut oil, provided in the house bill, were adopted. One of the reasons for hurrying the bill to an agreement and through the senate was because of the absence in Louisiana of Senator Huey (Call Me Kingfish) Long, who wildly orated for the protection of Louisiana sugar and succeeded in having the senate cut down the free sugar entry.

The senate bill's restrictions on immigration also were somewhat lightened. The islands will be given an annual quota of fifty a year during the trial period. When granted freedom, however, the Filipinos will be treated as aliens and also will come under the Asiatic exclusion act.

FILIPINOS DENOUNCE BILL.

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Hawes-Cutting Philippine independence bill recently passed by the United States senate was denounced as "unjust and insulting by speakers at a massmeeting here today attended by more than 5,000 people.

Speakers attacked immigration exclusion, sugar importation limitation during the transition period, and retention of naval bases by the United States.

HABEAS CORPUS WRIT ASKED FOR ALLEGED KILLER

CRIMINAL COURT.

Tony Ponzi, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge John Prystalski.

Charles Meyers, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory; William O'Brien, murder, sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry A. Lewis.

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus for Frank Bialek, 24 years old, 638 North Sawyer avenue, accused of killing Policeman Patrick Madden and seriously wounding Policeman Roman Orczechowski last Nov. 20, was filed yesterday before Chief Justice Prystalski in the Criminal court. A hearing was set for today at 2 p. m.

Attorney Thaddeus C. Toudor, representing Bialek, asserted that his client had been held in jail and mistreated by the police without being formally charged with a crime. Assistant State's Attorney Euclid Taylor told the judge that charges of murder and assault to murder would be filed against Bialek before the hour set for the hearing today.

Bialek was arrested on Tuesday when he walked into a trap laid by 22 policemen, two of whom were disguised in women's clothing.

U.S. PROTESTS AS CHINA PUTS BAN ON YANK'S PAPER

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

SHANGHAI, Dec. 22.—The position of George Bronson Rea, an American, as official adviser to the state of Manchukuo, for which he receives $15,000 a year, became an issue involving the United States and China when Edwin S. Cunningham, American consul general, received instructions from the American legation at Pieping today to protest Nanking's action in withdrawing mailing privileges from the Far Eastern Review. The Review is a monthly journal here, owned and published by Mr. Rea.

Mr. Cunningham had notified the legation in Pieping that the Shanghai postal commission had conceled the Review's privileges without giving any reason for the action, and Mr. Rea protested.

Retaliatory Action.

Legation officials admit that Nanking is retaliating because Mr. Rea is now in Geneva championing the cause of Manchukuo, but the legation declares Mr. Rea is within his rights in acting as adviser. They stress the importance of the principles involved, saying the action of Nanking, if allowed to go unchallenged, would create an undesirable precedent that could be applied to other American concerns.

Cancellation of mailing privileges cannot be tolerated unless Nanking demonstrates that the Review has published articles or comments warranting exclusion from the mails, they declare.

The legation has lodged a protest with the Nanking government and Mr. Cunningham will file his with the postal commissioner.

BACKED CHINA'S CAUSE.

Mr. Rea has been the center of considerable controversy in the far east for many years, largely because he formerly vigorously supported the Chinese cause as against Japan only to reverse his stand in recent years, and become a defender of Japan and her policy in Manchuria.

Mr. Rea, who came from Brooklyn, has lived in the far east since the boxer rebellion in 1901. In 1915 he won the Chinese government's $25,000 price for the best program for a Chinese national railway system. Then he became secretary of the Chinese National Railway corporation, in which capacity he made unsuccessful efforts to raise a loan abroad of $500,000,000 for the Chinese railway project.

Later he gave up his position, but carried on his journalistic work, in which hostility to China became evident a few years after the world war.

8 ASSISTANTS ARE APPOINTED BY PROSECUTOR

The appointment of eight assistant state's attorneys was announced yesterday by State's Attorney Courtney. They are James A. Brown, 735 Junior terrace; Gordon B. Nash, 2863 East 91st street; A. L. Hornick, 2749 North Sawyer avenue; Frank Donoghue, 4129 North Hermitage avenue; James J. Shepro, 2118 Euclid avenue, Berwyn; William Brumlik, 5705 South Albany avenue; Alex J. Napoli, 114 Kensington avenue, and James Cusack, 5555 Woodlawn avenue. All of the appointments were approved by the Chicago Bar association.

Attorney Brown, a former assistant state's attorney and later employed in the office of the corporation counsel, will be assigned to the trial of cases in the Criminal court. The others will be assigned to police courts, the state's attorney said.

Prosecutor Courtney said yesterday that he felt that it is the duty of the state's attorney to handle tax litigation. He so notified the county board and asked a list of private attorneys now engaged by the county in tax work.

NAN SHARES HER CHRISTMAS WITH HUNGRY PUPILS

There is a little girl on the south side who will be happy on Christmas morning because of the gifts under her Christmas tree and also because of one gift that will not be there.

Among the contributions to the Hungry School Children's fund yesterday was $2. It was "from my little granddaughter, Nan B. Goodman, who is giving her Christmas gift to the hungry school children." The letterhead bore the name of Blanche L. Goodman. And this is the absent gift that will add to Nan Goodman's happiness on Christmas morning. It will provide a warm lunch for twenty needy pupils in Chicago schools.

Yesterday's contributions to the fund are acknowledged as follows:

$10—Anonymous, L. B., D. N. T.
$8—North Shore Infant Welfare Group No. 1.

RELIEF SHELTERS O.K., INSPECTORS TELL BUNDESEN

After receiving reports from his inspectors, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, yesterday declared that the relief shelters are in good condition and that the men are receiving good food and lodging. The general condition of the shelters is better, he said, than last winter.

The inspectors' reports said the food served in the shelters is wholesome, and that the sanitation and the disinfection of eating and drinking utensils is proper. The housing is in good condition, clean and with good ventilation, according to the reports. The inspectors said that the beds had been spaced farther apart, in accordance with a request of the department. Three shelters that were using a cleansing compound with no chlorine content were ordered to use another compound.

The inspectors were sent out early yesterday by Dr. Bundesen to investigate after Dr. Bundesen himself had visited them personally in disguise. He had found the food and lodging good.

THE HOUSE VOTES BEER.

The national house of representatives passed the beer bill by a vote of 230 to 165. This is the first definite break in the policy which gained ascendancy almost precisely fifteen years ago, when, in December, 1917, the senate voted to submit the 18th amendment. This was one of the first fruits from the peculiar mentality of war. National prohibition came in with a convulsion, and it is apparently going out in another. An elevation of spirit produced by the rallying of the nation to war sacrifices betrayed the country into excesses of law which the depression of spirit caused by hard times has fully disclosed to the people imposed upon. One decision was made in extraordinary times and another is being made in times even more trying. The war produced a moral fervor which became indiscreet and later intolerable, and hard times restores a sanity which sees straight.

A good many American citizens may have to rub their eyes before they will believe that what they are reading can be true. The house vote, viewed in respect to its immediate political background in that same legislative body, must seem a bit magical. There only last May a bill to permit the manufacture and sale of a 2.75 beer was defeated by a vote of 228 to 169. The senate had defeated a bill of similar nature by a vote of 61 to 24. A bill to put a tax on beer had been defeated by a vote of 216 to 132. As late as July 11 the senate defeated the Bingham beer bill by 50 to 25. The Beck-Linthicum proposal for the resubmisson of the 18th amendment had been defeated by a vote of 227 to 187. There was no indication that the control established by the late Wayne B. Wheeler over both Presidents and congress was the less secure in the hands of Scott McBride, who sat in the gallery Wednesday to see a house of changed and chastened temper reverse its stubborn judgments.

The makeup of congress had not changed between summer and winter, but the November election had rolled its figures in upon Washington, and even the lame ducks could understand that an era in American history dominated by Bishop Cannon, Clarence True Wilson, and Mr. McBride had come to its closing days.

In the chronology of this era there are some items which will make Americans blink. Certainly a new generation will be at a loss to understand how a national legislature, representing its progenitors, could have indorsed the government poisoning of alcohol, the record of manslaughter, and the savage punishments inflicted in the enforcement of a law which in itself will not be understandable. The best that can be said of the period is that the Americans of the time were queer fish.

Although a release was not to be confidently expected of this lame duck congress, in which the new representatives of the people do not appear, and in which are so many discarded members sitting for the last time, it does not seem now that the senate can resist the arguments which prevailed in the house, or that any retiring President could find it incumbent on him to veto the decision of congress as contained in a beer bill. Either one or the other of these checks may be encountered, but if so it will be entirely out of the line of reason. The beverage permitted by the Collier bill allows the making of a beer slightly under the average alcoholic content of beer in general use before prohibition. That it is intoxicating in common use cannot be sensibly maintained. It is agreed that the beverage will be palatable, and it is believed that it will help deflect American drinking habits away from the gross and injurious uses of virulent products of the bootleg industry.

As a revenue measure a tax on this beverage should be of considerable treasury aid. Even if only the minimum estimates are realized there will be something to offset the disappearance of revenue from the ordinary channels. There should be also an intangible value in the changed mentality of the country. The release of beer is a concession to the older and sounder theory that this is a government by and for adult citizens, capable of supporting and disciplining themselves, and consequently worthy to be intrusted with the management of a democracy. When that theory is abandoned there is no reason to think that juvenile dependence will not make its appearance throughout the country in every relation of the citizen to his government.

MAN AND MATTER.

"If there is a taint of materialism in this power age," says Dr. Michael Pupin, famous electrical engineer, "don't charge it against the sciences which have discovered the various forms of power and developed them for mankind."

That charge is indeed heard among the bewildered critics of the hour and is nonsensical. But Dr. Pupin wants to blame some one, too, so he says that since our "taint of materialism" should be charged to "the spiritual unpreparedness of mankind to enjoy these gifts" we must "blame political science, sociology, psychology, and theology for not teaching mankind that there are spiritual powers in the heart and directing men to employ their spiritual powers for the good of mankind as science has done with the physical powers."

Well, if we must go in for blaming some one, the sociologists, political scientists, etc., will do as well as any one else, but why not blame mankind? It is easy to declare that sociology, etc., ought to "teach mankind" this or that. These sciences try hard enough, but the material they work with is not very susceptible to any teaching, even that of the most efficient teaching of all, experience. Dr. Pupin and his fellow physical scientists have an easy job teaching matter to behave compared to that of the teachers of humans.

One of the afflictions of the depression is the loose talk going about.

THE PACKERS ON THE ALLOTMENT PLAN.

The spokesmen for the packers, testifying before the house committee on agriculture, have made an impressive case against the domestic allotment plan as it concerns their industry. They have said that the imposition of an excise tax on hogs slaughtered for consumption in this country will raise the price of pork with the result that the consumption of pork will decline and the number of animals on the farms will increase. Therefore, the packers say, the supply of hogs will so far exceed the demand that the price of live animals will decline at least by the amount of the tax and probably more. When the sums collected by the excise taxes are distributed to the farmers they will find they will receive less than they now do; and, instead of being paid in cash when the hogs are marketed, the final payment will be postponed for weeks or months.

Some of the professional friends of the farmer in congress will no doubt discount this argument as special pleading by those who are determined to profit at the expense of the farmer. The fact, of course, is that the more money farmers get for their hogs, the better the packers are pleased. Packing houses, almost without exception, have operated at a loss this year precisely because the low price of live stock has meant a narrow profit margin and the falling price of stock has meant inventory losses which have wiped out any hope of profits.

The case presented by the packers, then, cannot be thrown out as insincere. They can be counted upon to support any measure of farm relief which will, in their judgment, prove workable. Their position is precisely that of every one else living in the corn belt and alive to the importance of corn and hogs in the economy of this region. If the packers are wrong in their estimate of the domestic allotment plan they and the rest of us would be delighted to be shown wherein the argument is fallacious.

The disposition in the corn belt is not to grind the farmer down, but to help him up if it is at all possible to do so. It was for that reason that support was given the bill creating the farm board and making over to it a half billion dollars of taxpayers' money. The farm board has proved a dismal and costly failure, but the belief that the nation would benefit from higher farm prices remains. The only change in sentiment has been a growing skepticism about plans of farm relief. If the domestic allotment plan is to be adopted it must pass a far more rigorous inspection than did the agricultural marketing act.

The friends of the domestic allotment plan bear the burden of proof. They must show, if they can, that their plan will work. In this connection an ounce of actual experience and precedent is worth a ton of guesswork. The best argument which the allotment planners can present is the experience under the same or a similar plan here or in other countries. If anything like the domestic allotment has been tried before the record should be set forth in detail.

MR. ROSSETTER RENOMINATED.

The renomination of George W. Rossetter to the presidency of the Chicago Association of Commerce was, of course, expected. Mr. Rossetter has headed the association in a trying period with great credit to himself and to the organization. As spokesman for the business interests of Chicago he has seen that the first step toward economic recovery must be the reduction of the tax burden, and he has thrown himself into the fight for reduced federal, state, and local expenditure with energy and resourcefulness. With the enemy beginning to show signs of yielding, the need for Mr. Rossetter's services is greater than ever if the victory is to be complete.

Editorial of the Day

[The Manchester Guardian.]

A German author who is seeking a divorce from his wife in a Berlin court has discovered a new form of that "incompatibility of temperament" which is more often heard of in connection with American matrimonial suits. He pleads that his marriage should be dissolved because his wife's openly expressed disapproval of the books which he writes is "endangering that self-confidence without which an author cannot go on writing." He is probably right in assuming that authorship is a flower which must be rooted in self-esteem; it is donkey's work [in more senses than one] to toil away at writing when you are not certain that the result will be worth reading. But it may well be a much more disconcerting experience to be yoked with an unbeliever and to have the unpiacable critic always under the same roof as the exasperated author. Milton, a writer who had views of his own on matrimony and also on divorce, seems to have anticipated the German author's grievance. His description, in "Samson Agonistes," of the wife who before marriage is "soft, modest, meek, demure," but afterwards

> . . . the contrary she proves, a thorn
> Intestine, far within defensive arms
> A cleaving mischief, in his way to virtue > Adverse and turbulent,

sounds exceedingly like the sort of adverse influence to escape from which the German petitioner now throws himself on the mercy of the court. The wife's answer to that court is blunt and uncompromising: "It is impossible for an educated woman to respect a man who writes such bad books as my husband." Unusual as are the grounds for the application, perhaps it would be better to grant a divorce—or at least a judicial separation. This sounds the kind of "cleaving mischief" that will not be mended by mild advice and half measures.

MORE TO THE POINT.

ANYHOW, WE KNOW we're not going to get a horrible hand painted necktie that we wouldn't wear to a dog fight in our cunning Christmas stocking this year. Nor will we get a pair of felt slippers with sunflowers embroidered on 'em. Nor a box of Flora de Cabbagio cigars. Nor three pairs of passionate colored socks four sizes too small. We've been drawing them things from Santa Claus ever since we can remember. But never again. 'Tis the dawn of a new era. This is the machine age. This Christmas we expect to be given a woodsman's ax, an adding machine, a tool chest full of all sorts of cutting things, a neat folding contraption which properly approached becomes (1) a garden spade; (2) a whitewash brush; (3) safety razor; (4) automatic sausage grinder, and (5) cocktail mixer. We used to moan in anguish when we got the felt slippers and the hand painted neckties for Christmas presents, but as we think of what the machine age is going to bring us we wonder if we weren't happier in those golden days gone by.

WE WEREN'T GOING to take sides in the controversy between Gov. Richard B. Russell Jr. of Georgia and Gov. Moore of New Jersey over the refusal of Gov. Moore to give up I'm a Fugitive from a Georgia Chain Gang Burns. But yesterday Gov. Russell said the action of Gov. Moore was a slander on Georgia and contrary to custom and comity between the states which make up this glorious union. We sat calmly on the fence until we read that the Georgia governor said "the statements and writings of Burns have been proven false." We're saying nothing against the chain gang institution down in Georgia, but if the governor down there is going to say "proven" instead of "proved" we are glad that Burns is going to stay in New Jersey. Our notion is that if the governor is going to do a thing like that to the English language what chance has a poor convict in the chain gang?

LAST CALL!

for Christmas Linebooks

We hate to say it as shouldn't, but we know. Many, many letters have told us that people who got 'em for Christmas presents were more pleased with their gay, happy little Linebook than with anything else that old man Claus brought 'em. And while we are much more modest than the shrinking violet we just have to admit that this year's Linebook has been pronounced the very best of the series. So send one, a dozen, a whole flock out into the world for Christmas presents.

INABILITY TO SLEEP.

INSOMNIA is not a disease; it is a habit. It is unnatural, acquired, and self-inflicted. It results from faulty training.

It is not a disease. Nor is it a subject for old fashioned medicinal treatment.

We come into the world with a well developed sleeping capacity and with a knowledge of the art of sleeping. For months we have slept continuously. The experiences of being born are somewhat startling and, in consequence, we awaken suddenly and explosively, but then we go back to sleep again. As time passes and experiences accumulate we learn how to keep awake.

Before we have passed from infancy into childhood we are able to stay awake half the time. Throughout childhood we, year by year, increase our ability to stay awake until finally we are able to stay more or less alert minded for as much as twelve hours on a stretch, and the total of the waking hours is twice that of the sleeping hours. But that the sleeping state is the more natural any schoolboy can tell you because of what he has noticed happens when he tries to study.

The progress noted refers to that of bright children. Idiots and imbeciles learn to stay awake much more slowly and some never become able to match their waking hours against those of sleeping. On the other hand, children who are being pushed educationally by holding the spotlight and by too much association may get so far ahead of schedule as to be rated as poor sleepers.

Progress from the one phase to the other is dependent on training in alertness, tenseness, concentration, and capacity for anticipation. The reverse of these is relaxation. Whenever a child or an adult is beginning to develop into what is, according to the prevailing standards, a poor sleeper the remedy for him is to backtrack—to slip down to the next preceding level. To put it less enigmatically, the thing to do is to learn physical, mental, and emotional relaxation. Nor is this training or learning as difficult as it appears, since it is merely going back a little way and following the habits of that earlier period.

All the poor sleeper needs to do is to get his worries, jealousies, hates, and bitter memories out of his mind. If he cannot throw them out he may be able to dig in them and find some amusing angles to be laughed at—an excellent antidote for emotional disturbance. Or he may be able to cultivate indifference or fatalism—another excellent antidote.

It all comes back to this: The cure of poor sleeping and its next stage, insomnia, is to develop an ability to relax. When once in bed with lights out, if there are no noises, sleep inevitably follows relaxation.

There are two stories that are often added to the house called insomnia. One is insomniphobia. That is an abnormal fear of insomnia, a worry lest one will not sleep. If a person cannot sleep and works himself up into a nervous state or a frenzy about it we speak of him as an insomniac—the second story sometimes added to the insomnia house. Both are emotional reactions. They are closely related to the emotional states that cause insomnia. They are curable by the same means—by training in relaxation and emotional control.

THUMB SUCKING.

Trained Nurse writes: Confronted by the unusual spectacle of the two 18 year old sons of a new neighbor who, at that age, were still thumb sucking, some young parents thought it high time that their year and a half old daughter should be broken of the habit. Mittens, to be worn daytime, and a lengthened, closed sleeve to the sleeping garments proved to be a makeshift. Mittens were soon soiled and insanitary, besides injuring the child's development in the use of its hands. Finally a druggist advised the following: Powdered bitter aloes mixed with water to make a very thin paste. Paint the child's fingers well with this preparation. Be sure it is thoroughly dry before releasing the hand. Repeat as necessary, always washing the hands thoroughly before eating time, and applying liquid paste immediately after the meal. Prepare but a small amount of the mixture at a time and put out of reach when not in use. When applying no reference should be made as to whether this is a punishment, an amusement, or a joke, but as much of a matter of course as giving a drink of water. Too much fussing and coaxing is done, as well as scolding in such matters, whether giving a dose of castor oil or bandaging a finger. This simple remedy was thoroughly tried with the most satisfactory results and to my knowledge has been equally effective with other children, one 6 years old. Persistence, gentleness, and some pleasant thing to follow, but without remark, will win the day.

DIES INTESTATE.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. A man, the husband and father of a wife and two children, has died, leaving no will to properly dispose of real estate and securities which have provided a fairly comfortable income for the family. With the exception of a stepbrother's children, there are no known relatives to the deceased. 2. What legal procedure, if any, is necessary for transfer of the estate to the wife and children? 3. Can there possibly be any grounds on which the stephrother's family or any more distant relatives could base a claim to any portion of the estate? C. J. S.

1. We assume that you mean he leaves a wife and two children.
2. Probate proceedings would be necessary in order to produce a merchantable title to the real estate.
3. No.

ARTICLES IN PAWN.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Last April I was out of work and my wife put her fur coat in pawn. About four months later I went to pay the interest and [1] they wanted a dollar a month besides interest on the coat. I didn't have that much money, and said I would be back later. Three months ago I went to get the coat. 2. They told me they sold the coat because it was only a thirty day ticket. 3. I was under the impression that they could not sell or dispose of articles for one year. 4. I would like to know if there is anything I can do to make them produce the coat. C. L.

1. The legal maximum is 3 per cent per month. If you tendered this amount then they would not be entitled to sell for failure to pay interest.
2. See 1.
3. The Illinois statute imposes a twelve month limit but provides that a shorter period can be stipulated for.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 23, 1916.

BERLIN.—The announcement of President Wilson's peace endeavor was accorded a tremendous welcome in Berlin. The impression of official and newspaper circles appeared under large display headlines as the all important news of the Christmas season, reviving the interest in the German peace overtures, which had sunk to a low point under the influence of the preliminary declarations of statesmen of the entente powers.

LONDON.—The reply of the entente powers to President Wilson's note suggesting an interchange of peace terms probably will not be forthcoming in less than a fortnight, but the reply to the central powers will be issued very soon. Both notes of reply, according to best information, will follow closely the lines of the official speeches of David Lloyd George, British prime minister; Aristide Briand, French premier; Baron Sonnino, Italian foreign minister, and M. Pokrovsky, Russian foreign minister. All of these speeches flouted Germany's peace proposals. Moreover, today King George in parliament announced the policy to be to prosecute the war vigorously.

BERLIN.—Along the Drena and on the Stokhod the Russian artillery fire continued for a long time. An advance of two hostile companies southeast of Riga was repulsed. Northwest of Zalostse in Galicia German advance troops entered both the most advanced positions of the Russians and the village of Zvyzyn and returned after destroying four mine throwers.

PARIS.—During the course of the day rather spirited artillery fighting took place in the region of Hardaumont work, Louvemont, and the Chambrettes farm [Verdun region]. Several surprise attacks to the east of St. Mihiel, in the Gerechants wood at Chapelette, north of Celles [Vosges] and in the Fave valley enabled us to destroy small enemy outposts and to bring back some prisoners. On the southern portion of the Belgian front the bomb and artillery struggle has been violent. Our field and trench batteries silenced the enemy artillery.

AMSTERDAM.—According to reports from German sources the German submarine U-46 has been sunk in the Bay of Biscay by entente naval forces.

LONDON.—The Egyptian town of El Arish was occupied by our troops after being for two years in the hands of the enemy. From the fact that the enemy had constructed a strong entrenched position covering El Arish and that large amount of work recently had been carried out there, it appeared that the enemy had every intention of offering a stubborn resistance. They abandoned their position and retreated to the east and southeast. It is a serious loss to the Turks from a moral and from a military point of view.

BOSTON, Mass.—According to reports in the financial district one of the biggest cleanups the American stock market ever has known brought millions to Thomas W. Lawson and his associates in a coup made possible by advance knowledge of the German peace proposals and President Wilson's offer. Stock exchanges are likely to be asked to make an investigation of the operations of brokers who acted for the secret pool.

BEER IN INTERSTATE COMMERCE.

Keokuk, Ia., Dec. 19.—In regard to the points which you bring out covering the possible shipment of intoxicating (I should have said beer) liquor into dry territory, I am sure that you are not fully conversant with the facts in the case as practiced before prohibition, or you would, I am sure, have advocated even more stringent regulations of the interstate shipments of beer.

Some time in either 1909 or 1910 I wrote to you along these same lines, advocating at that time that it would be more sensible for a town in Illinois to vote wet and have a saloon or two than to have the liquor shipped in by the express carload daily. You commented on this letter editorially at the time and as I remember suggested rather sarcastically that, as long as we were making the shipments into Illinois anyway, what difference did it make to us. I was in the brewery business in Keokuk at that time and saw that the unrestricted sale would serve only to augment the conditions which finally brought about the passage of the 18th amendment.

Let me give you a few facts as I knew them from being in this business before Iowa went dry. In the early '80s the Iowa legislature passed a statutory prohibition law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. The only service this law rendered to the citizens of the state was to close and padlock all of the breweries then operating in the state, bootleggers working then as now. They received their supply from outside of the state and the breweries in Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, and other states profited. Finally the legislature, seeing the folly of this law, passed what was known as the muict law, which in effect was that, after complying with certain conditions and paying certain stipulated fines, the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors could be carried on.

Under this law the breweries in Iowa again began to open, and as they grew in numbers the sales of beer shipped into the state began to decrease, the outside breweries began to lose the profitable bootlegging trade of Iowa. Naturally they resented this. After some time, along in 1906 or 1907, the breweries in Iowa were making and selling in Iowa about a half million barrels of beer each year. This was a bit of about $4,000,000 that the breweries of Illinois, Missouri and Wisconsin hated to lose, so what did they do?

Each session of the legislature from then on was hampered by two lobbies endeavoring to repeal the muict law. One of them, that of the Anti-Saloon league, was known and its work was done more or less in the open; at least its methods were known. But the other was a more secret one, more powerful, and with more finances at its command. The origin or head of this one could not be determined for a number of years, but finally it was determined that a number of the larger breweries in Missouri, Illinois and Wisconsin had joined hands with a large soft drink manufacturer and under the cloak of the latter were maintaining this lobby to repeal the muict law. In other words, these breweries were fighting for the illegal beer trade of Iowa. Finally they met with success, but it was short lived, for within two years they were all put out of business.

Now, there is no reason to believe that the ethics of these brewers have advanced to any appreciable extent during national prohibition, nor do they hold any greater respect for the laws of the states other than the one in which they are located now than they did fifteen years ago.

Therefore, the conclusions which I have reached as a possible solution for this entanglement are:

Return to the states the right to manufacture and sell beer according to their own methods and desires.

Prohibit all shipments of beer across all state lines, whether into a dry state or into a wet state.

This latter condition would enable each state to control the manufacture and sale of whatever it wanted to drink. It would confine the sales of any brewery to the boundaries of that state in which it was located. It would prevent powerful brewing interests from dictating their wishes to the people of other states through the purchasing of legislatures. It would curtail the political power of these brewers and permit each state to take care of its own people.

PAUL T. PECHSTEIN.

TAX EXEMPTION FOR FALLOW ACRES.

Charles City, Ia., Dec. 19.—Some few days ago—last week, I believe—you printed an editorial which I think the most constructive of anything I have yet seen for the farmer.

I myself own several thousand acres of Iowa farm land and realize that when land that is fallowed would be exempt from taxation the idea would appeal to many all over the state and might reduce the production at least 25 per cent in acreage. In case the land was farmed by a tenant the benefit could be passed along to him, and if by the owner the same benefit would accrue.

It seems to me that your thoughts along this line should be featured and elaborated upon for the benefit of our farm organizations and for our legislators. If carried through the midwest farming states overproduction would be a thing of the past. A. L. OLDS,

President, Citizens National Bank.

DOCTORS PROTEST FREE TREATMENT OF WAR VETERANS

Warn Practice Is Peril to Medical Profession.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Representatives of the medical profession appeared before the joint congressional committee on veterans' legislation today to protest against the free treatment and hospitalization of veterans with nonservice connected disabilities.

Dr. Edward H. Cary, president of the American Medical association, saw in this practice the opening wedge for government treatment of all federal employés. Should it be continued he foresaw the possibility of a day when "the practice of medicine should become exclusively a governmental function."

Hurts Medical Profession.

"The withdrawal of considerable number of patients who are to pay for medical service from the field of private practice and from among the patrons of local hospitals," he declared, "will tend to break down the morale of the medical profession and of the local institutions. It will result in increasing the cost of medical and hospital service to persons who are not beneficiaries of the government's bounty."

Appearing with Dr. Cary at the hearing was Dr. N. W. Faxon, president elect of the American Hospital association.

Point Out Expense to U. S.

Both pointed out the large expense to which the government will be put for hospitals unless free treatment of the nonservice disabled veteran is curtailed.

Dr. Faxon said the medical profession recognized the propriety of the federal government providing medical care and hospitalization for all veterans with service connected disabilities and for veterans suffering from tuberculosis and neuro-psychiatric and certain other conditions, whether service connected or not.

Should Pay If Able, He Insists.

He believed that a world war veteran suffering post-war disabilities and without means to obtain medical care had a claim on the federal government. The use of beds in veterans' hospitals not needed by service connected cases might be utilized for these cases, but he thought the door should be shut on veterans with nonservice connected disabilities who are able to pay for treatment.

Of all cases in government hospitals last year, he continued, 54 per cent were nonservice connected cases and of the "general medical cases," 82 per cent were nonservice connected.

Dr. Faxon suggested that as regards nonservice connected cases unable to pay the government utilized the existing civil hospitals instead of erecting new government hospitals.

Senator Arthur Robinson [Rep., Ind.], who has made it a daily practice to assail the National Economy league, the organization leading the fight for a reduction of veterans' compensation payments, today intimated that there was a relationship between that group and the power trust. He also exchanged some brief but sharp remarks with Henry H. Curran, general manager of the league, who was present.

Robinson Assails Bullitt.

Senator Robinson read a memorandum to the effect that William Marshall Bullitt, counsel at the hearing for the league, also was "chief counsel for the Associated Gas and Electric company, one of the most reckless units in the power trust."

"He is the power trust's Republican spokesman in this matter and Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, who also represents the power trust in some of its grabbing efforts, is the trust's Democratic spokesman," Senator Robinson told the committee. "Both of them are members of the National Economy league, so we see where some of the impetus for its activities comes from."

MELLON HOME FROM ENGLAND FOR HOLIDAYS

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Andrew Mellon, United States ambassador to the Court of St. James's, took advantage of a lull in parliamentary procedure in London and arrived home today on the North German Lloyd liner Europa to be with his family in Pittsburgh during the holidays.

Parrying questions, the former secretary of the treasury said he had made no plans for after March 4, when President Elect Roosevelt will appoint a new ambassador. He added that he had "plenty to occupy my mind" and was not worrying about being out of a job.

"Were you pleased that Britain paid her debt installment this month?" he was asked.

He indicated that he was and that there was no reason or no expectation in England that she would do otherwise. Then he said he would appreciate it if he were not quoted directly on this subject.

"You see," he added, with a twinkle in his eyes, "I have to go back there, and I really have no license to discuss these things."

He took the same attitude on a question as to conditions in England, which, according to his intimations, showed more cheerfulness and confidence.

U. S. MONEY FOR AGRICULTURE CUT BY COMMITTEE

State Aid Features Are Hardest Hit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934 for the department of agriculture are set at $110,581,193, compared with $317,883,236 for the present fiscal year ending June 30, 1933.

That was disclosed today when the house appropriations committee reported out the department's annual supply bill.

Whether the savings, due in part to the fact that emergency construction projects don't reappear in the bill will remain will depend, of course, on congressional leaders.

Some of the Savings.

The anatomy of the agricultural bill as revealed today is this:

Total of 1933 appropriations—$317,583,236.

Deductible, since for nonrecurring, emergency road and tr'l building—$132,000,000.

Also deductible, since economy act savings are deducted from the 1934 total, is the $3,734,971 estimated to be saved in 1933 under the economy act. Leaving a 1933 total of regular annual appropriations of $182,148,265.

Subtracting from this the $110,981,193 recommended for 1934 shows a proposed real saving of $71,167,072.

The largest cut of all was made in the subsidies to the states for federal aid highways. The total for road construction appropriated for 1933 was $241,405,000 of which $132,000,000 was in the emergency construction act. The 1934 appropriations for roads are set down as $39,827,400—a saving of $201,577,600 under the total for 1933 and of some 69 millions under 1933 with the emergency appropriation excluded.

Other payments to the states for such activities as agricultural experiment stations and extension services were only slightly cut, from $16,009,916 to $15,706,586.

Regulatory Provisions' Cost.

The regulatory functions of the department were provided for as follows, with the 1933 appropriation and the 1934 cut shown:

Cotton futures act, enforcement, $289,060, cut, $21,060; grain standards, enforcement, $833,370, cut 68,370; warehouse act administration, $313,020, cut $16,800; standard containers and produce agency, enforcement, $43,800, cut $9,680; packers and stock yards act, enforcement, $374,700, cut $24,500; grain futures act, enforcement, $218,838, cut $18,838. The food and drugs administration was cut $126,662 from 1933's $1,716,167, and the appropriation for meat inspection was cut $530,270 from this year's $2,604,360.

CHICAGOAN SLAIN ON STAIRWAY IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The body of a man identified as Seaton McLennan of the Knight Soda Fountain company of Chicago was found just outside the studio of Edna Frances Hall, painter of children's portraits, and her husband, Alvin Worthman, in East 34th street today. The man's head had been blown off and the sawed-off shotgun that had killed him lay on the stairs. McLennan was cousin of James S. Knight of 1000 Sheridan road, Chicago head of the concern.

McLennan, who was estranged from his wife, had been staying in the Worthman apartment while the couple were in their country home.

The police incline to a theory of suicide, as they learned that the shotgun was purchased in New Jersey a week ago by McLennan. It was then a full length gun, 12 gauge, but the barrel had later been sawed in half and the stock loosely replaced. Half of the stock and the shortened barrel was found at the bottom of the staircase, while the other half of the stock lay a few steps below the head of the stairs.

The door opening into the studio was open, although Worthman and his wife were not in the city, and the body lay on the landing outside, its shoeless feet hanging over the stairs and its head almost inside the door. The studio is on the fourth floor.

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 22.—(AP)—A son was born today to Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, famous around the world flyer, and his wife. Wing Commander Kingsford-Smith was married in Melbourne, Australia, on Dec. 10, 1930, to Miss Mary Powell, Irish-Australian girl.

SUIT FILED FOR FORECLOSURE ON CISAR BUNGALOW

The Bankers' Life Insurance company of Des Moines, Ia., yesterday filed suit for foreclosure against the bungalow of Mrs. Lillian Cisar, 438 North Taylor avenue, Oak Park, in whose name a suit recently was taken to the United States Supreme court in an attempt to invalidate the Cook county tax rolls for the years from 1928 to 1930.

The suit, brought by the Real Estate Taxpayers' association, charged that fraudulent omissions of personal property from the tax rolls placed an unfair burden upon real estate, but the court held that fraud in the assessment of one class of property did not affect another class.

The foreclosure suit was brought in the Superior court. The bill alleged that the company held a $5,000 mortgage on the property which was valued at $10,000. The bill stated that Mrs. Cisar and her husband, Edward, who is titleholder in joint tenancy, have failed to pay $4,500 in interest and principal due on the mortgage.

NEW REGIME'S FARM PROGRAM TO BEGIN SOON

Some Bills Expected at This Session.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Hope was expressed today that part of the new national administration's program for farm relief might be in the form of bills before congress at the present session. That view was given by Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas and Speaker John Garner of Texas after a session held in the Democratic conference room of the senate by representatives of President Elect Roosevelt, Democratic members of the house and senate, and agents of the various groups claiming to represent organized farming interests.

Robinson Tells of Plans.

The incoming administration was represented directly by Henry Morganthau and Prof. Irving Myers. The discussion dealt with refinancing of farm mortgages and other rural legislative proposals. After the meeting Mr. Robinson said it was suggested consideration be given to the creation of a debt conciliation commission, the creation of an emergency fund for the benefit of delinquent borrowers, additional capital for new loans, the consolidation of the federal and joint stock land banks, deferment of payment for a limited period as to principal and interest where it appears possible to refinance the loans of borrowers, but all payments to continue without deferment for the present where borrowers are able to find the means of meeting their obligations.

There also was discussion of consolidation into one of all agencies that now make loans to farmers. There were various additional proposals, including that of Speaker Garner that the Reconstruction Finance corporation be empowered to make advances and to provide the funds for refinancing operations.

Garner Predicts Action.

Speaker Garner told newspaper men some form of relief measure, possibly one embodying the domestic allotment plan, would be taken up in the house early in January.

It was reported the house agricultural committee at a special session was polled as to sentiment toward the domestic allotment plan.

Meanwhile, Senator Lynn J. Frazier [Radical Rep., N. D.] urged the senate banking and currency committee to report out his bill providing for a refinancing of farmers' debts at 1½ per cent interest.

Man and Girl Companion Are Found Slain in Auto

Woodsfield, O., Dec. 22.—(AP)—A young man and his girl companion were found shot to death in an automobile two miles from Lewisville, near here tonight. The automobile had been driven from a country road into a clump of bushes.

GERMAN DISHES, SONGS TO RULE IN MANY HOMES

But Radio Replaces Old Street Bands.

O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum, wie grün sind deine Blätter! Du grünst nicht nur zur Sommerzeit, Nein, auch im Winter wenn es schneit—

BY BETTY BROWNING.

How many northsiders can remember when that tune used to usher in the Yuletide? Every Christmas eve a little German band would wander up and down those narrow, dark streets—Goethe, Schiller, Germania place—halting under flickering gas street lamps to trumpet forth ancient carols into the crystal night.

Children tucked in bed, dreaming of Santa Claus and the morrow, would creep to the window, shivering half with cold, half with the expectation of seeing the old saint himself arriving, duly heralded with fanfare of horn and trumpet.

That was long ago—when the old water tower still was the loftiest landmark north of the Rush street bridge, when the dashing hansom cabs outstripped any automobile on Lake Shore drive, when the orderly rows of rococo houses, reminiscent of the fatherland, which bordered the narrow streets, still housed German families to whom the music of the itinerant band was an established part of their Christmas eve celebration.

Where Christmas Was in Air.

Christmas in those Germanic homes began with the twilight; Kriss Kingle was invoked in Santa Claus' stead, and glowing candles were placed in windows to speed him on his way. Young and old gathered around the glittering tree, singing the Christmas lieder, unwrapping their gifts, drinking the Christmas punch, feasting finally on goose and a host of Christmas cakes.

Skyscraper apartments long ago invaded the substantial rows of houses, and motors and Christmas broadcasts have banished the little band from the street. But Christmas celebrations, unchanged to the smallest detail, will be held again tomorrow evening in thousands of German-American households.

Again the goose will prevail over the turkey; springerle, lebkuchen, pfeffernüsse, and stollen again will eclipse the plum pudding. And the Christbaum, father of all Christmas trees, will radiate a myriad of lights above the festive board.

Shop Windows Reflect.

The merest glimpse into the shop windows along North and Belmont avenues gives assurance that in a changing world the German Christmas remains unchanged. In the traditional position of honor lebkuchen are displayed, true Nürnberger lebkuchen, in boxes adorned with gay pictures of Dürer and his quaint town. Nearby are round Milwaukee pfeffernüsse, spicy holes out of the doughnut, and pale, flat springerle, hard anise cakes, adorned with the traditional flower or animal figures.

There to share the limelight are giant honey cakes with "Fröliche Weihnachten" running between almonds and lemon peel; more honey cakes, shaped like animals, birds, stars, and Santa Claus himself; long, flat stollen, dusted with sugar and stuffed with citron, nuts, and raisins which peep through the powder; thin, delicate speculatius; butzlebrod, resembling an overstuffed fruit cake.

Recipes for some of these dainties:

MANDELSTOLLEN [ALMOND STOLLEN].

7 pounds flour
¾ pound yeast
1¼ quarts milk
1½ pounds sugar
2½ pounds butter
1 pound powdered sugar
1 pound almonds
½ pound bitter almonds
½ pound citron peel
2 eggs
1 lemon
1 tablespoon salt

Put all ingredients but milk and yeast in warm room the day before preparing. Clean almonds, grate them. Mix 2 pounds of flour, half of milk and yeast into dough, set to rise. When risen mix rest of ingredients into dough until dough no longer sticks to dish. Let rise one hour. Then cut dough into five or six flat pieces, let rise again, then bake one hour. Take half a pound of butter and cover the cakes while still warm, then dust with the sugar.

For speculatius—Mix one pound fine flour, one pound sugar, half a pound of butter, 3 eggs, half a teaspoonful of cinnamon and citron peel into a thick dough, set for several hours, preferably overnight, add small amount ammonia bicarbonate, then cut into parts, roll out thin and cut. Bake three or four minutes. Speculatius are cut into all sorts of figures by rolling the dough over a board carved out into forms in Germany. Cookie molds may be substituted. They are usually made a few days before Christmas as the flavor is said to improve with age.

SIMPLE GIFTS OF FOODS HAVE NOT LOST CHARM

Basket of Fruit or Loaf of Bread May Do.

BY IRENE STYSKAL.

Once again the old, old story.

A silver star in a velvet sky. . . . Rhythmic, luminous ripples on the rich robes of three priests of the Magi journeying from the east. . . . In the sand of the road to the little village of Bethlehem, the pad of their camels' feet.

But before they came with their princely tribute of gold, frankincense, and myrrh—Kaspar, Balthazer, Melchoir—they, the sonorous sound of whose names matched a great dignity, there must have been at that first Christmas time, many simple and kindly folk who brought to the innkeeper's stable little, needful gifts for Mary and her small Son.

Shepherds Hear Stars Sing.

The shepherds who heard the stars sing came, perhaps, with a soft blanket woven from the fleece of their lambs, a bowl of curd, a flagon of wine. And the innkeeper's buxom wife, wide eyed babies clinging to her skirts, bustled in and out many times, no doubt, first with a newly baked loaf for Joseph's supper, then with a pitcher of milk, a pot of honey, or a cup of broth, and always much sage advice.

It is told that the imposing gifts of the wise men filled Mary and Joseph with wonder. But surely a glow as warm as candlelight suffused the dark stalls and rafters when the shepherds came, and the neighborly folk of the village.

Simple Christmas offerings have not lost their charm. A basket of fruit, a loaf of bread—in them is the element of harmony with the spirit of the day that makes for the perfect gift.

Familiar Christmas Carols.

Domestic ingenuity and talents long latent are being invoked this year in many households. From our kitchens drift aromas that are all but lyric and potent with promise like of old, familiar Christmas carols.

Almost limitless is the list of suggestions for Christmas gifts to be offered the cook who excels in pastry, cake, and candy making. It includes homemade bread, fruit cake, plum pudding, mincemeat pie, candy, stuffed figs and dates, glazed fruits, macaroons, springerle, rolled wafers, darkly rich bermits, tarts and cinnamon rolls, and that delectable array of German cakes and cookies which contribute a note of quaint piquancy to the Yuletime festivities.

A roll of bright tissue, a bolt or two of tinseled ribbon, a few sprigs of holly—and she who took advantage of the harvest time can prepare gifts to rival the costliest trinkets to be purchased in the shops. Her friends will delight in the packets that hold a glass of fruit jelly, jam, preserves, or marmalade, jars and bottles of pickled nuts, chili sauce, chowchow, catchup, corn or cucumber relishes, pickles, canned fruits, and vegetable combinations.

Basket of Tropical Fruits.

But one need not be adept in the domestic arts to prepare pleasing Christmas presents of foodstuffs. Sweet scented winds, golden sunshine, all the color and glamor of South Sea islands can be gathered into a basket of tropical fruits.

Into a hamper can be packed exotic odors and flavors from the world's far corners—a packet of tea from China, lucious black dates from Egypt, small crocks of honey, and olives that grew on the lovely hillsides of Greece, a round and red Edam cheese from Holland, jars of pink shrimps and silvery sardines reminiscent of the blue bay of Lisbon and the little fishing smacks whose sails are like Joseph's coat of many colors. East Indian spices, citron from Sicily, sweet herbs from the holy land.

Fruit for Christmas Table Plentiful and at Low Prices

BY EVERETT SWINGLE.

In two days this week Chicagoans purchased more than seven million oranges. Other fruit and vegetable purchases in comparable quantities have been moving in and out of the food marts of the city and it is certain Christmas tables will hold a heavy load of a variety of foods, some of which have never been so low in price.

Citrous fruit with its variety of colors and tastes has become an integral part of Chicago's Christmas shopping. The bright yellow and orange tints of the satsuma, grapefruit, lemon and orange this year have extra sales pointers in the matter of prices, which for oranges at least are about 35 per cent lower than one year ago.

3 Dozen for 65 Cents.

One manager for a chain of fruit stores explained that the average size orange, 216 to a box, is selling for three dozen for 65 cents for the Florida fruit, while a similar size of the California oranges is priced at 18 to 25 cents a dozen.

In two days the markets received nearly 100 carloads of several hundred boxes of oranges each. The Florida boxes of fruit are consumed to some extent in the form of juice, while the California, seedless, are used sliced and in salads.

Then there is the "kid glove" tangerine, whose skin peels off neatly as one would take off a glove. The price is about 18 cents a dozen.

Grapefruit from South.

Grapefruit is coming at present from three southern states. The average size, 80 to a box, is selling for 48 cents a dozen retail, or one may buy single grapefruit, whether of Florida, Texas or Arizona origin, at five cents.

There is no shortage of lemons. Due to their association at the table with seafood, the demand has increased, although the price has risen only slightly, according to wholesale and retail salesmen.

Pears at Low Price.

Then there are fruits such as apples, grapes and pears. These, too, share an enhanced popularity during the holiday season and rate a place on the table with the customary turkey and its dressing, a wide variety of vegetables and aftermaths of cookies, cakes and nutmeats.

The Bartre Bosc pear has enjoyed a longer season this year than formerly and the prices are a full 40 per cent below those of 1931. The Jonathan and Delicious varieties of apples are being purchased for the week-end because of their high color or so-called "blush." An increased supply of Cuban pineapples has shown up in stores where they are being sold for about 15 cents each.

Cranberries at 12 to 15 cents.

To top off this type of Christmas shopping, one can find a goodly array of vegetables and additional fruits. The cranberry is priced about the some as last year, or about 12 to 15 cents a pound.

Celery, sweet potatoes, onions, potatoes, popcorn and other foods that fit into the popular conception of holiday menus are not only plentiful and low in price but of good quality.

WHAT'S HOLIDAY FEAST WITHOUT CRANBERRIES?

This Tells How to Make Sauce Quickly.

BY PHYLLIS HAMMOND.

Cranberry sauce has long been regarded as a vital part of the holiday dinner. But sometimes, in the rush of preparing the rest of the meal, this delicacy is neglected. Therefore, if your morning hours are busy, try this quick sauce. Boil two cups of water and two cups sugar for five minutes. Stir in one quart of cranberries. Boil for five minutes more, remove from fire and cool.

For Cranberry Salad.

If you prefer to try something else, there is jellied cranberry salad, a recipe for which follows:

Cook two cups of chopped cranberries with ½ cup of sugar and one cup of water. Add this to lemon gelatine, which has been dissolved in boiling water. Add one cup of chopped celery and about a half cup of nut meats after the mixture has cooled. Pour into molds and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

By adding pineapple juice, shredded pineapple, and orange, omitting the celery and nuts, a delicious cranberry fruit salad may be made. A vegetable salad may be made with these berries by adding to the gelatin cooked peas, grated carrot, and diced celery.

A Mock Cherry Pie.

A mock cherry pie may be made from this fruit, if you prefer your berries at the end of the meal and not with it. Chop three cups of cranberries and add one and one-fourth cups of sugar, three-fourths cup of water, one cup of seeded raisins, two tablespoons of flour, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon of vanilla or almond extract and fill lower crust of pie dough. Cover with upper crust and perforate here and there with a fork. Bake in a moderate oven from thirty to forty-five minutes. To make cranberry tarts, fill pastry shells with sauce or jelly and top with meringue or whipped cream.

In the purchase of your berries take care to buy none that appear to be frost bitten. If your object is cranberry sauce a bit of economizing may be done by purchasing dried berries, as their taste in sauce varies little from fresh berries. Cranberries may be kept for some time in a cool ventilated place, but if you plan to buy many quarts for later jelly making, be careful that they are of a medium size. Medium sized berries are generally more solid and keep better than the larger ones.

Household Hints

The slot edge on an apple-corer is useful for scraping vegetables.

Milk is necessary to keep children's body tissues and bones from being harmed. A child should have at least three cups every day.

For cheap fruit desserts use apples.

FRUIT CAKE CAN BE MADE USABLE WITHIN FEW DAYS

Recipes That Don't Require Time.

Fruit cake for the holidays is a product often made by far sighted housewives weeks and months in advance to enable the cake to ripen properly before eating. Yet there are recipes which can be used within two or three days of the holiday meal, recipes that insure the ripening and can be prepared at low cost.

For those who haven't made their fruit cake in advance, a recipe is suggested by Kathryn B. Niles, home economist for the University of Minnesota. The recipe makes about five pounds of cake and ripens in two or three days.

Ingredients are one cup shortening, two cups brown sugar, one cup of molasses or sorghum, one cup of strong, fresh coffee, four well beaten eggs, four cups flour, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one teaspoon soda, two teaspoons cinnamon, one teaspoon other mixed spices, one pound raisins and one pound currents or two pounds of mixed fruit.

To put these together, cream the shortening, and then add the sugar gradually. From the measured flour take enough to flour the fruits. Sift the dry ingredients with the remaining flour. Add eggs to creamed mixture and beat again thoroughly. Add the dry and liquid ingredients alternately to the egg mixture. Beat thoroughly with each addition of flour. Stir in the floured fruits and place the batter in tins lined with two layers of waxed or brown paper. The paper may be greased on the bottom or sides. Bake in a slow oven, about 325 degrees Fahrenheit, for about one and one-half hours.

The tins may be filled more than for ordinary cake as the fruit mixture does not rise as much during the baking. Cool cakes after baking, remove the paper from the sides, and then when cool rewrap in the same paper and place in a stone crock and cover with brown paper. Arrange the cakes so that there is sugar around and between them and keep the crock covered to prevent drying out of the sugar and the cake.

BAKED CABBAGE WITH TOMATOES AND CHEESE WINS COLLEGE HONOR

Three foods low in price yet high in food value are suggested as a pleasing combination dish that adds variety and wholesomeness to the diet. The recipe is suggested by the New York state college of home economics. By name the dish is known as baked cabbage and tomatoes with cheese.

Three cups of boiled cabbage are combined with one and one-half cups of well seasoned stewed tomatoes, one cup of bread crumbs, one cup of ground cheese, one tablespoon of butter and salt and pepper to taste.

Butter a baking dish, put in a layer of tomato and then one of cabbage, sprinkle with cheese and then with bread crumbs and continue the layers until all has been used, but make the last layer with bread crumbs. Dot the top with bits of butter and bake in a slow oven for about thirty minutes.

Smoked Hams Selling at Attractive Prices

In its regular weekly report issued for the guidance of consumers the committee on marketing information of the Meat Council of Chicago states:

"All cuts of pork are recommended as economical meat buys over the holiday week-end. Smoked hams in particular are selling at unusually low prices in Chicago retail meat stores."

Honey Baked Apples Are Delicious, You'll Find

Honey baked apples are a piece of cookery to recommend, according to those who have tried them. First bake the apples in a little water until tender and then remove from the oven and drizzle a thin stream of warm honey over them.

Beekeepers in Indiana Fail to Meet Demand

Indiana beekeepers numbering 50,000 and operating more than 200,000 colonies or hives are unable to maintain the supply demanded by consumers within the state, according to a report of the Indiana beekeepers association. Although five to six million pounds of honey are produced in the state each year, an additional four to five million pounds are shipped in from other states.

DONALD RYERSON WILL DISPOSES OF $700,000 ESTATE

Two Chicago Charities to Receive $30,000.

Two Chicago charities will receive a total of $30,000 from the estate of Donald M. Ryerson, chairman of the board of Joseph T. Ryerson & Son, steel merchants, who committed suicide last May at his Lake Forest estate. His will, disposing of an estate valued in the inventory at $700,000, was approved for probate yesterday by Acting Probate Judge Theodore Forby at Waukegan.

The charitable organizations, the Home for Destitute Crippled Children, which will receive $20,000, and the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, given $10,000, were to share in the estate, under a clause in the will, if the inventory showed a total of more than $500,000.

Half Goes to Widow.

Mr. Ryerson's widow, Mrs. Isabelle McGenniss Ryerson, will receive one-half of the estate after the charitable bequests have been paid. The remainder will be placed in trust for the three children, Isabelle, Joan, and Anthony Mitchell Ryerson. The Northern Trust company was appointed co-executor and trustee with Edward L. Ryerson Jr.

The inventory, filed by the law firm of Butler, Pope, Ballard & Elting, shows the present cash on hand in the estate to be $12,000; bonds are valued at $327,000; real estate, $10,000; and stocks and club memberships, $351,000. The list of stocks shows holdings in sixty-three corporations. These include:

27,511 shares of Joseph T. Ryerson & Son, Inc.
4,332 shares Chicago Investors corporation.
2,000 shares Commonwealth and Southern corporation.
1,215 shares Interlake Iron corporation.
1,000 shares Kroger Grocery and Baking company.

Other smaller blocks of stocks and memberships in seven country clubs were also listed.

Original Will Destroyed.

At the time the will was filed for probate it was revealed that Mr. Ryerson had destroyed the original document shortly before he ended his life. In a letter to a friend, William E. Clow Jr., he said: "I destroyed my will on account of certain gifts that were unfair in these times."

Judge Forby, in admitting a copy of the will to probate, said he was convinced that Mr. Ryerson was not in a clear frame of mind when he destroyed the original.

ROBERT K. ROW DIES SUDDENLY IN EVANSTON HOME

Robert Keable Row, head of Row, Peterson & Co., text book publishers, died suddenly of heart disease last night while wrapping Christmas packages at his home, 2246 Orrington avenue, Evanston. Mr. Row was 73 years old and was a native of Ontario. From 1903 to 1906, when he founded the publishing firm, he was superintendent of schools in Berwyn. He was the author of several text books on English. Surviving Mr. Row are his wife and two daughters.

WOUNDED IN GUN ACCIDENT.

Stephen Karlik, 25 years old, 9236 Calumet avenue, was shot and seriously wounded last night when a pistol in the hands of Fred Wells, 1113 West Garfield boulevard, was accidentally discharged in a garage behind the home of Stephen Malinowski, 9504 South Park avenue. Wells fled.

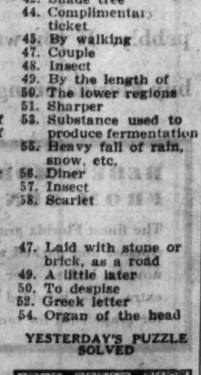
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



HAROLD TEEN—OVER THE TOP

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—A radio broadcast from a rescue mission in Chinatown two years ago had one totally unexpected result—it broke up a home. The story came out in Supreme court in Brooklyn today.

John T. Mulholland is seeking an annulment of his marriage to Mrs. Mary Mansfield Tillman Mulholland and testified that he married her in 1917 with the understanding that she was a widow.

One afternoon in January, 1930, the Mulholland family was sitting around the radio listening to a broadcast from the mission and they heard the announcer say that one Spider Tillman would tell the story of his fall from grace and his eventual rescue by the mission.

Spider's graphic story of his sins included the abandonment of his wife. He left her 20 years ago, he said, in 1912.

Mulholland, sitting beside the radio, noticed a sudden tenseness in the living room of his home, and he said his wife became pale and trembled as Tillman was speaking. Their two children, Mildred, who was then 12, and John, who was 7, did not notice anything, but Mulholland became suspicious and remembered that his wife had told him her first husband's name was Tillman.

MEXICANS SNEER AT THE $30,000 U. S. GIFT FOR KILLINGS

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 22.—(AP)—El Universal Grafico today editorially attacked the bill before the United States congress which would provide $30,000 for the families of two Mexican students killed in June, 1931, at Ardmore, Okla.

The students, relatives of former President Pascual Ortiz Rubio, were Emilio Ortiz Rubio and Manuel Gomez. They were shot by deputy sheriffs while they were returning to Mexico from school in the United States.

The newspaper editorial said the sum proposed was "contemptible and negligible." It asserted that congressional discussion of the bill had revealed that Americans placed more value on the lives of their nationals than on the lives of Latin Americans. If the students had come from humble families, the editorial continued, the killers probably would have been thanked for the death of two more "greasers."

G. H. EMANUEL, 44, IS DEAD AFTER 3 MONTHS' ILLNESS

George Hawley Emanuel, public relations counsel and former news paperman, died yesterday in the Billings Memorial hospital after three months' illness. He was 44 years old. Mr. Emanuel had been employed by THE TRIBUNE, several other Chicago newspapers and the Associated Press and later held positions in the publicity department of Armour & Co. and Rotary International. He opened an office as a publicity agent four years ago. His widow, Mrs. Irene Garrity Emanuel, 5740 Kenwood avenue, and three children, George Jr., John B., and Mary Irene Emanuel, survive. Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow in the Church of the Redeemer 56th street and Blackstone avenue.

Body of Col. J. F. J. Herbert Due in Chicago Today

The body of Col. J. F. J. Herbert, former prohibition administrator in Chicago, who died on Dec. 4 in the Hawaiian Islands, will arrive at 9:20 o'clock this morning at the North Western station. The body is being taken to Worcester, Mass., for burial by his widow, Rose. A military escort, headed by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker of Sixth corps area, will see the body placed aboard a Michigan Central train, which will depart for Massachusetts at 11:30 a. m. Col. Herbert was transferred from Chicago to Hawaii last February.

D.E.McIntire Falls or Leaps from Hotel in New York

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Donald E. McIntire, 42, a former employé of the Utilities Power and Light corporation in Chicago, was killed tonight. He either jumped or fell from the twenty-first story of the Hotel St. Moritz to the roof of a two story annex.

N. Y. ALDERMEN OVERRIDE VETO OF $585,000 CUT

McKee Backed by Only One Member.

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The board of aldermen, by a vote of 38 to 1, voted today to override Mayor Joseph V. McKee's veto of reductions of $585,000 the board recently made in the 1933 budget. The vote, in which Ald. Joseph Clark Baldwin [3d], only Republican member, supported the mayor, followed an hour and a half of bitter debate in which Mr. Baldwin alleged Tammany was seeking to use the budget and the city's credit position to play politics.

Aldermanic President Denis J. Mahon, after getting an opinion from Corporation Counsel Arthur J. Hilly that the board need not wait the usual ten days to override the mayor's veto, which was submitted on Tuesday, moved that the mayor's action be set aside.

Urges Tax Realignment.

Earlier today Mr. McKee urged the department of taxes and assessments to make a complete reëxamination of its 1933 realty assessments "in an earnest determination to make substantial reductions" so that the city will be able "to pass on the benefits to our taxpayers who are sorely in need of them."

Mr. McKee, whose letter was addressed to James J. Sexton, president of the department, pointed out that the present assessments were greatly out of line with sale values and urged that the results of the new survey be made ready by the time the 1933 budget has been readjusted through further cuts of approximately $40,000,000.

Serve Notice on O'Brien.

The city affairs committee served notice on Mayor Elect John P. O'Brien today that it is going to hold him responsible for cleaning up the administration of New York city and that he must "either get rid of the crooks who infest the administration of this city or else himself be charged with gross negligence in office."

"Jimmy Walker was entertaining and got by," said the statement issued by John Haynes Holmes, chairman of the committee. "But O'Brien is not Walker and those days are gone forever."

The statement also called for public support for the city affairs committee's attempt to force the removal of Commissioner Joseph P. McKay of the bureau of weights and measures. It filed removal charges with Acting Mayor McKee late yesterday.

Announces First Step.

Today's statement follows:

"The demand for the removal of Commissioner McKay is the first step in a clean-up campaign which can be sustained only by large and determined public support. It is the people who are ultimately responsible for the continuance in office of incompetent and corrupt officials, and the people therefore who must act.

'We shall give ample opportunity to the new mayor, Mr. O'Brien, to prove his worth. He must either get rid of the crooks who infest the administration of this city or else himself be charged with gross negligence in office. In the old days of prosperity Jimmy Walker was entertaining and got by. But O'Brien is not Walker and those days are gone forever. The new mayor must either act or get out."

HENRY L. WILSON, FORMER ENVOY TO MEXICO, DIES

Passes Away in Home at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Henry Lane Wilson, former United States ambassador to Mexico, died at his home here late today. He was 76 years old. The immediate cause of death was pneumonia.

Mr. Wilson was sent to Mexico City in 1909 by President Taft. He had been American minister to Chile from 1897 to 1905, having been appointed by President McKinley. He was transferred from the South American post to become minister to Belgium.

In 1913 he was recalled to Washington and while there he resigned from the diplomatic service. The former statesman returned to Indianapolis, spending several years in writing and lecturing. He campaigned for Charles Evans Hughes in 1916.

Mr. Wilson was graduated from Wabash college, at Crawfordsville, in 1879. He entered the study of law in Indianapolis, but a few years later went to Lafayette, Ind., to become owner and editor of the Lafayette Daily Journal.

After three years in newspaper work Mr. Wilson left Lafayette, which had been founded by his grandfather, and went to Spokane, Wash.

Describe Ten Recent Novels Set in England

Mackail Continues Story of Ian and Felicity.

ENGLAND, either rural or metropolitan, is the setting for ten recent novels of English people and manners. Denis Mackail, author of "Greenery Street," takes the reader back to Ian and Felicity who, at the opening of "Peninsula Place" [Doubleday Doran], have been married ten years. They have two children now and have moved from their first home in Greenery street to a nicer and larger home in Peninsula place. Felicity has grown even more charming than she was when she was first married. She is still a little uncertain about things in general though her happiness with Ian runs along in a smooth course.

DENIS MACKAIL.

The record of one week in their lives when they learn that ten years after all have not made them so intimate, is written with charm and delicacy by Denis Mackail. Nothing much happens and yet a lot when it comes to the mystery of unfolding personalities.

Compton Mackenzie describes reminiscently and gently the people who live in the houses on one little street in Victorian London. "Our Street" [Doubleday Doran] is full of quaint people, each with a story and a drama of his own taking place in the neighborhood. If you like mellow stories, good natured and quiet with the charm and leisureliness of a sensitive and thoughtful writer, "Our Street" will delight you.

For an unusual variety of entertainment—satire, comedy, characterization, swift narrative, intelligent point of view and simple, vivid prose—there is "Ill Wind," by James Hilton [Morrow]. The author has received the plaudits of English and American critics. The scheme and theme of this book is the following of the trail of chance through many utterly disconnected lives and in many countries. The story begins and ends in England.

All the action of "Dinner with James," by Rose Henniker Heaton [Dutton], takes place in one evening, the several hours allotted to dinner with Sir James in his Park Row, London, home. It contains a gay story as well as various and sundry comments on life and manners.

"The Marriage of Simon Harper," by Neil Bell [Putnam], follows close on the heels of his two successful books, "Precious Porcelain" and "Life and Andrew Otway." The present novel is on the same gigantic canvas as "Andrew Otway," and contains about a quarter of a million words. It tells the life story of an English carpenter who rises to dizzy heights of wealth and fame from very modest beginnings. The tragedy is on a grand scale.

"The Cat Who Saw God," by Anna Gordon Keown [Morrow], tells the story of a spinster who is not so old, her malevolent eyed maid, the cat, and the bishop. Original and sparkling, this story teems with imaginative situations and sprightly humor.

Alec Waugh blazes a trail through the years after the war in England. Mingling fact and fancy, he evaluates the people of the post-war era and their various pre-occupations. The world he presents in "Thirteen Such Years" [Farrar & Rinehart] is a confused one, indeed, but Alec Waugh sees things clearly and courageously.

Rebecca West, G. B. Stern, Clemence Dane, Sheila Kaye-Smith, and Louis Golding are all in accord in their praise of "Broken House," by Ambrose South [Smith & Haas]. It is a simple story of a family struggling in the death grip of poverty.

"Aftermath," by Revel Harding [Sears], chronicles the life of Melody, who lives a carefree life in London without faith or thought of the deeper issues of life. When she is called to a farm in southern England the tragedy of her life begins.

Brig. Geoffrey Brooke describes the life of an English fox hunting community. The romance is light and gay, the scenes of the hunts, the hunt breakfasts, and all the other details of the exciting British life of sport are vividly portrayed in an excellent novel, "A-Hunting We Will Go" [Lippincott].

Princeton Men Add New Hit to Many Successes

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The men from Princeton jazzed through an 18th century musical comedy of their own making last night in the Auditorium theater, thus adding another triumph to the Triangle club's list of 44 productions.

"It's the Valet" was written by Princeton men, staged by Princeton men, and acted by Princeton men—even to the nimble if not overgraceful chorus. There were a goodly number of surprisingly "charming ladies" who wore enchanting frocks of the period, a sprinkling of catchy song hits, and more than a scattering of 20th century gags.

The plot, which occasionally bobbed up for air from under a smothering of songs and wise-cracks, had to do with a marquis, a countess, and a valet, and you've guessed it—the valet was the marquis in disguise. A revolution came along and upset things considerably, but every one survived to live happily ever after.

The libretto was written by W. R. Van Liew Jr., who played one of the leading roles. The music and lyrics were written by a number of Princeton men, with the orchestrations by Richard D. MacNamee, '32. The Triangle orchestra was in the pit under the direction of Armistead D. Rust, '34.

The tradition of the Triangle club dates back to 1883, although it was not officially organized until 1893. It is ranked third oldest in the College Musical Comedy league, its predecessors being the Mask and Wig of the University of Pennsylvania, and the Hasty Pudding of Harvard. It was the outgrowth of the Princeton Dramatic association.

It was Booth Tarkington, according to tradition, who upset custom by supplanting the usual classic comedy, such as "She Stoops to Conquer," with his "The Honorable Julius Cæsar." He is also given credit for having changed the organization's name to the Triangle club in 1893.

Sixteen cities are included on the Triangle club's 2,500 mile tour during the Christmas recess.

Society Attends

The local sons of Princeton will congratulate themselves today on having shown the members of the Princeton Triangle club a right merry time during their 15 hour stopover in Chicago yesterday for the presentation of their annual revue, "It's the Valet."

The Chicago Princeton club managed to keep the boys entertained during every minute of the afternoon and early evening, and after the performance the social schedule provided for the visitors reached its climax at the first debutante ball of the season—given at the Blackstone hotel by Mrs. Fortunato Jerace of Chicago and Rome for her debutante daughter, Miss Jean McVoy.

The Triangle show was attended by a fashionable audience that numbered about 1,800, filling most of the boxes and main floor and half of the balcony. The audience was an enthusiastic one and nobody minded the fact that the curtain rose half an hour late, for the boys of the cast had to hurry into their makeup after having been feted at a tea dance and supper at the Harvard-Yale-Princeton club, and most of the young people on the other side of the footlights arrived late from dinner parties given for debutantes and for boys and girls at home from school for the holidays.

For the most part the audience was a youthful one. Among the elders who arrived promptly were Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick, who occupied the same box near the center of the lower tier from which they saw so many opera performances in previous years. Their guests were their son, Gordon McCormick, who has returned from the east for the holidays; Miss Barbara Wendell, Mr. and Mrs. Fowler McCormick and the latter's son, Alexander Stillman.

One of the younger hostesses was Miss Barbara Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Shaffer.

Among other hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Glore, who had with them their subdeb daughter, Miss Frances Glore, and Miss Sally Hallberg; Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Welling, who brought their daughter, Mary Welling, and Miss Jane Swift; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Cremin, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. William O. Goodman, who had a young people's party for their daughter, Miss Marjorie Goodman; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Carton, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Scott, whose son was one of the show's "chorus girls."

As soon as the performance was over the Princetonians donned evening dress and dashed over to Miss McVoy's ball for dancing and a late supper before boarding a train for St. Louis at 5 o'clock this morning. The Crystal room of the Blackstone, traditional setting for debutante balls, was given a holiday atmosphere with decorations of Christmas trees, poinsettia, and holly. Two orchestras were placed at opposite ends of the room on platforms banked by screens of holly.

The debutante, who left the Auditorium early to change from her pink crepe dinner dress into her white satin ball gown, received the 700 guests with her mother and her sister, Mrs. Sidney A. Gorham Jr., before a screen of greens and poinsettia at the entrance to the ballroom. Mrs. Jerace wore a gown and sequins and a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Gorham's gown was of chartreuse green satin.

Good Morning!

Today is the day!

Upon this Friday, Dec. 23, 1932, the Oriental theater does a hocus pocus and changes from a giddy sports model into an enterprising picture house on the order of McVicker's. It will supplant the Madison street place in the interests of the Balabans and the Katzes—their lease on the latter being about to expire and they not caring to renew it—times being as times is.

Their first feature picture under the new policy is certainly an ace!

In this age of rapid production there are so few books—so few movies—that "stay" with you! Like gifts from the gods, then, come novels such as Ernest Hemingway's "A Farewell to Arms" and the photoplay Frank Borzage has made from it.

"A Farewell to Arms" is rich with all the attributes that make for a completely satisfying screen play. Humor, pathos, suspense, romance, tragedy—all are there. And it has the human touch that endears.

Mr. Hemingway's story of the great love of a war nurse and a soldier, conceived and born amid the travails of the world war, surviving the hazards of perilous life and triumphing over death, is as compelling in screen as it was in novel form. It glows like a Remington sunset. And what director and photographer have done in the matters of backgrounds, atmosphere, "business"—is for you to see and not for me to relate. When you find better acting, hire a housetop and tell us about it. To my mind Helen Hayes as Nurse Catherine Barkley, and Gary Cooper as Lieut. Frederic Henry, offer two most important contributions to screen histrionics.

A marvelous human chameleon, Miss Hayes! The rôle she plays, that rôle she lives. She WAS Madelon Claudet. She WAS Leora in "Arrowsmith." And is she not lovely, gallant, whimsical, unrecking, passionate, wholly adoring Catherine Barkley as Hemingway saw her? I think so.

Long, lank Gary Cooper gives a surprising, a deeply touching performance. The part is just suited to his inarticulate style. Adolphe Menjou as Renaldi, the brilliant, light hearted Italian surgeon who loves Frederic as a brother, is perfect. So is Mary Philips as the loyal, aloe-bitter nurse, "Fergy" who tries to, but cannot save Catherine from her destiny. Other rôles are splendidly handled, and the lines—most of them the author's own—are a joy.

The story opens in the medical staff division headquarters on the Italian front, where Lieut. Henry meets Catherine Barkley, an American girl serving in a British hospital unit. It ends in a hospital of Luzanne, Switzerland, whither Catherine has gone to have the baby that is to—well—never mind . . .

Some changes have been rung on the original narrative. If you read the book you will, perhaps, regret that Catherine and Frederic are, on the screen, denied their magic time together in Switzerland. You will notice the introduction (and here is an intensely moving scene!) of a marriage ceremony of sorts, also some diplomatic handling of an Italian retreat. These, no doubt, with an eye to censorship and a possible thumbs down on the film by a former ally.

Those retreat scenes are truly remarkable. Here you behold war as war is, in all its desolation—brought home so much more vividly than official war films can present it, by magnificent lighting and photography.

Re the changes, be assured that additions and deletions have in no way affected the power and beauty of the production as a whole. Mr. Hemingway should be delighted with it.

See you tomorrow!

Olivet Parties.

A week of Christmas celebrations at Olivet institute will close this afternoon with a party for members of the Doll club and cooking classes of the settlement at 1441 Cleveland avenue. The Sunday school classes will present a program this evening.

On Vacation

The feet of the young girls in this picture don't look large just because they are near the camera, they are large, for the girls are boys and however carefully and cleverly boys may make up as girls they cannot disguise masculine feet. The boys were in the cast of "All Gummed Up," a comedy given yesterday at the Chicago Latin School for Boys.

None of the masters had anything to do with the production, the fifth form boys having staged it by themselves for the benefit of the emergency welfare fund. Philip Seipp was the director and also acted the part of Henrietta Tremayne; Harlow Voorhees was stage director; Thomas Geraghty, business manager; Frederick Stein was George Bartlett, a liver specialist in whose consulting room the scene was laid; Johnson Beyer was Minter, Dr. Bartlett's assistant; Francis Broomell was Geoffrey Tremayne, Henrietta's husband; and Howard Renn was Gloria, the doctor's wife.

The Christmas holidays for the boys of the school started yesterday at 1 o'clock, just after the presentation of the play. School will reopen on Wednesday, Jan. 4.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1932: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

THE BILLINGSBROKE CASE.

A baffling case, indeed. The professor readily admitted it. But he had worked on others that at first seemed to defy solution. And then, some slight clew, a false step, or perhaps a trifling inconsistency had started him on a line of investigation that unraveled the mystery.

At 1 a. m. on the morning of Dec. 14, Wilton Lackey had been discovered by his butler, Drake, lying in a pool of blood on the floor of the study in his palatial Long Island house. His throat was cut and a knife of oriental design lay by his side.

John Billingsbroke, art collector and connoisseur, had been his last known visitor. He had left at 11 p. m. and his alibi seemed to be perfect.

Suicide or murder? Even that had not as yet been definitely established.

Learning that on two previous days Billingsbroke, after lounging about his club all afternoon, had gone at 4 o'clock to a little place on the east side, "to inspect some antiques," he said, The professor decided to investigate even such an unpromising lead.

As he stood on the threshold of the dingy, poorly lit shop he suddenly realized that whatever Billingsbroke's reason for coming there, it was NOT to inspect antiques. After the proprietor assured him that the gentlemen had spent quite some time poking about on the two days, and had, in fact, made two small purchases, he was more convinced than ever that Billingsbroke had lied about his reason for coming there. Why? Certainly such actions called for further investigations.

Thus did Fordney get his start on the famous Billingsbroke case.

WHY WAS FORDNEY SUSPICIOUS OF BILLINGSBROKE'S ACTIONS?

[See solution on page 29.]

Men's Temple Clubs.

The Chicago Conference of Men's Temple clubs will hold its fifth annual Chanukah dinner and program on Sunday evening at the Standard club. Alfred Cohen of Cincinnati, O., international president of B'nai Brith, will be a speaker.

Cook League of Women Voters Will Welcome Mrs. Roosevelt

Republicans and Democrats Put Aside Politics to Prepare for Visit of Wife of President Elect.

BY JUDITH CASS.

POLITICAL party affiliations will be forgotten next month when the wife of President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt comes to Chicago to be the guest of the Illinois and Cook County League of Women Voters.

Democrats and Republicans alike will come to the fore to entertain her as much as she can be entertained during her brief visit, and to hear her talk on some phase of public welfare in government at Orchestra hall on Saturday evening, Jan. 21.

Mrs. Roosevelt will fly to Chicago, but just when she will arrive and how long she will be here aren't known yet by the Chicago committee which is headed by Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, a stanch Republican and finance chairman of the league, but she and her co-workers are hoping that the first lady of the land—after March 4—will be able to stay for several days. Mrs. James L. Houghteling of Winnetka probably will be Mrs. Roosevelt's hostess during the time she is here, for Mrs. Houghteling was a Delano and is a cousin of Gov. Roosevelt. Mrs. Houghteling is on the committee, the other members of which are Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, one of society's hardest working Republican women during a campaign, but a broad-minded loser and a loyal citizen after election; Mrs. Quincy Wright, Mrs. Ralph Winston, Mrs. William G. Hibbard, Mrs. Melvin A. Traylor, Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee, Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor, Mrs. Robert J. Dunham, Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. John V. Farwell and Mrs. Alfred D. Kohn.

Dinner Dance for Debutantes.

Those lovely young cousins, Miss Mary Reed and Miss Jean Schweppe, who are probably the most feted of this season's debutantes, are being given a dinner dance tonight by the former's mother, Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed.

The party is to be at the Casino and there will be about 250 guests, all that can be accommodated comfortably at the attractive club in East Delaware place. Only a few of the young married couples have been invited and all the others are of the young set.

It is interesting to note that a magazine published in the east which makes a point each year of grading the debutantes in the various cities in which it has correspondents puts Miss Reed and Miss Schweppe in grade "B" and also Marjorie Goodman, but if any one in Chicago were presumptuous enough to make a similar list he or she undoubtedly would put these three attractive young women not only in grade "A" but probably with Louise Dewey (who is graded "A" in the magazine) as the first four of this season's buds.

We won't give all the names in grades "A," "B," and "C," for we don't agree with the grading in all cases and certainly not with putting the daughters of Mrs. Reed, the Charles S. Schweppes, and Mrs. James M. Hopkins in the second group.

Suzanne Morris to Bow Today.

Miss Suzanne Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Morris of 38 East Elm street, will make her formal bow to society at a luncheon today at the Blackstone hotel. The guests, about 50 in number, will be this year's buds with a few of last season's.

"Gwennie" Bowen's dance tonight

A Job a Day

Every little improvement we give our home right now helps us—and the other fellow, too.

How are the stairs to your basement, or attic or service portions of your house, inside and out? Stairs can be accident menaces unless they are in good shape. Repair any broken boards or loose ends, or build new ones if the old ones are dangerously pitched. Paint will give them a longer life and rubber treads held in place with brass nosings will make them safer. A gateway at the head of the inside stairs will protect the tiny tots. Adequate provision for stair lighting, especially to basement, is a further wise precaution.

BARTER AND SAIL

By HENRY C. ROWLAND

SYNOPSIS.

Capt. Hiram White sails his four-master ship, the Abigail White, in search of a ship filled with pearl oysters, sunk by a French captain before the world war in a lagoon in a South Sea island. Arlette Mordecai, the French captain's granddaughter, has brought him complete instructions for finding the ship. Arlette is accompanied by an English woman of title known as Ladybird. In his crew are Adam Eden, an unemployed engineer, Roberta Attlebank and Peter Cavan, Roberta's fiance died after his bank failed and Peter was his trusted employe. Benny, a cook, hires up for his keep. Henery Shepard, backer of the venture, fills the boat with a cargo of his own choosing, including a lot of used cars and launches and plans to stop at certain ports to trade cargoes. One owner of an unused car sends his French chauffeur, Raoul, along. Ladybird, who is a naval officer's daughter, is made mate. The ship is seized by four stowaways on the high seas. A warning comes in over the radio about four bank robbers being at large and the captain realizes he and his crew are in their hands. After several days the bandits are overpowered and set adrift. The ship reaches Cape Town, where Henery's cargo is traded, through Peter Maules, a banker friend of Roberta's father, at a large profit. Their next destination is Sydney, Australia. Peter finds the robbers' loot hidden on the boat. The captain turns it over to the U. S. consul at Sydney. The cargo is discharged at Sydney and another picked up for delivery to Japan, where another profitable trade is made. The ship now sails to the island where the sunken treasure craft is located. The captain takes the first shift diving for the pearl oysters.

INSTALLMENT XXIX.

LADYBIRD'S GREED.

The captain directed Henery to bring up some planks and build a snug bin on deck just under the inboard swing of the hoisting boom.

"Dump your shell into that bin as fast as it comes aboard and don't let anybody meddle with it."

"Heh," said Henery, "don't mistrust anybody, do you?"

"Certainly not. But I don't want anybody to get excited or distracted from their work."

"Reckon you're right, Hiram. Just the sight of any sort of treasure is upsetting. Especially to women, I should say. And pearls most of all."

The captain said briefly, "It is better to load and get out of here and then open our Christmas presents outside. I don't like being shut up in a pond like this. Makes me feel in a trap."

"Yes," Henery agreed, "and it's all the worse because we can only get out on the ebb tide and afore the breeze comes."

Henery, Adam and Raoul built the bin snugly, stuffing okum into the lower seams. At daybreak the next morning they started work. A light spar was rigged for a hoist and one of the big Japanese clothes hampers was swung on a bridle with a heaving line fast to it so that the diver could haul it to him after being dumped and lowered.

Captain Hiram assigned the positions. "I'll take the first shift diving. Henery handles lines and passes my signal to hoist to Adam at the donkey. The mate, Raoul, Arlette and Roberta can be pumping crew with Benny standing by to spell anybody. Peter handles the vang to swing the hamper over the bin and dump it."

"When do you look for the pearls?" Ladybird asked.

"Not until we get out of here."

"Why that?"

"It is better to put all our effort into loading and getting out to sea than sifting shell as we go along."

She persisted. "But why not sift shell at night? Otherwise we risk just what happened to Mr. Mordecai,—that a patrol boat may barge in and lose us everything."

"We've got to chance it," said the captain. "The steadier we work at the one job the sooner we clean it up and get out. You'll find that working dawn to dark is a hard shift. Besides it is going to keep everybody busy."

Plainly enough Ladybird disliked this plan. She wanted to dump the shell on deck and search for pearls in the intervals of hoisting. The captain would not consent to this.

"One job at a time," he said curtly. "Examining the shell has got to be done carefully. If we sight anything coming in we'll have time to dump it all back into the sunk lighter again. That would be quicker because all the diver would have to do is empty."

The conditions were of the most favorable in still clear shallow water with a bright sun beating onto it. They could see the diver indistinctly at his work.

This program kept the whole complement busy. As often as the diver felt need of a shift he was to signal to be hoisted and another relieve him. They could all work in rotation and knock off to stow the shell.

They proceeded in this fashion. The diver's work would be easy enough until the deck load was clear, when he would have to start unloading the hold. He was provided with an improvised lance in case of an attack by one of the terrible great sharks that are apt to infest such lagoons. But the captain said that sharks seldom if ever attacked a diver who is to them perhaps some formidable and unknown monster able to protect itself.

The operations started smoothly enough. The captain went down holding to the ballasted hamper. The schooner had drifted away a little so that the lines and hose led out at an angle. It seemed to the others that a considerable time elapsed before Henery sang out, "H'ist away." The donkey clattered and up came the hamper bulging and dripping.

"Hold it," Peter bawled and swung the light boom of the vang, then "Lower away." He stepped over and dumped its contents into the bin. For the first time since the voyage had started Ladybird completely forgot herself. As a competent first mate she had never shown herself at a loss, let alone losing her head. But now at the sound of the loose shell clattering into the long shallow bin, her self-possession stampeded.

She remembered that the captain had reported the molluscs as having long since died as the result of removal from their natural bed and being rotted and oozed out so that the shell was ready to fall apart. The mental picture of this taking place and possible pearls rolling out was too much for her.

Leaving the others to work the pump she loosed her own hold and ran across the deck to look into the bin. The rest of the pump crew paused for an instant watching her.

Henery brought them to their senses. "Hey, there!" he cried harshly—"Keep pumpin'. Want to asphyxiate him?"

The pumping crew recovered themselves. But even then Ladybird did not seem to have heard. She was peering into the bin, then threw one leg over the rim. She cried in a strained voice, "I think I see one."

But Henery's big hand fell on her shoulder. He jerked her back none too gently.

"Hold on, Mister Mate"—for once his mild voice had a strident note—you forgit yourself."

Ladybird whirled on him furiously. Her face was drawn and tense and her eyes were hard and bright as sapphires. Her lips were tight.

Peter was watching her. He had never seen the players at a gaming table, but as paying teller in a bank he had caught that look on the faces of clients when their eyes fell on the money stacked at his side. He knew what avarice is stamped on the features of some people. If Ladybird's face had shown a sudden alarming rash it would have looked to him at that moment less disturbing.

Women Voters Will Welcome Mrs. Roosevelt

IS THE important event on today's calendar for the "subdeb" crowd in Lake Forest, and there will be several carloads of young people driving out from the city too for the party. Miss Bowen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, gave a similar party for their daughter, who is a student at Farmington, last year, and it was such a jolly affair that all Gwendolyn's friends were delighted that the Bowens decided to have another one this winter.

There will be several dinners before the dance, including one that Mrs. Francis P. Butler will give at the Butlers' Lake Forest residence for their daughter, Deborah, who is at home from the Walker school at Simsbury for the holidays. Hermon B. Butler, III., who is here from Yale, will be at his sister's dinner party.

Dance Tonight at Indian Hill Club.

Winnetka young people will dance tonight at the Indian Hill club at the annual party for girls and boys of preparatory and college ages. Among the dinner parties to be given before the dance are one that Mrs. Harry Edmonds will give for her daughter, Betty, who is here from Briarcliff and will make her debut at a tea on Jan. 2, and one that Mrs. Henry A. Gardner will give for her daughter, Marie Louise, who is at home from Dobbs Ferry for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Norem are giving a buffet supper tonight for about 70 at 160 Sheridan road, Hubbard Woods, where they live with Mrs. Norem's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Case. After supper the party will sing Christmas carols.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Logan Garnett of Evanston announced the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Garnett Steger, to Chester Darlington Speakman, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Howland Speakman of Oak Park, yesterday at a luncheon at the Woman's Athletic club. The wedding will take place in the early summer.

Mrs. Steger, an alumna of the University School for Girls, spent last year with her parents in Florence, Italy, where she studied Italian and music. Mr. Speakman attended the University of Illinois and is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity.

The Misses Jane and Polly Harvey have returned from Miss Walker's school at Simsbury, Conn., and are spending their vacation at Reynolds Wood in Dixon. Last night their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Gould Ralston, who also live at Reynolds Wood, gave a dinner for 16 for Jane and Polly in Chicago, later taking the party to the Princeton Triangle club show.

Libby Chase to Return for Holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase had word yesterday that their daughter, Miss Libby Chase, who is hunting with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brooks [Alicia Patterson] in Mexico, will reach home on Christmas eve. Her arrival will complete the family party for the holiday for the youngest of the Chase daughters, Janet, and her husband, Frederick Hauck, live in Lake Forest, and the middle one, Polly [Mrs. Chase Boyden], and her three children are arriving today from New York to spend the holidays with her parents.

Mrs. Wirth S. Dunham of Wayne is leaving today for Warm Springs, Ga., to spend Christmas with her daughters, Mrs. John N. Dole and Miss Jane Dunham, and the former's two children. Mr. Dole is going down for the holidays with his family, also.

Mrs. Thomas W. Ritchie of Winnetka has gone to Ridgewood, N. J., to spend Christmas with her son, Leslie S. Gordon, and Mrs. Gordon and their little son, Stuart.

Mrs. Oliver S. Picher of Glencoe has her whole family with her for the holidays for her elder daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Picher Purcell, is living with her, and the other three arrived yesterday, Muriel from school at Westover, William, known to his family and friends as "Hank," from Harvard, and Lieut. Oliver Picher and his wife, the former Marion Lewis of Honolulu, from Langley Field in Virginia.

Mrs. Walter J. Kohler Jr. [Celeste McVoy Holden] was not able to assist in the receiving line at her sister Jean McVoy's debut ball last night because she and her husband did not arrive in New York from their honeymoon in Mexico and Yucatan until yesterday.

They will share their Christmas with her family here and with Mr. Kohler's family, spending Christmas eve with Mrs. Kohler's mother, Mrs. Fortunato Jerace, at her residence at 3030 Wellington avenue, and early Christmas morning they'll take a train to Kohler, Wis., to have dinner with former Gov. and Mrs. Walter J. Kohler.

Stock to Speak to Young Women.

This afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the foyer of Orchestra hall, after the symphony concert, Frederick Stock will talk to the young women who in ten and twenty years will be the chief backers of good music in Chicago, just as their mothers are active in supporting the cause today.

The public is invited to attend the rally, too, which is sponsored by the Chicago Friends of Music. Some of the young women who will listen to Mr. Stock tell them of the responsibility they must assume if good music is to live here are Miss Mary Reed, Miss Jean Schweppe, Miss Marjorie Goodman, Miss Jane Boyce, Miss Narcissa Thorne, Miss Louise Dewey, Miss Nancy Traylor, Miss Ethel Dixon, Miss Elizabeth Baum, Miss Nanine Rebori, Miss Julia Kramer, and Miss Janet Llewellyn.

Mrs. D. Mark Cummings and her committee in charge of the home dressmakers' sales at the White Elephant Rummage shop at 27 East Ohio street hope to take in some of the money women will receive as Christmas gifts at the sale next Thursday, for they are going to offer a collection of marked down dresses along with the dressmakers' supplies. The shop is run for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital.

Another holiday treat for the youngsters that the Junior league has arranged is the appearance of Mickey Mouse in person with the Honeywood Marionettes at the Playhouse next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at 11 in the mornings and at 3 in the afternoons.

Mickey Mouse is the favorite of most children and many grown people in the animated cartoons and the league expects to have the "S. R. O." sign out for all six performances.

Miss Margot Atkin, Miss Gloria Chandler, Miss Elaine Blackman, Miss Janet Ayer, Miss Adelaide Atkin, and Miss Paula Wilms are among the members most active in arrangements.

The Country club of Evanston will give a children's party this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Two plays, "The Legend of the Moor's Legacy" and "The Conspiracy in the Toy Shop" will be given. The club's young people's ball will be tomorrow night.

The South Shore Country club is having its formal Christmas ball tonight with music in the dining room from 7:30 on, and dancing in the ballroom from 9 to 2. The junior Christmas dance will be given next Tuesday night.

The annual children's party at the Belden Stratford hotel will be given today from 2 to 5 o'clock. Santa Claus will be on hand to distribute gifts from a big Christmas tree and there will be refreshments.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover had a few friends dining with them informally tonight.

The secretary of agriculture and Mrs. Hyde were joined today by Miss Carolyn Hyde, their debutante daughter, who came from her studies at the University of Missouri. She was accompanied by her schoolmate, Miss Abigail Harris of Missouri.

Miss Virginia Dawes, daughter of former Vice President and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, arrived today to visit the parents of her fiancé, Commander and Mrs. E. Hunter Tennant. Her engagement to Ensign John G. Tennant, U. S. N., was announced some months ago. Ensign Tennant also will join his parents here for his Christmas vacation, coming from his ship, the U. S. S. Salt Lake City, lying off San Pedro, Cal.

GASOLINE ALLEY—CLEAN-UP WEEK

Paris Lengthens Coat Capes for Smart Traveler

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—In trying to cater to the forty-seven different kinds of weather that their clients must encounter on a winter cruise into far parts, the Paris dressmakers have put capes on some of their best travel coats this season. Simple, tailored coats of warm wool are the correct kind for going away, and to this kind of a coat is added a cape that may be worn or not, according to the thermometer.

The smartest capes, thus adjusted to coats, are longer than have been seen for a long time; in fact, three-quarter length like the one shown today. This sketch illustrates an ensemble from Goupy, made of plain Veronese green wool, and green and brown plaid wool.

The coat is semi-fitted, with wide revers and a tailored collar. The big patch pockets have flaps made of plaid. Over the coat Goupy slips a long cape of the same wool, banded around the edges with plaid. This cape is fastened under the collar by snappers.

If You Want a Thrill, Just Try Shopping

Most Exciting Store Day of Year Arrives.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

This is the famous Friday when you, as a Christmas shopper, are either in a state of thrilled suspense or else a mumbling wreck of your former sprightly self as you wander and weave through the milling mobs about the town. The next to the last day that you have left either to get into the hectic spirit of things, to get down to serious shopping and let your weary dogs be trod upon, or to stay in the seclusion of home base after a successful shopping season with every name on your list crossed off.

If you are a last minute shopper you are probably having a grand time, even though you are being punched, pulled, shoved, and stepped on . . . for these are the days that are filled with excitement . . . all the loot is out on counters, everything in the way of new tricky stuff is hung temptingly for your approval, and the rush is on.

Are you looking for some of those cool looking, very masculine lounging robes as fashioned by comfort knowing Chinese designers? One shop has a super-collection of the best looking models any male could ever covet . . . stunning beige-brown silks with tiny hairline stripes . . . deep sapphire blues and one particularly interesting gray silk model, all with wide square-ish sleeves, all with Chinese dragons or other designs planted on the back sections. One deep ivory heavy silk ensemble consists of knockout silk brocade pajamas with a sinister black dragon embroidered on the chest pocket and a matching ivory silk coat with wide sleeves, also with the black sign of the dragon on the back.

This same shop has some feminine fripperies that are eye-filling. For instance, some neat little Chinese sleeping pajamas that button high around the neck line with looped buttons, the color of burnt orange. They can be worn for lounging as a bright contrast to deep blue, black, and dull green velvet lounging robes. These simple models are delightful, being made of that soft Chinese silk stuff that no one else seems to be able to duplicate. Other pajamas are available in lovely flesh tones, robin's egg blue, and some incredibly gorgeous things in white, ivory, and eggshell.

Decorative pottery . . . stunning flower bowls of asbestos white, bowls of vivid peacock blue, egg yellow, and sage green, come in very different shapes and sizes . . . very distinctive ash trays in startling colors . . . bolts of amazing Chinese brocaded silks for home sewers . . . heavy cherry silk knee length house robes lined to the hem with long white fur . . . romantic jewelry of rosy red coral, tiny seed pearls, amethyst and rose quartz, rings, necklaces, earrings, and brooches are just a few of the many interesting things you will find in this intriguing shop.

"Fight for Your Home," Is Doris' Advice to Wife

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Have discovered that my husband is in love with the stenographer in his office. It has gone so far that life seems hopeless to me. I still love him, but feel I am in the way.

"We have two children of high school age and are active in church work. If this affair should ever become known, or if my children should hear of it their future would be ruined. They think the world of their daddy. Help me to think straight, please!

HEARTBROKEN."

You feel you are in the way? What's the matter with women like you? Haven't you the stuff in you to fight for what belongs to you? You love the man, you say? Yet you'd pull out without lifting a finger to save your husband to you, your home and the youngsters' happiness?

I haven't much patience with a wife and mother who refuses to put up a good fight against an intruder.

This triangle business is getting so commonplace that my belief is that you wives had better adopt a new line of tactics. You give in to the rival too easily. You make it a comparatively simple matter for the man to get away with it.

Be ruthless yourselves in the fight! If fear of exposure will have any influence on the man threaten him with it. Throw a fear into the girl. Or, if your case calls for subtler handling, don't stop fighting until you have exhausted every subtle measure. Be just a little more crafty than the other woman. If she's playing the flattery game on the man you outplay her at it.

Whether you stand to lose even, go down fighting. There's more pride in having put up a stiff battle—and a better winning chance—than lying down and taking it meekly on the chin.

Want Slim, Neat Waistline? Try This Sure-Fire Exercise

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Of course, you want a waistline! You couldn't be 50 per cent feminine even this clothes era of ours and not want a waistline, now, could you? You've just got to have a waistline. And of all things you have no use for whatsumever, these days, is a wad of flesh on the sides of the chest.

You've been working for that waistline, I take it, on the stretching exercises I've already given you. Keep them up! The more you do them, the sooner you'll be able to take a notch or two in your belt. And the smarter, prettier figure you're going to have. Younger figure, too! It's the young figure that can tie a string around its waist, these days—and only the young figure.

But you can have it. You got what you wanted in a younger pound record when you dieted didn't you? You can just as well get the slim, flexible waistline these exercises promise you. As I've said before, the tape measure is a better recorder than the scales, if you're trying for reduction in spots.

I'll frankly guarantee you a smaller waistline in six weeks if you'll practice daily this stretching movement I'm giving you today. Also, if any wads of fat you might now have under the arms aren't pried loose in that time, it'll only be because you're cheating on the exercise.

Stand up straight, first! Stretch your body up tall! Raise your right arm. Curve it and keep on stretching the finger tips until they can tough the opposite shoulder. At the same time stretch the left arm down toward the knee—below it, if you can stretch that far without strain. Straighten up. Relax all over. Then, perform the same movement with left arm going over the head and right army down to the knee. Keep the feet firmly planted on the ground and sufficiently apart for balance.

Does that rumple the smug complacency of the fat on the sides of the waist? Doesn't it even jiggle the hip padding, too? Oh, it does a lot of things beside making tidier resting place for your patent leather belt.

Stand erect. Stretch body up, tall. Raise arm, bring overhead, aiming to touch opposite shoulder, at same time stretch other arm down side of body to knees.

Avoid Too Much Excitement on Christmas Day

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

When Christmas is a new experience to the children, when they're just old enough to understand it but young enough to be surprised and thrilled over each thing that comes before, we have to guard them a little from being overstimulated. To the little boy or girl of 4, for example, the days before Christmas are a veritable crescendo of excitement. Each Santa Claus he or she sees, each gaily trimmed window, each whispered consultation, each mysterious package that arrives adds its touch of anticipation to what has gone before. The very counting of the days, the lessening of their number as the Red Letter One approaches heightens his or her awareness of a great event coming—of big things in the air.

Now, of course, this is all a lovely, gay and happy kind of excitement. But it has the effect of keying up some little children too much. And when the great day does arrive they are a little overwrought and it takes more out of them than it should. I have seen very little boys and girls actually tremble when they walked into the room where the glittering tree stood with all its treasures piled beneath. And as their gifts were given them by loving hands, as they were looked at by loving eyes, it was evident that their joy should have been more "easy."

Of course, you may not have this thing to look out for. But take the word of an experienced mother that some children need to be safeguarded against the strain of too much excitement on Christmas day. Hold back some presents if you see tension and bewilderment. Be resolute about the regular nap, or at least a rest period in a quiet room.

See that there's a big dose of fresh air. And look out for the goodies and "nibbling" when the children are very small. It's not necessary to deny them all sweets and extras, but let them be the wholsome kind that look festive, but are not rich or indigestible.

The child who is upset or overtired either on Christmas day or the day after loses lots of his pleasure—and so do you.

Suggest This Committee to Welcome Shaw

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 22.—If the film powers carry out one suggestion—and a good one—they will send the following recommended committee of welcome to San Pedro harbor to deliver the welcome and do the honors for the film industry when George Bernard Shaw, who is now en route, arrives here for his declared short inspection of the film colony:

Arthur Caesar [an old acquaintance of Shaw's], who visited the sardonic sage abroad, and Donald Ogden Stewart, co-chairmen; the four Marx brothers; Vince Barnett, the ribber; Will Hays [because, it is suggested, Shaw won't know Will's speech is serious]; Jimmy Durante, Roscoe Ates, and Charles Ruggles, with Polly Moran to deliver greetings for the Hollywood ladies.

Patricia Ziegfeld and Billie Burke had lunch together at the RKO studio lunchroom today. They ate chop suey. Daughter ordered for mother, and apparently, from the solicitude of Miss Patricia for her mother and the daughter's readiness with gentle attentions and business suggestions, Miss Billie Burke has a new combination of business manager, daughter, and companion all in the person of one 18 year old girl.

Bryan Foy is producing a bunch of short reelers based on adventures of Baron Munchausen. Next somebody will have the hunch to picturize Boccaccio.

Once it was the prerogative of men to bring home the bacon, but times are changing. Once the maestro of the house could pout over the hours we spent at card games and peer with amused condescension at the lace thingamies and glass elephants we won as prizes. That's going by the board also.

For it now comes to us on good authority that one of the smartest things to offer the winner at this winter's bridge tournaments is a gay wrapped and beribboned pound of bacon, a package of dried beef, a jug of pork feet or morsel of honey comb tripe and lamb tongue. And not at benefit bridges, either, but at knowing social functions where rivalry runs high, higher, and highest when there's a neat triangle of canned ham in the offing.

But whether you decide to offer wrapped meats as prizes or serve them woven carefully into a knowing little luncheon for the inner delight of bridge fans, the modern packaged meats are likely this winter to find sundry ways to help out at card parties—or if cards don't appeal, then at any of a score of other snacks and eat fests.

Since economy is a point always to be remembered, we are not likely to buy all our meat in packages. The daintiness, extra care, and the time and pains of preparation have naturally raised the price a bit. But many times a week our own time and labor suddenly become more important than a few cents tacked to the price of a product, and we are more than happy to be able to find at the grocer's or on the meat counter a type of food that is attractive, clean, well cooked, and practically ready for the pan as we take it from the package.

What's to be had in the packaged meat line? Bacon first—half or whole pound, wrapped in transparent paper.

As a rule this most commonly seen bacon has a high percentage of fat, but there is another type—the Canadian style or back bacon, which is almost entirely lean and tastes much like a pork rib roast.

Sliced dried beef is another daintily wrapped package which is booming these days.

Even the once modest frankfurters are putting on airs and climbing into shiny packages. They may be had in sealed glass jars or in sanitarily wrapped packages. The smart thing to do with frankfurters these days is to wrap them in pieces of baking powder biscuit dough rolled out long enough to cover the frankfurter. Bake these fat rolls in a hot oven for twelve to fifteen minutes and serve with a hot tomato sauce. Add a dash of horseradish to the sauce for a little extra zest.

Delightfully spiced and pickled lamb tongues; clean, well cooked, boneless pork feet, and the finest of honeycomb tripe are also available in nobby glass jars.

Especially does the family of three or less revel in packaged meats which seem to fit small families better than grown up roasts and such. For instance, the packaged smoked pork shoulder butt is ideal and may be boiled, baked, or cut in slices and broiled. Two and one-half pounds is the average weight.

And finally the most alluring prize of them all—ham. The canned ham now on the market is a boon to both large and small families. It runs all the way from one to six pound containers. To serve luscious baked ham, merely slide it from its container, dust with brown sugar, stud with cloves, and brown in a hot oven thirty minutes. For pan-broiled ham, merely slice and pan-broil it for three minutes in a preheated skillet. Canned fruit or bananas are delicious accompaniments when broiled with it.

THE STAGE

Ned Wayburn, who was the stage director for several "Ziegfeld Follies" productions, is planning to produce a revue that will be an anthology of famous scenes and numbers from the long catalogue of "Follies." He intends to take the show on a tour which will include an engagement in Chicago during the period of the Century of Progress.

"The Red Planet," a drama staged by Rowland Stebbins, producer of "The Green Pastures," in New York last Saturday will end its career tomorrow night. It was one of the most costly dramatic productions of recent years, for its expense before the curtain rose amounted to $80,000. John L. Balderston, who wrote "Berkeley Square," was one of its authors.

Eugenie Leontovich's first rôle since her signal success as the Russian dancer in "Grand Hotel" will be the heroine of "Twentieth Century," a new play by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur. This comedy will open at the Broadhurst theater, New York, next Thursday night.

Roberta Robinson, who sang the rôle of Diana Devereaux in "Of Thee I Sing" during the Chicago run of that extravaganza, has been added to the cast of "Pardon My English," a musical comedy which is now being groomed for a New York premiere.

Irving Berlin has signed a contract with Sam H. Harris to supply the score of a musical comedy to be staged next spring under the title of "As Thousands Cheer." Moss Hart, who was associated with Berlin in the authorship of "Face the Music," is to be the librettist. G. C.

New Russian Symphony Is Lively Work

First Performance in U. S. Given in City.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

On rather short notice Mr. Stock got hold of the score of Nicolas Miaskowsky's Symphony in G minor through the Chicago branch of the Society for Cultural Relations with the U. S. S. R., and consequently was able to give its first American performance at Orchestra hall last night.

Miaskowsky would seem, though he is no youngster, to be the most prominent of the Russian composers of the post revolutionary period. This symphony, the twelfth from his pen and the sixth that Mr. Stock has played, was written only this year in connection with the fifteenth anniversary of the October revolution.

In character it is, somewhat curiously, nowhere nearly as unconventional as the music of many a contemporary who knows about revolutions only through newspaper accounts. It is lively, rather tuneful, the tunes in this case almost approaching the manner of Irish folk music, somewhat lacking in depth, but through the technical skill of its composer seldom failing in interest. Its last movement just lacks the final touch that would make it a jubilant festival, as its slower sections lack the wailing melancholy that one is accustomed to think in connection with Russian music.

Altogether it is an earnest, seemly, and rather entertaining bit of new music. Even if it were less able than it is, one begins to wonder how many American composers there are who have been trying to celebrate any notable date of American history by writing an extended piece of music, or how many of the American public would commend them for so doing.

For the rest of the program Mr. Stock kept pretty closely to Christmas music, in spirit if not in name. The Prelude and the Dream Pantomime of Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel" began the concert. There was also the Jubilee and Noël from George W. Chadwick's Symphonic Sketches, revived after a decade or more, the work of a man who had a great gift for refreshing melody and believed in indulging it.

Another Christmas Program Broadcast from Tribune Tower

Again last evening organ music, chimes and singing of carols charmed the throngs passing Tribune Tower on their way home. It was the third twilight concert of a series of Christmas carols sponsored by W-G-N radio station. The music was heard along Michigan avenue, according to reports, from Madison street to Chicago avenue.

The carols began promptly at 5 o'clock, when the strains of "Break Forth O Bounteous Heavenly Light," sung by the Mendelssohn club, floated down from the tower from the loud speakers. For an hour there followed selections on the Fourth Presbyterian church's organ, by W-G-N orchestra, and vocal numbers by Margery Maxwell, opera star.

Today at the same hour the carol concert will be heard again, and each day until Christmas. The Lawson Y. M. C. A. Glee club, directed by Frank Bennett, will open the concert today with "O Come All Ye Faithful." Leo Sowerby of St. James' Episcopal church will follow with "Et in Terra Pax," playing the Fourth Presbyterian organ. "Jingle Bells," by W-G-N orchestra, and "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," by the glee club, given at previous concerts, will be repeated.

BLACKHAWKS BEAT MONTREAL MAROONS, 4-1

BABE DIDRIKSON REINSTATED BY A. A. U. ACTION

Follows Decision of Star to Turn Pro.

New Orleans, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The Southern association of the Amateur Athletic union of the United States today exonerated Mildred Babe Didrikson, Dallas, Olympic track star, of charges of authorizing use of her name and picture in the advertisement for an automobile two weeks ago.

The Southern committee's decision followed an announcement by Miss Didrikson last night that she was going to enter the professional ranks. A tour of large American cities was planned by the star, it was reported.

Lawrence Di Benedetto, chairman of the registration committee of the Southern A. A. U., who made the announcement that Miss Didrikson had been reinstated, issued the following statement:

"It is the unanimous opinion of the registration committee of the Southern Amateur Athletic union, after carefully considering all of the new evidence, that Miss Didrikson did not authorize publication of the advertisement in question, and she is hereby exonerated of all charges."

Resigns from A. A. U.

Di Benedetto said the committee was not concerned with Miss Didrikson's professional plans, but had desired to investigate the charges and, when they were found unwarranted, to restore her amateur status.

He said that her resignation from the A. A. U. had been received, but that her athletic future "is up to her."

In announcing she was turning professional, Miss Didrikson said her suspension had been directly responsible and she did not desire to wait for the union's final action.

A few days ago Miss Didrikson resigned from the Dallas insurance firm on whose basketball team she had starred for several years.

Sets World's Records.

Miss Didrikson, who established world's records in the high hurdles and javelin throw at the Olympic Games in Los Angeles last summer, after winning the national women's track meet single handed, was suspended by the A. A. U. when her name and picture appeared in newspapers endorsing a motor car.

She denied endorsing the car for publication, but the suspension was upheld by the Southern association in a preliminary investigation. However, final decision on the case was withheld pending the finding of the release of the advertisement. The release was found and did not bear Miss Didrikson's signature, as charged by the A. A. U.

WHEREABOUTS UNKNOWN.

Beaumont, Tex., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Mildred Babe Didrikson, who was reinstated by the A. A. U. today, left last night for New Orleans, relatives said.

According to her family, Miss Didrikson, after saying she was going to turn professional, left for New Orleans and did not plan to return home until after Christmas. She planned to leave for the west coast immediately after New Year's to fulfill a movie contract.

ON WAY TO CHICAGO?

Houston, Tex., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The motor company with which Mrs. Esther Elam, sister of Mildred Babe Didrikson, had been employed here revealed late today Mrs. Elam had left her position and "gone to Chicago with Miss Didrikson."

Officials knew no details of the purpose of the trip. Friends assumed it might mean Miss Didrikson, noted woman athlete suspended from amateur competition Dec. 11 and reinstated today, had made good her statement that she was turning professional and that Mrs. Elam had gone along to advise her.

Mrs. Elam joined Miss Didrikson in Beaumont for the trip north.

CARP SEEK AIR AND IDLE CATCH THEM FOR FOOD

Youngstown, O., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Food for Christmas came to Youngstown's idle today when a large school of carp found its way down the acid infested waters of the Mahoning river and the fish were taken out by the hundreds.

Unable to get sufficient oxygen from the waters tainted by the steel mills, the fish poked their noses above the surface in hordes.

Scores of men and boys lined the banks of the river for a mile, wading to their hips in the ice water and using boats to haul in the carp. They used clubs, hatchets, rifles, large hooks attached to poles and other improvised instruments of slaughter to stun and kill the fish.

Wives and daughters stood on the railroad trestle directing the "fishermen" to points where they saw carp coming up for air.

Ray Lawrence, president of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, said that the fish really were "drowning" because of lack of oxygen in the water.

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks, meeting the Maroons here for the first time this season, emerged from the doldrums tonight to triumph, 4 to 1. It was their first victory of the season on the road and the first time the Chicagoans have scored more than one goal in seven games on foreign ice. It likewise was the first time they had scored in their last three games.

Chuck Gardiner, Chicago goalie who entered the game sick, was injured in the second period, but continued. After the game, however, he was rushed to a hospital, where it was announced he was suffering from tonsillitis.

A small crowd of 4,500 saw the Blackhawks score two goals in each of the first and last periods. The Maroons got their point in the first period when Earl Robinson scored the second goal of his big league career.

Scoring Starts Early.

Johnny Gottselig, Blackhawk center, returned to the lineup after a month layoff because of injuries. He scored Chicago's first goal in the second minute of play. Smith of the Maroons and Coulter of Chicago were given misconduct ten minute penalties in the second period.

Chicago opened the scoring in the second minute of the first period when Gottselig beat Walsh on a pass from Thompson. Couture also got an assist on the play. Play was rough and Mackenzie, Brydson, and Abel were penalized.

Graham was given a minor for tripping and the Maroons had a man advantage. They formed a semi-circle around Gardiner and the Hawks were forced to shoot the puck up the ice. Gardiner made some splendid saves and Chicago was able to hold on until at full strength.

After Walsh saved twice on Jenkins, Mackenzie gave Chicago its second goal when Walsh failed to stop a high, tricky shot from about five feet out. Jenkins got the assist.

Penalties Are Frequent.

Robinson then got the Maroons' lone goal, driving the puck past Gardiner after Duguid and Haynes had taken it in close on Gardiner.

The Maroons took the offensive at the start of the second period and pestered Gardiner no end. The Hawk goalie made one outstanding save on Hooley Smith. Thompson was sent to the coop, but Chicago's defense was well able to hold off the five man Maroon attacks.

Couture was chased for cross-checking and then Abel was penalized for shooting the puck into the crowd, but by golfing the puck down the ice Chicago was able to preserve its lead again.

Penalties were frequent and Lionel Conacher and Coulter were chased for tripping. Hooley Smith was sent off for arguing with Referee Jack Cameron just after Conacher came back. Haynes missed an open net just as the period ended.

Hawks Increase Lead.

Chicago had an edge in the first few minutes of the third period, but few of its rushes got past Conacher and Wilcox. There was a scramble in front of Walsh and Abel just missed poking the puck past Walsh.

Thompson staged a dangerous solo rush and the Maroons nearly scored on their own goal in the confusion that followed. Immediately after Couture increased the Blackhawks' lead when he broke through alone. He got past the defense and gauged his shot carefully, beating Walsh unassisted.

Gardiner made a magnificent save in the last minute from Northcott. Romnes then put the game on ice, beating Walsh to make the score 4 to 1.

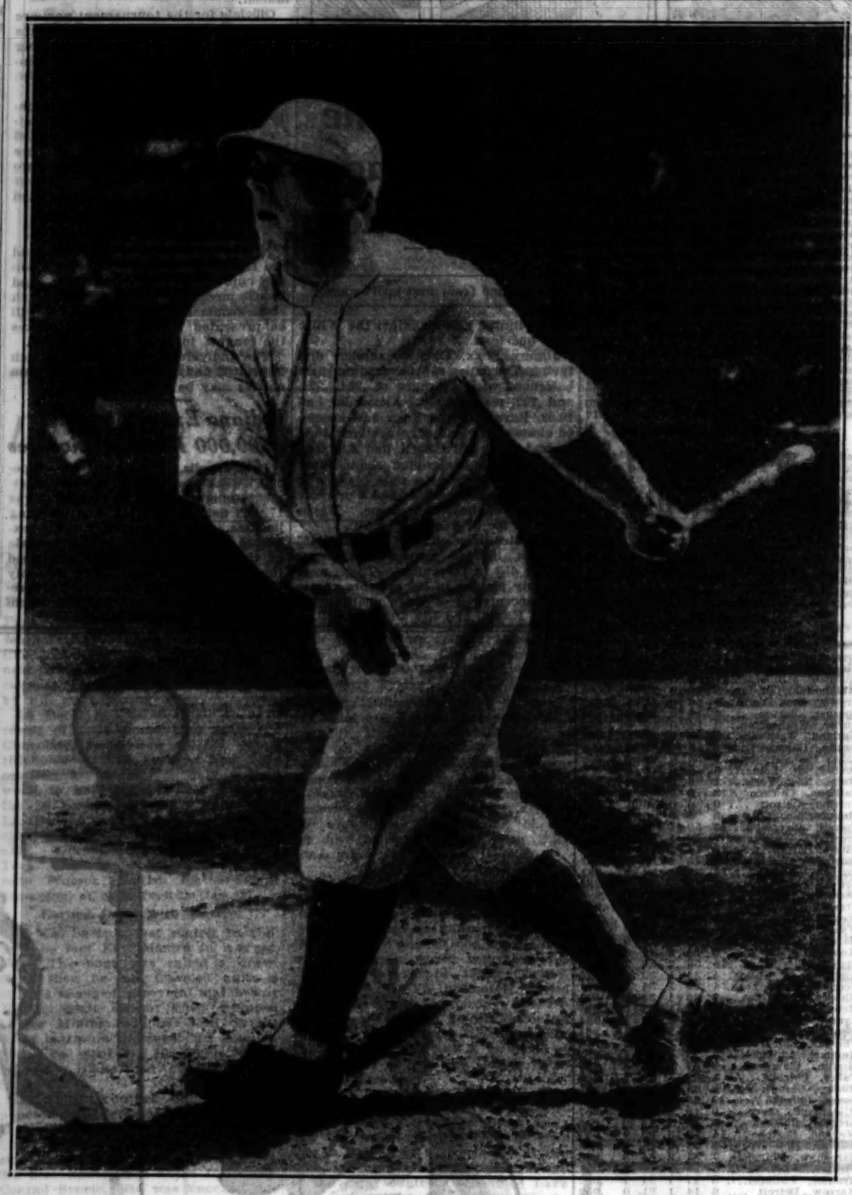
Lomski, Former Boxer, Jailed on Theft Charge

Aberdeen, Wash., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Leo Lomski of Aberdeen, a former contender for the light heavyweight championship, and a relative, George Anderson, were in jail today, accused by Peter Hanson, Satsop farmer, of stealing a 10 gallon can of milk from his farm.

LEADING THIRD BASEMAN OF AMERICAN LEAGUE



Jimmy Dykes, now the property of the White Sox, is the best fielding third baseman in the American league. The official records show that the veteran had a mark of .980, a new league record, with the Philadelphia Athletics last season.

Schmeling Signs to Fight Baer for Jack Dempsey

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—In a setting reminiscent of old days announcement was made today that Max Schmeling, former world's heavyweight champion, and Max Baer, California challenger for the title, have signed for a 15 round bout next summer under the direction of Jack Dempsey.

At the Waldorf-Astoria, where a buffet luncheon was served, and with associates and admirers of boxing and Dempsey, old and new, participating, the former heavyweight champion announced the signing of Schmeling and Baer. The place for the battle and the date were not determined, nor were the terms revealed.

Dempsey stated, however, that the contest will be held here or in Chicago, or wherever the best inducements are offered. Tim Mara, president of the Aram A. C., with leases on the Polo grounds and the Yankee stadium, publicly announced he was ready to accommodate the bout in either park, at terms agreeable to Dempsey. The contest is proposed for next June, the definite date to be set when the location is determined.

Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, verified the signing, as did Ancil Hoffman, manager of Baer.

Dykes, Rhyne Top Averages at 2 Positions; Both Sox Now!

American league fielding averages just released indicate, among other things, that the left side of the White Sox infield, a rather leaky sector last season, should be a tough defensive barrier in 1933. Jimmy Dykes, who will play third for the Sox, last year set a new record for full time third basemen with a mark of .980 and Hal Rhyne, who has first call on the White Sox shortstop job, led the shortstops of all spans of activity with a mark of .966.

The veteran Dykes, playing his 15th season with the Athletics, participated in 141 games to beat the record of .978 held by Willie Kamm and set when he was employed by the White Sox.

Settles at Third.

In 1922 Dykes played third base regularly for the A's, but during the following seven years he played every position in the infield at various times. In 1930, however, he settled down at third base and has been playing the position brilliantly and exclusively ever since. And third base will be his lone spot for the Sox, according to current plans.

Alongside the 36½ year old Dykes will be the 34 year old Mr. Rhyne, who has for ten years worked exclusively at the shortstopping trade except for a spell at second with the Pirates in 1926 and during the 62 games in which he helped the Pirates win the pennant in 1927. He never played any place but short during his four years with the Red Sox until he filled in at third base a few times last season.

In setting the new third basing record Dykes made only eight errors in handling 401 chances—142 putouts and 251 assists. Jimmy participated in 20 double plays. Some idea of the potential improvement with Dykes at third for the Sox can be gained from perusal of the fielding averages of the gents who played or tried to play third for the Sox last year: Selph, .910 in 71 games; Hayes, .903 in 10 games; Kress, .902 in 33 games; Sullivan, .880 in 17 games; Appling, .854 in 14 games, and English, .821 in 13 games. English, who drew up the rear among the league's third basemen, had only one fewer errors in 13 games than Dykes committed in 141 games.

Minter Hayes, who probably will start the season at second base for the Sox, was seventh among the league's second basemen. In 97 games he rang up a mark of .967. Hayes, however, earned a place on the honor roll when, in two successive eleven inning games on July 14 and 15, he accepted 34 chances without a bobble, practically one-third of his team's total of 106 for the two days. Hayes had eight putouts and ten assists the first day and six putouts and ten assists in the second game.

Long Errorless Record.

Catcher Ray Hayworth of Detroit handled 347 putouts and 53 assists in 92 games before he made his first error of the season in the second game of Aug. 29. On Aug. 14, Third Baseman Urbane Pickering of Boston tied the record for assists at that base by handling 9 without an error. Wesley Ferrell made 10 assists July 23 in a

ILLINOIS AGREES TO PLAY ARMY AT CLEVELAND

West Point Officials Pick Midwestern Site.

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—West Point athletic authorities have approved the municipal stadium in Cleveland, O., as the location of the Army-Illinois football game Oct. 21, 1933, Carl Lundgren, assistant director of athletics, announced tonight.

The game was tentatively set for New York City, but an invitation from Cleveland met with favor among Army managers because of the cadets' heavy schedule. The decision was Army's as the game is one of its "home" attractions.

However, Bob Zuppke recently conferred at Cleveland with Maj. I. D. Worsham, who will succeed Maj. P. B. Fleming as Army graduate manager of athletics Feb. 1, and informed him the Illini were agreeable to Cleveland. Definite selection of Cleveland closes efforts by authorities of the Chicago World's Fair to have the game played at Soldiers' field stadium.

Army will play in the Illinois stadium Nov. 5, 1934, which will end relations between the cadets and Illini as the Big Ten bans competition with Army, on account of the academy's rule permitting participation of men who have already had three years of competition. The series was agreed on before the Big Ten ban was adopted.

ARMY BOOKS 10 GAMES

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Army's complete 1933 football schedule, listing ten games, was announced today by Maj. P. B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics.

The schedule is one of the heaviest ever undertaken by the Army. It includes five major games against Illinois, Yale, Harvard, the Navy, and Notre Dame. However, it is so arranged as to make it unnecessary for the first team to play more than two major opponents on successive Saturdays.

The schedule opens at West Point Sept. 30 against Mercer university and closes with the Notre Dame game at New York Dec. 2. The Navy will be played Nov. 25 at a site yet to be selected.

Maj. Fleming explained it had been found impossible to close with the Navy without prolonging the season too far into December. The December date with Notre Dame was fixed several years ago.

New opponents on the schedule include Mercer, Virginia Military institute, Delaware, Coe, and Penn Military college. The schedule follows:

Sept. 30, Mercer; Oct. 7, Virginia Military; Oct. 14, Delaware; Oct. 21, Illinois, at Cleveland; Oct. 28, Yale, at New Haven; Nov. 4 Coe; Nov. 11, Harvard at Cambridge; Nov. 18, Penn Military; Nov. 25, Navy [site not yet selected]; Dec. 2, Notre Dame at New York.

WARNER THINKS NEW JOB BETTER THAN OLD ONE

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Stanford university, in the opinion of Glenn (Pop) Warner, who recently left Stanford to coach at Temple university, will not have as good football material as other colleges on the Pacific coast.

"I believe I have made a good change in positions," Warner said in a letter to a sports writer. "The conditions at Stanford are such that I see no chance of having as good material as our rivals on the Pacific coast, and still Stanford alumni and students expect to compete on even terms.

"I feel sure that there is a real opportunity at Temple to develop football there to an extent that it will gain national recognition and without the problems and worries I have encountered while at Stanford."

Carleton Beats Nebraska; 45th Home Victory in Row

Northfield, Minn., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Carleton college basketball team marked up its 45th consecutive victory on its home court by defeating Nebraska, 23 to 19, tonight. Trailing, 19 to 18, with less than two minutes to go, Carleton won when Capt. Taylor scored two field goals and a free throw. Carleton led at the half, 10 to 6.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

"GONE TO THE DOGS."

THIS is the Christmas season when one is more likely than at other times to think of old friends, old scenes and old enjoyments. Therefore, we'll allow readers to share with us a letter from Robert L. Dickey, now of New York, but about three decades ago very much Bob Dickey of Chicago.

One of the compensations of conducting a column such as The Wake is that—thanks to THE TRIBUNE'S large circulation—it frequently brings letters from those with whom you have not been in direct communication for years. Bob's letter was prompted by a reference we made recently to a water color of the race horse McChesney. "Big Mac," done by Dickey nearly 30 years ago, which hangs on the walls of our den at home. Here it is:

"My friend Howard Patterson of La Grange sent me the copy of Wake in which you mentioned the water color of McChesney's head that I did 'way back when' horses were giving me a thrill that I rarely have these days.

"Big Mac! What a horse! I saw that fall of his at Harlem on the Wednesday before the American Derby at Washington Park, and my heart, too, went down with him as I had a little on him for the Derby. In the paddock that day that big chestnut looked a king and I watched him being led about the ring by his boy and it seemed I could never get enough of his beauty and quality.

"I have other thrilling memories of the old days at Washington Park, Hawthorne, and Harlem. What a race that was when Clifford, the mighty son of Bramble, looked the darling of all our hearts, Yo Tambien, in the eve while the erstwhile mighty Lamplighter lumbered along in the dust. Did I want that beautiful chestnut daughter of Joe Hooker to win that day? Ask John Hervey (pen name, Salvator)!

"I believe I shall never really love any race horse more than I did Yo Tambien. Something about her very name spelled romance. The year she was 3, was, I believe, her great year—what great things that lovely blazed faced golden chestnut filly did at that time! I have her photograph, too, in one of my many albums.

"I see you are still on the old Wake. I never see the heading that hosts of memories of Hughie Keough don't drift back to me over the years. He had the Irishman's love of a horse and none was a better judge.

"More power to ye, Harve, old friend. I still love the horses best if I have, as some of my friends insist, 'gone to the dogs.'

Wisconsin's Early Scoring Beats Maryland Five, 22-13

College Park, Md., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The University of Wisconsin basketball team defeated Maryland here tonight, 22 to 13. The contest was played before a crowd of 3,000.

After piling up a 14 to 2 lead at the half, the Badgers were content to coast along. Maryland outscored Wisconsin, 11 to 8, after the intermission.

Wichman Starts Scoring.

Ray Wichman, Wisconsin guard, started the scoring with a field goal after six minutes. McDonald followed with two baskets, one a side court shot and the other in a fast follow up, and the Badgers led, 6 to 0.

The score became 12 to 0 when Smith registered under the basket on a one hand back flip. Wichman counted on a follow shot and Miller sank a long one. One minute before the intermission Snyder counted Maryland's first points when he dribbled in for a soft shot. Wichman scored another baskt just before the gun.

Maryland's Passing Improves.

Maryland's attack was faster in the second half and its passing was smoother. The Badgers' lead was cut to 14 to 7 when Vincent and Yowell sank field goals and Buscher made good on a foul shot.

Miller's long field goal gave Wisconsin a nine point lead, but Maryland again pulled up on Buscher's goal. Hamann sank a basket from midcourt to give the Badgers an 18 to 9 margin.

With three minutes to play, Maryland trailed, 18 to 13, for Vincent made a free throw and Buscher sank a basket and a free throw. Wisconsin, however, stopped Maryland's rally while Miller sank one from midcourt and Smith tossed in a pair of free throws. Lineup:

BUTLER BEATS WEST. STATE

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Western State Normal's basketball winning streak was broken here tonight when Butler university came from behind in the last few minutes to score a 41 to 38 victory.

Western State led, 19 to 14, at the end of the first half and stretched its margin to 27 to 18 immediately after the second period opened. Then Chickedantz scored twice from the field, and Reissner added a field goal to put Butler back in the running.

From there until the finish the battle was evenly fought, Butler finally taking the lead at 35 to 34 on Demmary's field goal. Miller made two more free throws for Butler, but Hanna and Leiphan once again gave the lead to Western State with consecutive field goals. Then Chickedantz and Miller retaliated to win.

OLD TIMER HANDS GILBERT, MILLS THE RAZZBERRY

Recalls Miller, Who Rode 388 Winners in 1906.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The excitement which the kid jockeys, Johnny Gilbert and Hank Mills, are creating while they battle down the homestretch in a spectacular fight for the championship would have caused little more than a ripple back 25 years ago if you listen to what the old timers say.

Gilbert has just passed the 200 mark in winning mounts. Mills is a half dozen behind him.

Maybe the grandpas have a right to chuckle about everything the kids do in these days when youth insists on being served and applauded. Charley Bowman, one of the big plungers of a quarter of a century ago, talked about it yesterday as he hustled and bustled through the Christmas shopping crowds in the loop, looking for a horse store that would lay the odds.

Miller Rides 388 Winners.

"What would Mills or Gilbert have done back in 1906 riding against Walter Miller?" was the first question Bowman asked. We looked up the records and discovered that Miller, who was a Jewish kid from New York, had won the jockey championship in 1906 with 388 winning rides to his credit.

"Not much," was our reluctant answer.

"What would they have done against Miller the next year," Bowman continued. Sure enough, there were the records showing Miller as the champion in 1907 with 334 trips past the winning post. Gilbert and Mills would have been far back in the ruck in such championship competition.

Bowman had now forgotten about the horse he wanted to wager on in the second race at Jefferson and continued to belittle the riding feats of Gilbert and Mills as compared to those of jockeys who have come and gone before.

How About These Boys?

"They aren't a patch on Tommy Burns, Gene Hildebrand, Winnie O'Connor, Grover Fuller, or Vince Powers," he stated as he came up with the figures to prove that he was right again. For in 1898 Tommy Burns won the title with 277 winners. He repeated in 1899 with 273 winners. Poor Burns several years later stepped in front of an express train in Brooklyn and brought a tragic end to his illustrious career.

Then Bowman proved by the record books that Winnie O'Connor won the championship in 1901 by riding 253 winners and that Johnny Ranch captured it in 1902 with 276 winners. Next came Miller's meteoric dash to the top. In 1908 along came Vince Powers, now a noted trainer, who was crowned the champion with 324 winning rides.

Miller's name is seldom mentioned when great American jockeys are discussed, yet he holds the record for winners in one year. Folks talk about Sloan, Isaac Murphy, Snapper Garrison, and Sande. Miller seems to be the forgotten man.

Always Away Fast.

Bowman offered an explanation:

"A lot of race people thought Walter was forever getting the best of it from Mars Cassidy, who then and for many years afterwards was one of the leading starters in the country. Miller was usually away a length or two in front of the others. It didn't add to his popularity, yet I thought then and still think it was his alertness at the start which gave him this advantage. He was also a fine judge of a horse and usually landed the best mount in the race. He was so successful that many followers of racing only backed the horses he rode—usually with an increased stake every time he lost.

"I was amused at the Emeryville track in California one afternoon soon after Walter had arrived with a big reputation from New York.

"I was talking to him a few minutes before he went into the jockeys' room to get dressed for his first engagement. We discussed the weather, politics, and other general topics, and made no mention of anything that had to do with racing.

What! No Tips?

"As I made my way toward the betting ring a man who was all but a stranger to me grabbed me by the arm and asked, 'What did he give you?' 'Who?' I asked. 'Miller, of course,' was his reply.

"We really didn't talk about the horses," I told him.

"Can you beat it?" he came back at me. "Try and imagine a fellow talking to Jockey Miller and not asking him for a winner! If I knew him I would break a couple of bookmakers every day."

"The fellow interested me, so I took him over and introduced him to Miller and asked Walter to mark the stranger's card for him.

"Miller took my pencil and the stranger's program and marked four horses he was going to ride himself. The stranger left us in great glee. But, as luck would have it, not one of the horses was able to win, and I am afraid the bookmakers grew fat off my new acquaintance's bankroll that afternoon.

Progressive Play Wins.

"Yet the people who played a progressive system on Miller's mounts in 1906 and 1907 made a lot of money. During the two years of his leadership he rode in 2,578 races. He won 722 of them, making an average of better than one victory out of every four attempts.

"Gilbert and Mills have not been doing any better than winning one race out of every five in which they have ridden," was Bowman's parting shot.

When oldtimers back up their stories of the "good old days" with cold figures, one must listen to them.

Greenleaf Is Undefeated as Cue Meet Ends

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Ralph Greenleaf, eleven times holder of the national pocket billiard championship, kept intact an undefeated record in two years of titular play as he turned back Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland, 125 to 22, in the final match of the tournament tonight.

Greenleaf's victory over the 1930 champion climaxed a parade through nine of the nation's best cueists. Last year, with 12 players in the tournament, the 33 year old champion won eleven consecutive games for one of the best tournament records in the history of billiards.

Three Tie for Second.

Rudolph's defeat, his third in nine games, shoved him into a three way tie for second place with Andrew Ponzi of Philadelphia and Jimmy Caras of Wilmington, Del. Rudolph and Caras will meet in the first of the three game playoff tomorrow afternoon. Ponzi will play the loser in the second matinee match. At night Ponzi will play the winner of the Rudolph-Caras match.

Although not so brilliant as in his triumphs over Caras and Pasquale Natalie, when he established a record high run of 106, Greenleaf was complete master of Rudolph at all times. After a slow start he put together runs of 21, 34, 44 in the last three innings to crush the man who two years ago defeated him in the final game for the title. He also had a run of 29 in the sixth frame. The match went 11 innings.

Champion Gets $5,000 Purse.

The champion missed only one called shot, failing to drop the ten ball in the end pocket after running 34 in the 10th inning. In the nine games he missed only eight called shots—another mark seldom, if ever, equaled in tournament play.

The championship carried with it a diamond and ruby medal and a guaranteed purse of $5,000, plus 15 per cent of the gate receipts, estimated at $1,000.

The final standings:

VICTORY RECORD OF NOTRE DAME IN DANGER TONIGHT

Meets Powerful Purdue Five at Lafayette.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Purdue university, basketball champions of the Western conference, and Notre Dame, which on Monday night won its 19th consecutive victory by whipping Northwestern, 28 to 25, meet tonight at Lafayette, Ind. It's a case of somebody's record going to pieces, and, no matter whose record falls, the battle is expected to be one one of the best of the season.

Purdue's consecutive victory string isn't quite up to Notre Dame's, for Illinois took a fall from the Boilermakers in their second Big Ten game last year, 28 to 21. Previously Purdue had beaten Indiana, 49 to 30, and afterward it continued to finish with the championship and 11 victories to one defeat. Illinois was beaten in the return game, 34 to 18.

Purdue Loses Wooden, Eddy.

Notre Dame is vitally interested in tonight's battle, for Purdue won the game at Notre Dame last winter. Both quintets have lost several of their best men, but in each camp there seem to be excellent replacements, if early season's scores mean anything.

Johnny Wooden, individual Big Ten scoring champion last year, has been graduated. His loss and the loss of Eddy by injury are most important to Purdue. In game after game last season Wooden escaped his guards by sheer speed and flashed under the back board to make difficult shots seem quite simple.

Kellar Carries On.

Apparently Harry Kellar, whom many considered only a shade behind Wooden in offensive ability last year, and whose presence in the lineup certainly increased the worries of the opponents, is ready to carry on this season. Against Miami Kellar scored five field goals in a comparatively brief time. Purdue used 14 players that night, six of them sophomores, and won, 48 to 24. In the St. Louis university game Kellar again made five field goals. The Boilermakers finished with a rush, winning, 47 to 27, after St. Louis had taken a 27 to 26 lead.

Fehring and Parmenter also are veterans of the Purdue team, and, with Stewart, are the nucleus of Coach Ward Lambert's title defending quintet.

Despite Notre Dame's three victories this year, the most important of which was gained at Northwestern's expense, Coach George Keogan is not particularly optimistic over his squad. This is the customary attitude of any coach. With two such players as Ed Krause and Joe Voegele, Keogan shouldn't be unduly depressed.

What a Pair, Fans!

Krause missed the Albion game, which Notre Dame won, 41 to 20, because of his football duties. Voegele featured that contest with 20 points. Krause played only a short time against Illinois Wesleyan [Notre Dame won, 24 to 12], and again Vogele was high scorer with seven points. Against Northwestern Krause counted five field goals and made the final five points of the game. Vogele was close behind with four baskets.

Johnny Jordan is a good sophomore prospect. Al McGuff, another sophomore, will not make the trip because of influenza. Leo Crowe, another of the Baldwin is a doubtful starter because of a severe cold.

Eight Teams Beaten.

The so-called practice games in the Big Ten this season have demonstrated that excellence in basketball bears no ratio to student enrollment. Seven conference teams have lost regularly scheduled games and another, Chicago, won by a point from Lake Forest but was beaten by Armour Tech in practice scrimmage. The list of beaten teams includes all except Iowa and Purdue.

Marquette, beaten by Northwestern, 26 to 29, has whipped Wisconsin and Indiana. Illinois lost to Wabash and had difficulty winning from Bradley, 26 to 21, a team on which the Wildcats doubled the score. Michigan has lost three games. Northwestern's defeat was by Notre Dame, while Ohio State and Minnesota, rated high in pre-season, also have been beaten by first grade quintets. Minnesota lost to Pittsburgh and Ohio State was downed by Ohio Wesleyan, 40 to 38.

NEW YORK RACING PROGRAM MAY BE CUT TO 151 DAYS

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Thoroughbred racing on the track of New York state will be reduced from 169 to 151 days next year if the tentative schedule, now being mapped out, is adopted at the January meeting of the Jockey club.

The schedule calls for the season to open May 6, nearly three weeks later than it opened this year, at Jamaica. The last race will be run at Empire City Oct. 27.

The tentative program again gives Saratoga the month of August. A 19 day spring meeting at Belmont Park, May 27-June 14, and 12 days in the fall from Sept. 2-15 is provided.

The opening date is the day tentatively set for the running of the Kentucky Derby and one week in advance of the Preakness.

Our Lady of Angel Five Beats St. Adalbert, 16-12

Our Lady of Angels defeated St. Adalbert, 16 to 12, last night for its second Catholic Girls' Basketball league victory at the St. Agatha gymnasium, Douglas boulevard and Kedzie avenue. The results of other league games follow:

Blessed Sacrament, 6; St. Charles, 4.
St. Margaret, 10; St. Jerome, 8.
St. Gertrude 4; St. Ita 3.
St. Ignatius B, 18; St. Ignatius A, 10.
St. Andrew, 16; St. Walter 11.
St. Edward, 17; Queen of Angels, 0.
Lady of Mercy, 12; St. Edward B, 10.

La Barba Arrives to Start Training for Paul Battle

Fidel La Barba, California boxer, arrived yesterday from New York accompanied by his manager, George Blake. La Barba, who faces Tommy Paul, National Boxing association featherweight champion, in a non-title match at the Chicago Stadium next Thursday, did loosening up exercises at Trafton's gymnasium, where he will start boxing today.

La Barba still is in condition as a result of a 15 round bout with Kid Chocolate, recognized as 126 pound titleholder in New York, at New York on Dec. 9. He will do only enough work to hold his physical edge for the 10 round bout with Paul. The La Barba-Chocolate contest was so close that a return bout was inevitable. This is set for Feb. 17 at New York. Chocolate must first whip Seaman Watson, British featherweight champion, at New York on Jan. 27.

Earned Draw with Mastro.

In La Barba's last match in Chicago he met Earl Mastro in August, 1930. The bout was called a draw. Since then he has traveled quite a bit. He engaged in several matches at Pacific coast cities, Fidel whipped Varias Milling, Filipino star, in his latest battle on the coast last August. Then he went to Honolulu, where Manager Blake had contracted for five matches.

La Barba knocked out three opponents and defeated the other two at Honolulu. After he knocked out Little Dempsey, featherweight champion of Honolulu, promoters obtained the best lightweight there for Fidel, Conrad Sencio. He was knocked out in six rounds.

Upon leaving Honolulu, La Barba went to New York to face Chocolate. Fidel has had 36 matches since his last appearance here, winning all but two. Besides losing to Chocolate, Johnny Pena of New York was awarded a decision over the Californian at Detroit in the N. B. A. tournament.

Books Bout with Sciolino.

After his fight with Paul, La Barba will go to Buffalo, N. Y., to meet Tony Sciolino on Jan. 2. From there he plans to return to New York and await his second bout with Chocolate.

Between Jan. 2 and Feb. 17 a title bout between La Barba and Paul may be arranged. Tommy must sign to defend the championship before Jan. 26 if he doesn't want the N. B. A. to take it away from him. The association recently dethroned Paul's stablemate, George Nichols, as light heavyweight champion for refusing to defend his crown. Nichols faces Martin Levandowski in a 10 round bout on the Stadium card Thursday.

Izzy Gastanaga, Basque heavyweight, has canceled his agreement with the Stadium to box Patsy Pirrone of Canton, O. Gastanaga is booked to fight Tom Heeney at New York next Friday.

Freddy Miller, Cincinnati, O., featherweight, and Jackie Sharkey of Minneapolis, Minn., signed last night to meet in an eight round supporting bout. This match replaces the Gustanaga-Pirrone meeting.

Maxie Rosenbloom, New York light heavyweight title claimant, arrived last night from Albuquerque, N. M., for his 10 round match with Billy Jones next Thursday.

Mrs. Lena Levy, sister-manager of King Levinsky, revealed yesterday that she is the real manager of her brother, despite an announcement recently that Walter [Good Time Charley] Friedman would represent Levinsky in the future. Mike Christy, Rochester, N. Y., promoter, closed with Mrs. Levy yesterday for Levinsky's appearance at Rochester on Jan. 30. Christy said that Levinsky will receive $1,250 with a privilege of 20 per cent to face Joe Doktor, Buffalo heavyweight.

Intercity matches between Chicago boxers and a team from Gary, Ind., will be offered by the Odd Fellows service bureau of Cook county at the Raiubo Fronton next Thursday. Four of the eight contests scheduled have been arranged. They are: Knute Christensen, Chicago, vs. Bill Kranz, Gary; Matty Piovanich, Chicago, vs. Paul Stedina, Gary; Charles Gay, Chicago, vs. Paul Luptak, Gary; and Frank Talaber vs. Stanley Seliga.

Mrs. Dora Buxbaum, mother of Sam Buxbaum, and Jack O'Keefe, trainers of boxers, will be buried today at Waldheim cemetery. Mrs. Buxbaum was 70 years old . . . Larry Johnson, south side heavyweight, will leave tomorrow for Indianapolis, where he boxes Tiger Jack Fox next Tuesday . . . Tony Cancela faces Jack Cauley at Philadelphia on Jan. 10 . . . The weekly cards at Howard's gymnasium have been postponed until Jan. 10 . . . Joe Greb, south side middleweight, will meet Roxy [Kid] Baker, and Jackie Purvis clashes with Young Joe Wolcott at Indianapolis on Tuesday.

M'MILLEN AND KATAN TO MEET ON FRONTON CARD

Jim McMillen and John Katan have been signed to wrestle the semi-windup of the Joe Stecher-Rudy Dusek card Wednesday night at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue.

Katan lost a decision to Joe Savoldi here recently and in his next appearance was disqualified in his match with Hans Kampfer. McMillen wrestled Ray Steele to a one hour draw last Tuesday night.

Virginia M. I. Seeks Line Coach from Big 10

Richmond, Va., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—A Big Ten conference coach will succeed Edward Hess, who was recently dismissed as line coach at Virginia Military institute, it was reported today. According to the rumors, the school has conferred with authorities at Northwestern and Illinois universities.

OPERATE AGAIN ON GELBERT TO REMOVE BONES

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Charley Gelbert, star St. Louis Cardinals shortstop, underwent another operation on his left leg today. Surgeons removed two pieces of bone. Gelbert accidentally shot himself while hunting rabbits near Chambersburg, Pa., a month ago.

Physicians refused to state whether or not Gelbert would recover sufficiently before the opening the spring training season. Gelbert announced several days ago he would be in the first Cardinals contingent which starts for Bradenton, Fla., to open training.

Connie Mack, 70 Today, Predicts Upward Trend

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Looking forward to new achievements with the eager anticipation of youth, Connie Mack today rounded out his 70th year.

Tomorrow he expects to observe quietly his biblical three score and ten anniversary by working on plans for next year, which possibly will bring the Philadelphia Athletics their tenth pennant and sixth world title.

Sitting in his office in Shibe park tower today, the patriarch of baseball appeared just as full of vigor for the coming season as he was in 1901, when he began his managerial career in this city.

"I think we'll be in the pennant race," he said, "but it's going to be a battle among three and maybe four teams. If the Chicago White Sox get pitching, look out for them. Without pitching no team can win. That is what hurt us last season, although I think even with our best pitching the Yankees would have won. It was in the wood for them."

Von Reeden Defeats Barry in 10 Rounds

Pitt Works in Sunny Tucson—In Snowstorm

Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Greeted by what long time residents declare is Tucson's second snowstorm in 40 years, the Pittsburgh university football squad went through a spirited workout today in preparation for its Rose bowl game with Southern California.

The drizzle which accompanied the arrival of the Panthers last night turned to snow early this morning. Although the fall ceased about 9:30 o'clock, it wasn't until well after noon that all traces of snow had disappeared. Approximately two inches fell.

After the practice cold weather left Coach Jock Sutherland still undecided about remaining here for ten days, as originally planned.

May Move West.

"Our boys can stand some warmer weather, as they are slightly overweight, and there is a possibility that we may have to pack up and move on to Pasadena," Sutherland said. "Then, too, the lagging seat sale is another reason for Pitt reaching the west coast earlier."

Asked what Pitt's chances are against Southern California, the dour Scotchman opined: "We'll get beat worse than Notre Dame did."

Today's single practice held on the field of the University of Arizona, revealed the Pittsburgh squad as a sturdy legged lot of lads. Inasmuch as Walton, 200 pounds, is the heaviest man on the line, with most of the others running well under this figure, Pitt is going into the game outweighed at least ten pounds to the man. But Pitt has been at a weight disadvantage throughout its arduous campaign, which left it undefeated although tied twice.

Bar Gates for Drill.

The players started their workout with calesthenics directed by Sutherland. This was followed by a series of short sprints. Punting practice was next with Bob Hogan doing most of the kicking. It was noticeable that Sutherland paid personal attention to Hogan's punts, instructing him to direct them toward the side lines. After what Whitey Warburton, Southern California's midget quarter back, did against Notre Dame, Sutherland doesn't want the ball kicked anywhere near a Trojan back.

Newspapermen were permitted to watch the first half hour of practice and then Sutherland ordered the gates barred. Defensive formations were rehearsed then. The third string, coached by Bill Kern, who scouted the Trojans against Notre Dame, ran through Southern California plays.

U. S. C. CHANGES LINEUP.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—Coach Howard Jones sent the Southern California football team through another secret practice today.

The starting backfield against Pittsburg Jan. 2 probably will be Bob Erskine, right half; Bright, left half; Griffith, quarter back, and Clark, full back. Erskine formerly played tackle and end, while Bright played center.

Why, Mr. Catbird, You Should Be Wintering South!

BY BOB BECKER.

If the residents of Berwyn should hear the familiar call of a catbird above the Christmas carols this week, they need not be surprised. One has elected to stay in that suburb, even though his schedule calls for a southern trip at this time of the year.

E. T. Baroody, 3130 Wenonah avenue, Berwyn, is entertaining a lone catbird for the holidays. He writes about the feeding habits of this charming singer as follows:

"I was greatly interested in reading your article about winter birds in this area. You will possibly be interested to know that we have a catbird spending the winter with us. He came here about two weeks ago. He visits the feeding station outside of our dining room window and stays near there most all of the day.

"Generally this bird appears around 7:30 in the morning and leaves shortly after 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

"We open the window and feed him. He is getting so tame that he never leaves the branch where he perches when the window is open. Knowing that the catbird is primarily an insectivorous bird, we have purchased several hundred worms and he has about a dozen or two every day. Mrs. Baroody places this food on the feeding station. The catbird comes up at once to eat it. This bird also is very fond of peanut butter and sliced apples.

"Besides the catbird we have as regular visitors two bluejays and a pair of cardinals and two or three downy woodpeckers. Since the coming of the catbird the cardinals have given up their visits to the feeding station."

The catbird, one of the most intelligent songbirds in America as well as one of our most talented singers, usually winters from the southern states southward to the Bahamas, Cuba, and through Mexico to Panama. However, casual winter residents are found northward through the middle states.

This species, which quite fittingly is classed with the mocking bird and the thrushes because of its vocal ability, is inclined to be very friendly with man. Wherever his confidence is won and he is well treated he will nest close to our homes.

The friendliness of this bird in Berwyn is an example of how the catbird will become quite intimate with us.

EAST, WEST GRID TEAMS GATHER AT SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Football stars of the 1932 season assembled here today to start preparations for the annual east-west game on Jan. 2. The proceeds of the game will be turned over to charity.

Coaches Andy Kerr of Colgate and Dick Hanley of Northwestern led the east squad of 21 players into San Francisco today. The other member of the team, Joe Kurth of Notre Dame, was in the city, having remained on the coast after the Southern California-Notre Dame game. Coach Dana X. Bible of Nebraska and seven members of the west squad also arrived today.

Dire, Guard on Tuley Five, Is Out for Season

Eddie Dire, regular guard on the Tuley High school heavyweight basketball team, will be unable to play for the remainder of the season. Dire suffered an appendicitis attack recently and physicians have forbidden him to play. Margolis, a regular member of the lightweight team, will replace Dire.

The players who will represent Elgin in the University of Chicago Christmas week tournament are Cy Pate, Ed Getsch, Bill McMahon, Harold Humbracht, Bill Skoning, Don Hargrave, Harold Born, Ed Cahill, Clarence Hall, and Johnny Thissell. Born and Thissel are members of the lightweight team.

Chick Levensky, star forward of the championship Crane Tech heavyweight team, will be graduated in February. When Levensky made nine free throws against Harrison Tuesday he brought his total for the season to 39 out of 42 attempts. Lefty Denbow, another member of the squad, also will be graduated in February.

Roosevelt heavyweights hold the season's record for high score in Public High School league play with 45 points scored against Schurz. Tuley heavyweights held the former mark of 43.

Tilden Tech will play De La Salle Institute of Joliet tonight at Joliet. There will be two games, the first starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Sabin and Phillips Junior High schools played a 13 to 13 tie at Phillips gymnasium yesterday. Mike Levin starred for Sabin.

De La Salle defeated Hyde Park in two games on the De La Salle court yesterday. The De La Salle heavyweights triumphed, 13 to 12, and lightweights, 26 to 14.

IOWA HAS BEST RECORD OF BIG 10 TEAMS TO DATE

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The record of the University of Iowa's undefeated basketball team in four nonconference games played this month is better than that of any other Big Ten quintet.

Not only are the Hawkeyes one of three unbeaten teams in the conference, but they are the only squad to win four contests.

Iowa lacks one point a game of having averaged a point a minute. Against Bradley Tech, Monmouth, Drake, and Carleton, Coach Rollie Williams' quintet averaged 39 points, making the biggest score of 52 points against Drake.

The varsity squad will assemble here Monday to prepare for the North Dakota State game Jan. 3. It will open the Big Ten season with Michigan here Jan. 7.

Following are the records of all the Big Ten teams to date:

	W.	L.		W.	L.
Iowa	4	0	Minnesota	2	1
Purdue	2	0	Illinois	2	1
Chicago	1	0	Ohio State	1	1
Northwestern	3	1	Michigan	1	2
Indiana	3	1	Wisconsin	0	2

BRUINS FORGET FIGHTING; ROUT RED WINGS, 7-0

Prospects of Fisticuffs Attract 14,000.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The burly Boston Bruins avenged themselves tonight on the Detroit Red Wings by piling up a 7 to 0 victory before the largest hockey crowd of the season at the Boston Garden. The victory placed the Bruins in a tie with the New York Rangers for first place in the American division of the National league.

The game, the second of the week between these teams, brought out a crowd of more than 14,000 who were expecting a repetition of the fighting that occurred in the Sunday game at Detroit. The action, bruising in spots, was far from being warlike, and the Red Wings were outclassed from the start.

George Owen led the Boston attack with two goals. The other scorers were Marty Barry, Harry Oliver, Art Chapman, Billy Burch, and Joe Lamb.

Ebbie Goodfellow was the only unruly player in the game and he drew a major for his high stick work against Eddie Shore. Late in the game Goalie John Roach was cut on the cheek when Obs Heximer took a closeup shot at his net. Lineup:

AMERICANS BEAT LEAFS

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The New York Americans defeated the champion Toronto Maple Leafs, 1 to 0, tonight in a furiously fought National Hockey league game and climbed out of last place in the league's Canadian division.

The game was one of the roughest of the season at Madison Square Garden. It provided a lively fist fight, plenty of roughing and three major penalties for the entertainment of 8,000 spectators, attracted partly by the new low prices.

The goal was scored late in the second period by Johnny Sheppard on an assist from Wasnie. Lineup:

AMERICANS [1].		TORONTO [0].

CARNERA BACK ON COAST AFTER TWO YEAR BAN

Sacramento, Cal., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight boxer, who was suspended two years ago by the California state athletic commission, will return to a coast ring when he meets Dynamite Jackson, Los Angeles Negro, here on Dec. 29. Carnera was suspended by the state commission after his bout with Leon Chevalier, San Francisco Negro, on April 14, 1930. Carnera won the bout in the sixth round, when Chevalier's seconds tossed in the towel.

SALES CIRCULAR BRINGS BETTER BACKING OF BOND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 22.—The Alleghany corporation, top company in the Van Sweringen railroad holding structure, strengthened the terms of its bond indentures to conform with statements made in circulars used to sell the bonds, it was disclosed in financial circles today. This was made known following filing of an action brought against the Guaranty Company of New York by the purchaser of Alleghany corporation bonds.

O. P. VAN SWERINGEN. [A. P. Photo.]

The suit, brought by Isidor H. Kemper, owner of $4,000 of an issue of $35,000,000 collateral trust 15 year bonds of the Alleghany corporation hinges on statements made by a circular issued to describe the bonds at the time of their offering to the public.

The circular stated that in accordance with the terms of the indenture, collateral behind the bonds would be maintained "at all times" in the ratio of 150 per cent.

At the time the bonds were offered by a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., their indenture provided that if as determined four times annually, ratio collateral did not remain at the 150 per cent ratio, certain protective measures should be taken by the trustee for the bonds. The trustee is the Guaranty Trust company under the amended indenture, and the value of the collateral is to be maintained, not four times annually, but continuously.

The action of the Alleghany corporation in amending its bond indenture to conform with the statements made in the bond circular, instead, as is the practice, of having the circular conform with the provisions of the indenture, was said to be unprecedented. Scrutiny of the circular today showed that the syndicate which offered the bonds attributed the statement as to collateral requirement to O. P. Van Sweringen, head of the Alleghany corporation. More recent circulars on which the Guaranty company's signature appears bears the following qualification:

"The statements and figures above have been accepted by us as reliable, but do not constitute representations by us."

Pennsylvania Gas and Electric.

Please send me information on Pennsylvania Ga sand Electric 6 per cent debentures.—M. R. C.

Pennsylvania Gas and Electric corporation is a holding company whose subsidiaries furnish gas to 70 communities in Pennsylvania, 14 in New York, and 3 in Pennsylvania. It is controlled by American Electric Power corporation [Del.]. In 1931 the corporation disposed of its ice properties to Atlantic Ice and Coal company in exchange for bonds and class A preference stock. In 1930 it acquired Conewago Gas company in exchange for Washington Gas company.

Gross revenues for 1931 are not strictly comparable with those of previous years because results of operations of ice companies sold in that year were included in nonoperating revenues. In 1932 and thereafter income from the corporation's interests in the ice companies sold will be on an investment [nonconsolidated] basis.

Operating revenues for 1931 were $2,970,000, against $5,664,000 for 1930, $5,549,000 for 1929, and $5,223,000 for 1928. "Other income" in 1931 [net] was $441,000, against $67,000 in 1930. Fixed charges were earned 1.41 times in 1931, 1.37 times in 1930, 1.37 times in 1929 and 1.52 times in 1928.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $1,505,000 and current liabilities were $551,000. Subsidiary preferred stocks totaled $2,216,000 and funded debt was $14,367,000.

The $5,700,000 6 per cent series A debentures, due 1976, are somewhat speculative.

Budd Wheel.

I would appreciate a report on Budd Wheel.—L. J. O.

Budd Wheel company is one of the leading manufacturers of automobile wheels. Its customers include Ford, Chrysler, General Motors, and others. Earnings fluctuate with the degree of activity in the automobile manufacturing industry.

Loss of $367,000 in the third quarter of 1932 brought net loss for the first nine months to $1,010,000. For the corresponding 1931 period net income was $555,000, or 50 cents per common share. Net income for 1931 was $183,000, or 10 cents per common share, against net of $1,467,000, or $1.37 per common share, for 1930. Net for 1929 was $1,791,000, against $227,000 for 1928, and $263,000 for 1927.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $2,410,000 and current liabilities were $625,000. Working capital was $1,785,000, against $2,693,000 the year before.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 8,560 shares of $100 par 7 per cent cumulative participating preferred and 990,675 shares of no par common. Nothing has been paid on the preferred since June 30, 1932. The preferred is speculative and the common is more so.

INVESTORS PAY BONUS TO LOAN MONEY TO U. S.

Yield on Some Bond Issues Is Minus.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Demand for short term government bonds yesterday arrived at a point where investors were actually paying a premium for the privilege of lending money to Uncle Sam.

Eight treasury issues sold at new highs for the year and the clamor for government issues pushed not only short term certificates, but some Liberty bonds still further into the region of "minus yield."

Liberty 3½s, which do not mature until 1947, but which the government has the privilege of calling on or after June 15, 1933, yesterday sold at a price which would yield the buyer minus 2.12 per cent per annum if the redemption privilege is exercised.

Other Issues Similar.

First Liberty 4¼s, also callable on or after June 15, 1933, and which the public feels have a better chance of being redeemed, sold at a price that would yield minus .37 per cent.

Fourth Liberty 4¼s, of which there are about six and a half billion dollars' worth outstanding, were selling at a yield o. minus .58 per cent per year. This issue matures in 1938 and may be called by the government after Oct. 15, 1933.

In the case of the short term certificates, however, the tendency of investors to pay the government for warehousing their funds was even more pronounced.

Investors yesterday bought 3¾ per cent treasury certificates, due Feb. 1, 1933, at prices which would yield them on an annual basis just three per cent less than nothing. In other words, they were willing to pay at the rate of three per cent per annum for the privilege of putting their money into this government paper.

Taxes Are Factor.

Popularity of government short term paper is due primarily to its tax free features and to the disinclination of the public to invest in securities of private concerns, which are heavily taxed. Early maturing treasury certificates also are sought because the purchaser expects to be given the privilege of subscribing to a new certificate issue when the old one matures.

Treasury certificates due March 15 were priced at the close yesterday to yield 1.16 per cent less than nothing to the buyer on an annual basis. Another issue maturing June 15 sold at a yield of .04 per cent less than nothing.

Although the federal government's short term credit is so good that people are willing to pay to lend it money for three, six, or nine months long term government credit is a totally different story.

Hand to Mouth Financing.

The government has been doing all of its recent borrowing on a hand to mouth basis, and constantly adding to its floating debt. On Nov. 16 the national debt was $20,841,000,000, an increase of $4,656,000,000 since June 30, 1930.

About $6,000,000,000, or 30 per cent, of the national debt is of a temporary or floating nature. Another $6,268,000,000, representing Fourth Liberty loan 4¼s, comes due between 1933 and 1938. Thus, the government in the next five years will be faced with the necessity of doing something about more than twelve billions of its debt.

Government bond experts say that the government's long term credit will not be sufficiently good to enable it to refund any considerable part of its floating debt into long term bonds until the budget is balanced in such a manner that it will stay balanced.

DEARBORN, MICH., SPURNS R. F. C. TO TAKE FORD LOAN

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Dearborn city council today withdrew the city's application for a $112,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and accepted an offer of a similar loan from the Ford Motor company. Mayor Clyde M. Ford said the terms of the loan from the Ford company duplicate those offered by the R. F. C. and that officials of the company had expressed a tentative willingness to negotiate further loans if necessary.

The mayor said the money sought was intended to meet welfare expenses for December and that the Ford company advanced the funds because they were needed immediately and because Henry Ford preferred that the city not ask for outside aid.

Reading Company Declares Regular 25 Cent Dividend

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Reading company today declared its regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock. The Reading company is the holding company for the Reading railroad. The dividend is payable Feb. 9 to stock of record Jan. 13. The company reports net railway operating income of $998,611 for November, against $1,407,968 a year ago.

Milwaukee Road Reports Drop in Freight Loadings

During the period Dec. 1 to 21 revenue cars loaded on the Milwaukee road and received from connections totaled 63,122, compared with 77,169 in the same period last year and 66,403 in the same period last month.

Southern Pacific November Income Given as $448,969

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Southern Pacific has November net operating income of $448,969, against $880,385 a year ago.

Reserve Banks Report Large Gain in Gold

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 22.—The outstanding features of this week's federal reserve reports showing the position of the system as of Wednesday, which were published today, are the comparatively small increase in circulation and the large gain in gold resulting from the payment of the British war debt.

All money in circulation rose $66,000,000 in the week ended on Wednesday to a new high for the year at $5,739,000,000. At this level circulation was within $3,000,000 of the record high of $5,732,000,000, reached a year ago, on Dec. 23, 1931. But in spite of the fact that circulation rose to a new high the week's advance was only about half the normal rise for the third week of December.

In the corresponding week last year an increase of $155,000,000 in circulation was shown and rises of $177,000,000 and $122,000,000 were reported, respectively, in the corresponding weeks of 1930 and 1929. Of the week's total advance $42,000,000 was supplied by additional federal reserve note circulation and the remainder by other forms of currency.

Gold Up 119 Millions.

The monetary gold stocks of the country increased $119,000,000, chiefly as a result of the payment a week ago of the British war debt in the form of $95,550,000 of gold. This large gain, probably the largest on record for a single week, lifted the total gold stocks to $4,488,000,000.

At this level the country's gold holdings show a net gain of $28,000,000 for the year to date and are $579,000,000 above the low point of $3,909,000,000 reached on June 15. The gold reserves of the federal reserve system failed to reflect the full extent of the week's gain in monetary gold stocks because the metal received as a result of the British payment was carried in a separate item as "gold held abroad." As it is shipped to this country the gold will be credited to reserves. The actual gain in gold holdings of the system was only $18,000,000, but the fact that there was any gain at all was unusual because at this season of the year considerable amounts of gold coin are normally withdrawn for use by the public as Christmas presents.

Deposits Rise, Discounts Off.

Deposits of the federal reserve banks rose $37,000,000 in the week, the gain being distributed among government deposits, member bank deposits, and foreign bank deposits. The rise in deposit liabilities, coupled with the increase in note liabilities, drew the reserve ratio down to 62.3 per cent against 63.1 per cent last week.

Member bank discounts were off $14,000,000, while holdings of bills bought in the open market dropped $500,000 and holdings of United States government securities were unchanged. Total reserve bank credit outstanding fell $9,000,000.

Brokers' loans, as reported by the member banks, showed a rise of $2,000,000 in the week to a total of $395,000,000. The entire rise was embraced in the loans made by the reporting banks for their own accounts, loans for the account of out of town banks and others being unchanged.

ARGUE TEST CASE OF ILLINOIS TRUNK VS. RAIL CONTEST

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Motor truck line competition with railroads was argued before the Illinois Commerce Commission here today in the test case over the application of the Keeshin Motor Express company.

This company's application was filed two years ago and since that time some 6,000 pages of testimony have been heard and some 5,000 exhibits introduced both in support of and against the application. Railroads operating in the territory, including the Illinois Central, C., R. I. & P., Chicago, Aurora and Elgin, as well as other truck lines, some cities and various trade organizations, oppose the application.

The company began operations in 1910, counsel said, using horse drawn vehicles. It has grown so that now it owns and operates approximately 160 trucks and trailers, having a purchase value of about $500,000, employing 220 men.

N. Y. Stock Exchange Seat Sells Down to $103,000

Sale of a New York Stock exchange seat was arranged yesterday at $103,000, a decrease of $8,000 from the previous sale. This is the lowest price paid for a membership since the termination of the July-August rise in the market, but well above the year's low of $68,000 registered in May. The 1932 high level was established in August at $185,000.

ROOSEVELT'S REPLY ON WAR DEBT ACTION SENDS STERLING DOWN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 22.—Simultaneously with the publication of the reply of Franklin D. Roosevelt to President Hoover declining to accept any responsibility in the appointment of a commission to inquire into war debts, sterling exchange suffered a sharp recession of nearly two cents today, dropping to 3.32⅛ from its close at 3.34 last night.

Business was considerably more active than in the previous few days and increased as the quotations declined. Bankers here who sometimes act for the British treasury intervened in the market, supplying support.

The French franc continued steady around .0390¾, or below the gold import point. The premium on forward francs, which had held around ⅞ of a point two weeks ago, declined yesterday and today to ⅝.

AGREE ON BOARD IN FIGHT TO RULE INSURANCE CO.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 23.—[Friday.]—(AP)—Mayor William B. Harrison, president of the Kentucky Home Life Insurance company, announced early today after a directors' meeting that an agreement had been reached as to nominations of directors of the Missouri State Life Insurance company at that company's annual meeting next month. The Kentucky Home Life holds the largest block of Missouri Life stock.

Mayor Harrison said that he and J. Dan Talbott, Kentucky state auditor, would name four directors of the Missouri company, and that the insurance interests of Julius H. Barnes and Frank Cohen of New York would name two.

It was further agreed, the mayor said, that if the 148,050 shares of Missouri state stock held by the Kentucky Home Life were entitled to elect more than six directors, that Lewis Guthrie, secretary-treasurer of the Kentucky Home Life, would use his discretion in designating the others.

The agreement was announced after an eight hour session of the Kentucky Home Life board, at which the Barnes-Cohen interests were represented by former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri.

KRUPP REPORTS $3,750,000 LOSS IN FISCAL YEAR

ESSEN, Germany, Dec. 22.—The Krupp company which in pre-war days meant guns and Germany's armed might, but which since 1918 has applied itself to the arts of peace, records a loss of more than 15,000,000 marks [about $3,570,000] for the current business year in its annual report published today.

The loss has been written off to reserves and these are still so considerable that with capital stock of 160 million marks the company will start the new year with reserves of 64,400,000 marks. For all its expansion from the time of its nail maker founder, the Krupp concern has remained a family affair under thrifty management.

The year's record contrasts with that of the Krupp's one time international competitors who have continued making arms—Vickers, Creusot and Skoda and have been declaring dividends.

RAIL MATURITIES DUE JANUARY 1 TAKEN CARE OF

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The railroad Credit corporation today indicated that all applications by railroads for funds to meet Jan. 1 fixed charges have been taken care of. To carriers not earning their interest requirements for this purpose the corporation has advanced $10,000,000. It loaned $9,000,000 to meet last July 1 interest payments of nonearning carriers. The heaviest interest payments on railroad bonds become due on these dates.

8 Banks in Louisiana Strawberry Belt Reopen

Hammond, La., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Acting with the coöperation of the state banking department and the Reconstruction Finance corporation, eight state bank of the Tangipahoa and Livingston parish strawberry belt, which closed their doors earlier this week, reopened this morning as one large institution with headquarters here.

Kelly Explains Success of Buy in U. S. Drive

D. F. Kelly, president of The Fair, big Chicago department store, whose organization has been carrying on an active "Buy America" campaign recently, said in an address yesterday that the idea is going over like wildfire.

Mr. Kelly spoke before a group of 35 business executives at the Chicago Athletic club at a meeting of the Made in America club. The club is a non profit organization formed last July by a group of business men for the purpose of stimulating the consumption of domestic goods.

"The sooner the United States becomes entirely self sustaining and independent of other countries," Mr. Kelly told the meeting, "the sooner we shall be able to collect our debts, and the sooner we shall have work for American workmen. We are very nearly self sustaining now.

Checks His Stock.

"There are still some things we cannot make here," he said, "but not many. I recently checked over the stock of our store and found that 95 per cent of the goods we are handling are made in America. I feel strong that the 'made in America' idea should be sponsored nationally."

Mr. Kelly's organization launched its campaign recently in its newspaper advertisements. The response was such that it was taken up by stores in other cities and the Fair has made plans for carrying out the idea further.

The movement is being actively sponsored by the Made in America club. Similiar organizations are being formed in Detroit and Cleveland and the idea is rapidly spreading throughout the country, according to officials.

Elects Officers.

The Chicago club yesterday elected officers. James W. Clark, president of A. C. Becken company, wholesale jewelers, was named president. Other officers are: Charles I. Johnson, vice president and general manager of the Nestor Johnson company, vice president; Guy V. Dickinson, general manager of the Elgin National Watch company, secretary treasurer, and B. Mathias of Mathias Klein & Son, chairman of the advisory committee.

The membership of the club is made up of manufacturers. Offices have been opened in the Pure Oil building.

IND. LIMESTONE REORGANIZATION PLAN APPROVED

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 22. — [Special.]—Approval, with reservations, of reorganization of the Indiana Limestone company, under a plan agreed to by a majority of the company's stockholders, was given today by Albert Ward, special master in chancery, in a report to Judge Robert C. Baltzell in the District United States court here.

The master refused to approve a voting trust as requested by trust companies in New York, Chicago and Cleveland, which have underwritten new prior lien bonds to provide working capital for the new company.

Bank Clearings in 47 Cities Gain 20.9 Per Cent

Bank clearings at 47 leading cities totaled $4,909,716,000 for the week ended Dec. 21, says Bradstreet's, a gain of 20.9 per cent over the preceding week but a decline of 28.5 per cent from a year ago. Outside New York clearings were up 13 per cent, while the drop from 1931 was 30.4 per cent.

PIPE LINE, BURDENED WITH TOO MUCH CASH, SEEKS CAPITAL CHANGE

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 22. — (AP) — Stockholders of the Tuscarora Oil company, Ltd., met today to consider that rare problem, an "over accumulation of cash."

E. J. Lewis of Harrisburg, president, proposed a reduction in capital stock which, he said, would make $3,500,000 available to stockholders.

The company operates a pipe line and is capitalized at $5,000,000.

NEW BUILDING AWARDS GIVEN AS $42,146,000

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—New building construction contracts awarded in the 37 states east of the Rockies during the first 15 days of December totaled $42,146,000, the F. W. Dodge corporation reports. This compares with $50,990,300 for the first half of November.

"The November contract record for construction of all descriptions made a creditable showing," the report says "Though the month's total of $105,202,300 for the 37 eastern states represented a decline of more than $2,000,000 from the October total, reduced to a daily average basis, there was an increase in November as contrasted with the longer month preceding it."

November awards for residential building totaled $19,245,300, against $21,855,600 in October and $45,290,400 in November, 1931. For the first eleven months of 1932 this classification showed a volume of $267,110,400, against $775,225,200 for the same 1931 period.

REFUNDING OFFER OF BALT. & OHIO IS EXTENDED

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Officials of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company announced today that, inasmuch as more than 82 per cent of the outstanding $63,250,000 of 4½ per cent convertible bonds, due March 1, next, had been presented for stamping in approval of the road's refunding plan, the company would "continue for a time" to make payments of 10 per cent in cash to holders upon presentation of their bonds.

George M. Shriver, senior vice president of the company, said that more than $52,000,000 of the outstanding bonds had been presented and stamped and that, inasmuch as holders of this issue are widely scattered it was thought best to extend the time limit, which expired today.

Under the refunding plan bondholders are to receive 50 per cent in cash and 50 per cent in new 5 per cent bonds dated 1996 when the issue matures on March 1.

Poindexter Made Vice Pres. of W. F. Hall Printing Co.

Promotion of Randall E. Poindexter to vice president and general sales manager of the W. F. Hall Printing company of Chicago was announced today. Poindexter will be succeeded as sales manager of the Art Color Printing company of Dunellen, N. J., subsidiary of the Hall company, by Walter Z. Shafer.

MANAGERS SORE BUT SATISFIED AS PARLEY ENDS

Signed to Prevent Old Wage Scale.

Post-mortem statements were in order yesterday as the thirteen hundred delegates to the railroad wage conference checked out of the Palmer house after their leaders had signed an agreement at 12:04 a. m. extending the present 10 per cent pay reduction from next Feb. 1 to Oct. 31, with automatic restoration of the basic rate thereafter and with the managers reserving the right to invoke the railway labor act for a basic pay cut as early as next June 15.

The attitude of the operators was set forth in the statement of W. F. Thiehoff, general manager of the Burlington route and chairman of the managers' committee of nine, whose eleventh hour compromise proposal was accepted by the railroad unions Wednesday night when a breakdown of the conference seemed imminent.

"Sore but Satisfied."

"I'm sore but satisfied," said Mr. Thiehoff. "We signed in a spirit of compromise and in the face of immediate necessity. We did not get all we desired nor all we think necessary."

The "immediate necessity" to which he alluded was the fact that, had the negotiations broken down, the carriers would have been compelled to return to the basic rate involving a $16,600,000 pay roll increase next Feb. 1. The carriers have hitherto contended that a 20 per cent basic cut is necessary.

Speaking for the unions A. F. Whitney, president of the brotherhood of trainmen and chairman of the railway labor executive board, said he was "pleased," adding that the unions "still do not agree that continuance of the reduction will help economic conditions."

The Wall street reaction was reflected in the decline of 2.5 points registered in the rail averages. Sentiment of the speculators was that at best the agreement was a "standoff."

Text of Agreement.

The text of the agreement is as follows:

"It is agreed between the parties hereto that the said original agreement [the Willard settlement] is hereby extended so that up to and including Oct. 31, 1933, 10 per cent shall be deducted from the pay check of each of the said employés covered by this agreement:

"That the basic rates of pay shall remain as under the original agreement;

"That this agreement shall terminate automatically Oct. 31, 1933; and

"That neither party prior to June 15, 1933, will serve notice of a desire to change or extend this agreement or of an intended change in basic rates of pay, such changes or extensions to become effective on or after Nov. 1, 1933;

To Be Treated Nationally.

"It being further agreed that in the event that such a notice should be served by any party hereto between June 15, 1933, and Nov. 1, 1933, the proceedings thereunder shall be conducted pursuant to the provisions of the railway labor act, and such proceedings shall be conducted nationally, in order that the matter may be handled to a conclusion as expeditiously as possible."

The language of the signed settlement departed from the terms of the proposal in one minor detail. In the clause relating to the contemplated proceedings under the railway labor act the word "nationally" was substituted for the phrase, "in a collective manner." David B. Robinson, president of the brotherhood of firemen and enginemen and labor chairman of the conference which negotiated the Willard agreement, was the last to sign.

Stock Leaders Sell Lower in Brisk Trade

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 23.—Wall street was in a pessimistic mood today and prices turned weak. Bearish rumors were the stock in trade of conversation. One of the leading railroad systems of the country was tottering on the brink of receivership, they said. The international debt tangle is becoming serious. And there were other matters to discuss.

It was entirely too much for the market, which has been in a rather wabbly state for the last three or four weeks. Prices declined directly after the opening and kept sliding down and down right through to the close. Quitting time found the active list down anywhere from 1 to 4 points below its previous closing levels. A discouraging feature of the situation was the sharp increase in trading volume, the total running up to around 1,250,000 shares, a half million in excess of that of yesterday and one of the few times since election when it has topped the million mark.

See Bank Selling.

Some of the selling was popularly ascribed to banks undertaking to weed out collateral behind loans preparatory to putting their books in better order for the year end. A larger volume, however, was supposed to be emanating with professional bear operators getting into action after months of comparative inactivity. Smaller traders in need of Christmas cash were no doubt adding the weight of their offerings to the growing tide.

The liquidation bore heaviest on the railroad group. Overnight announcement of the wage agreement reached at Chicago was regarded in financial circles as a standoff at best, with the roads failing to get the relief they had counted on from a further reduction of pay to their help just at a time when they need it most. The Central of Georgia receivership the other day served to direct attention to the plight of some of the roads and rumors have been current ever since that some other lines might have to take the count very shortly.

Eastern Road Named.

A big eastern road was "named by name" today as one of the others in dire difficulty and while the exact basis for the report was not apparent the gossip carried enough weight in some quarters to carry the stock down sharply. Other issues of the group sold off simultaneously.

Chief selling targets of the section included New York Central, which was sold down to 14⅝c, a drop of 3½ points, Norfolk and Western, which finished showing a loss of 3¾ points; Illinois Central, which lost 2⅝; Louisville and Nashville, 3¼; Union Pacific, 3⅝; Delaware and Hudson, 3½; and Lackawanna, 3⅝ points.

A statement issued by the Railroad Credit corporation around midday, saying there would be no interest defaults on Jan. 1, stayed the downward movement for a spell, but the final hour found selling at its heaviest and closing prices were almost without exception the lowest of the day.

Pivotal Issues Drop.

The pivotal issues, such as American Can, Allied Chemical, American Telephone, and Case, showed little resistance powers and some of the sharpest losses of the day were among these so-called leaders. Case was down 3¾ points on its final sale and Allied Chemical 2¾.

Auburn was a weak spot in the motors group, losing 3 points.

Reports of poor earnings by Western Union made that communications star a favorite target for shorts and the price was battered down more than 3 points.

Evan the so-called beer stocks, like Owens-Illinois Glass and Crown Cork and Seal, were not able to reap much comfort from news of the passage of the Collier bill by the house, the first named issue dropping nearly 3 points under weight of persistent offerings.

BANK PAYMENTS TO R. F. C. EQUAL TO BORROWINGS

Loans of 95 Million Made in Month.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—An almost even balance in the amount of money borrowed by banks and trust companies in November and the amount repaid by such institutions during the same period, was reported today by the Reconstruction Finance corporation in its monthly report to congress.

It was the first time since the corporation's creation last February that loan repayments by any class of borrowers have approximated borrowings. During November, the report showed, banks and trust companies borrowed a total of $22,258,996 and repaid a total of $20,831,776.

In point of cash actually disbursed by the corporation to banks and trust companies the balance was in favor of repayments, according to the figures. Disbursements, as distinct from authorizations, to banks and trust companies in November, amounted to $20,435,407, or $396,369 less than repayments.

Approve 95 Millions in Loans.

During the thirty day period covered by the report, the federal credit agency authorized loans totaling $95,133,587 to its four principal classes of borrowers, banks and financial institutions; states, for relief; self-liquidating construction projects, and institutions engaged in the orderly marketing of agricultural commodities.

In addition to these loans, however, the corporation allocated $2,500,000 to the secretary of agriculture for crop production loans to farmers; allocated $6,000,000 as capital for two more agricultural credit corporations; raised the capital of two other agricultural regionals by an aggregate of $4,000,000, and allocated $20,000 to the secretary of the treasury for purchase of stock in the federal home loan bank system.

Total Handled, 107 Millions.

The total money involved in the finance corporation's transactions during November, therefore, was $107,653,587, made up as follows:

Loans to banks and financial institutions	$ 71,541,854
Loans to states for relief of destitution	18,687,373
Loans to self-liquidating construction projects	4,774,744
Loans to agricultural marketing institutions	129,616
Allocated to the secretary of agriculture for crop production loans	2,500,000
Paid in as capital for two new agricultural credit corporations	6,000,000
Increase in capital of two regional agricultural credit corporations	4,000,000
Allocated to secretary of treasury for purchase of home loan bank stock	20,000
Total	$107,653,587

Banks and financial institutions in Illinois borrowed a total of $3,059,363 during the month, made up as follows:

Twenty-nine banks and trust companies, $1,258,600; three building and loan associations, $51,763; one insurance company, $310,000; one mortgage loan company, $138,000; and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, $301,000. Nine of the bank borrowers and all of the other Illinois institutions obtaining loan authorizations had not collected their money prior to Nov. 30, the report stated.

In addition to these advances in Illinois, the corporation during November granted an emergency relief loan to the state amounting to $4,935,078, and authorized a loan of $52,500 to the city of Columbia, Ill., for construction of a water works.

Several Loans Canceled.

The report disclosed that a loan of $190,000, made some time ago to the Savanna-Sabula Bridge company of

New York, Dec. 22.—New high marks for 1932 were registered today by both short term and long term treasury issues as broad demand for government securities continued. The rest of the bond market moved indifferently.

Eight of the treasury issues sold through their previous year's highs, the tax exempt 3½s advanced nearly half a point on large dealings. The 3¼s went through 99 and were within approximately a half point of their 1932 high. Today's performance put the 3¼s more than 17 points above their extreme low of the year. Selling of the 3¼s per cent four year notes, dated Dec. 15, last, at a premium of almost 3 points above par was another indication of the government market's strong position.

Gilt Edged Issues Up.

Collateral improvement in high grade corporation bonds, principally in the public utility group, occurred today. Some observers point out that prime utility bonds are fast approaching a 4 per cent yield basis, with a few issues, such as New York Gas, Electric Light, Heat and Power 4s, due 1949, already on that basis.

In contrast with the healthy condition of the high grade bond market, speculative issues, principally rails, extended their decline today. This decline, regarded as the most significant fall in rail bond prices since last spring, is generally attributed to the view that some of the weaker carrier systems are in line for revamping of capitalization next year.

Speculative Rails Hit.

Losses in speculative rail bonds were most pronounced in such issues as Central Pacific guaranteed 5s, Rock Island convertible 4½s, issues of New York Central, Missouri Pacific, Allegheny corporation, Illinois Central, and others.

Foreign bonds, of which German issues have been most in the limelight, failed again today to extend their sharp advances of recent sessions. Declines occurred in German government 5½s and 7s, Prussia Free State 6½s, Saxon public works 6½s, and others.

PRICES OF CORN AND WHEAT DROP; HIT NEW LOWS

Decline Is Attributed to Liquidation.

WHEAT PRICES IN GOLD

Wheat prices in world markets reduced to United States funds at closing exchange rates.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation by tired longs developed in wheat and corn on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. There was a noticeable lack of aggressive buying, with May and July wheat and all deliveries of corn selling at a new low for the season, and the close was about the bottom. May and July oats equaled the low figures made recently.

Weakness in the stock market tended to disturb the confidence of holders and, according to trade gossip, a local professional who had accumulated a fair sized line of wheat through sales of bids, went out of his holding during the day. There was also selling of wheat in Chicago against purchases at Winnipeg by spreaders.

When the local market closed yesterday December wheat and oats were the only futures of the three major grains remaining more than a fraction of a cent above the inside figures witnessed so far, and the same condition was presented in the leading foreign wheat markets. Buenos Aires wheat dropped to a new all-time low at the last as far as available records reveal.

Winnipeg Wheat Firm.

The Winnipeg wheat market showed relative strength as a result of the spreading operations with Chicago and closed ¼c higher to ⅜c lower in Canadian funds. There was also less hedging pressure in the Canadian market as country movement has fallen off. However, with the Christmas holidays approaching, European buyers showed no disposition to take cash wheat freely, and only scattered loads of Manitobas were reported as having been sold for shipment.

Offers of Canadian wheat in Liverpool were not pressing Thursday, with the result the English market developed a firmer undertone and closed ¼ @⅝c per bu higher, figured in gold, the May closing at 46⅝c, or ⅝c over Chicago at the time. Buenos Aires dropped ⅞@1c for the day, with the February closing at 36c, the lowest price shown in available records. Old style March in Liverpool was ½c above the lowest figure established earlier in the week.

No rain was shown on the weather map overnight, and further unfavorable crop comments were received from the southwest. The official Kansas report showed only 4 points in the state during the week ending Dec. 19 had received over one-tenth inch of rain, and a leading Kansas milling organization was out with an estimate of 9,250,000 acres for the state, or 2,500,000 acres less than the recent government returns.

Corn Nears Record Low.

December corn sold down 1⅝c Thursday to a low of 21c, and closed there, coming within 1½c of the all time record low established for any future on the Chicago Board of Trade. In 1896 the September future sold at 19¾c and the December at 20¾c. Stop loss orders were uncovered on the way down, and there was a noticeable lack of aggressive support. The distant positions lost ⅝@1¼c, with May quoted at 25⅞c and July 27½c at the last.

As a result of the decline in the December corn delivery bids for No. 2 grades of cash grain sent out from Chicago last night figured out around 5c per bu to farmers in Iowa after deducting freight and other charges.

Oats Also Ease.

Oats eased in sympathy with corn and closed ⅜@⅝c lower, with the finish at the bottom. December was 15c and May 15⅞c at the last. A house with eastern connections was a fair buyer of rye and prevented that grain from making a full response to the break in wheat. Net losses were ⅝@⅞c, with December at 30c and May at 32⅝c.

Traders construed the passage of the Collier beer bill by the house of representatives on Wednesday as bullish on barley, but an advance of ¾c at the opening was replaced by a loss of a like amount at the close due to scattered selling. May finished at 29½c.

HOG PRICES RISE AVERAGE OF 5c ON LIGHT RECEIPTS

Trade Like Market of 54 Years Ago.

Hogs staged a mild rally yesterday and recovered 5@10c of the recent sharp losses. Top underweights moved up 10c to $3.10, while the general average for the day at $2.95 showed a 5c gain. Not since December of 1878, exactly 54 years ago, have hogs sold at the low prices of this week. In that month daily top prices fluctuated within a range of $2.75@3.00, establishing one of the lowest periods for hogs in history. The current price level is still 35c above the low point of that month.

In reading over old market reports covering that time a striking resemblance to the present depressed condition is found. Low consumptive demand, unemployment and pessimistic business news stood in the way of a recovery. A bulge, however, did come the following year, and in 1880 swine sold up to $6.00, with the top two years later at $9.35, the rise of the market more than tripling the price in four years. That depression period was followed by an advance in live stock that almost equaled that caused by the world war.

Hog Receipts Light.

Yesterday's hog receipts were light and less than 12,000 of the fresh arrivals remained on the market after directs had been deducted from the supply. Buyers were not overly anxious to work at the slightly higher level of prices, but found offerings inadequate when outside buyers had finished filling orders for light and underweight stock and came into the light butchers to fill out.

The supply finally moved at the 5@10c higher prices established at the opening, and the closing rounds were fairly brisk. Extremely heavy hogs, while not plentiful, were inclined to drag. Prime 400 lb. averages sold at $2.50, with selected 150 lb. light at the top of the market. Fifty years ago the former weights comprised a big part of receipts and sold at the top prices, while discounts were made on lights.

Light Cattle Steady.

The "upper crust" of yearlings and light steers retained the gains scored earlier in the week, but the market for medium and heavy cattle slumped fully 25c in a rather lifeless session for stock running better than 1,100 lbs in weight. Eastern representatives were aggressive in the top grades of 600@1,000 lb yearlings. The top load at $4.25 averaged 954 lbs and sold to Cudahy Brothers, equaling the highest sale since early last week.

The bulk of beef steers sold at $4.75@5.75. While some fairly fat rough heavy cattle are selling as low as $5.00, most of those below this line are rather common. Inferior kinds sold at $3.00@4.00. Light young trim cows continued in demand at the week's 25c advance, but most of the beef cows were slow and weak. Fancy light yearling heifers are scarce and considered as specialties in the trade at strong prices. Others weakened in sympathy with cows and are closing the week 35@50c lower.

Lambs Recover Loss.

Lambs advanced fully 25c on good eastern support yesterday, the trade recovering all of Wednesday's loss. Prices equaled the high point of the week and some of the medium grades were above Monday's level. Less than 7,000 head were available after the directs were out of the run. Shippers bought a big share, getting the "cream" of the supply right after the start. Natives and fed westerns reached $4.40 to city butchers and shippers, packers taking natives at $4.25 and under. Matured sheep were firm, with light ewes quoted at $2.75.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—SUGAR—Raw, was easier today and prices declined 2 points for spots on a sale of 17,500 bags of Cubas from stores to a local refiner at 2.80c delivered. Later arrival Philippines were available below this level and a sale was confirmed of 18,000 bags due Jan. 20 at 2.74c. Except for steadiness in the January position, futures were inclined to sag under pre-holiday liquidation and commission house selling promoted by the easier trend of the spot market. Final prices were 1 point higher on January, and unchanged to 2 points lower on later deliveries. Approximate sales were 75,000 tons, including 4,000 to exchange from January to later deliveries. Prices follow:

Explains Foreclosure.

TO THE EDITOR: I received a notice that foreclosure has been started on my property. Will you explain what happens if I do not appear in court? If the court orders the sale, who gets the property, and what happens to the money? Also, what is done with any money that is left over?—S. C.

ANSWER: You are the defendant and if you fail to answer the charges the mortgage holder will procure a judgment for the amount due him by default. The court orders the property to be sold to satisfy the amount of the judgment, which represents the amount due on the mortgage, plus interest and costs. After the property has been advertised for sale, in compliance with the laws of the state where the property is located, it is sold pursuant to the order of the court.

The time of sale usually takes place approximately ninety days after the date you are ordered to appear in court. The property is sold to the highest bidder.

The money is distributed in the following order: First, the expenses of the sale are paid. Then the foreclosure costs, which include lawyers' fees, sheriff's fees and other necessary expenses. The mortgage debt is satisfied with the remaining balance. Then, if there is money left as a surplus, it is paid to the owner of the property, providing there are no other creditors.

If the price obtained at the foreclosure sale is insufficient to meet the payment of the foreclosed mortgage, the holder of the mortgage is granted a deficiency judgment against the party signed the notes at the time the mortgage was executed. The parties who signed the notes are liable for any deficiency in the event the property does not bring a sufficient amount at the sale to pay the expenses of foreclosure and the indebtedness represented by the balance due on the mortgage.

It is advisable to retain the services of an attorney in case of foreclosure. In Illinois the period of redemption is twelve months from the date of sale.

Holds a Second Mortgage.

TO THE EDITOR: I hold the second mortgage on a residence in Midlothian. There is a first mortgage on the property and the owner of the property has not paid interest on either of these loans and has only paid one-half the 1930 taxes. The owner is working only three days a week and I am not anxious to foreclose, but what happens if the first mortgage holder starts suit?—M. C.

ANSWER: When bill of foreclosure is filed by the first mortgage holder it is necessary to serve a summons and complaint on the holder of the second mortgage, which is subordinate and a junior lien to the first mortgage. The same applies to all judgment creditors whose claims are liens against the premises, and any others who have filed a mechanic's lien against the property.

SOLUTION TO THE BILLINGSBROKE CASE

Fordney knew that a connoisseur would not choose the hour of 4 o'clock on a December afternoon to inspect antiques in a poorly lit shop. An experienced collector would not trust even his trained eye under such conditions. The professor will tell you at another time what Billingsbroke did seek there.
